Libya is in the middle of a civil war which lasts most of 2011. Sid Blumenthal emails Clinton about a security company called Osprey Global Solutions, headed by retired Army Major General David Grange. Blumenthal tells Clinton about Osprey's attempt to get a contract to give "field medical help, military training, organize supplies and logistics" to Libyan rebels currently fighting Colonel Muammar el Qaddafi.

Two terrabyte drive with Clinton White House emails missing, presumed stolen from National Archives foia.state.gov/Search/Results ...

All Files on Clinton Hires (including)
SSNs and DOBs Destroyed
Three Classified Budget Programs
Authored By Lael Brainard 2013

Jim, Blake tells me that NARA went ahead and notified Bruce Lindsay, so you should probably give Cheryl a call ASAP. No additional news since what is described in Blake's message below.

Greg / Dan:

The National Archives alerted me that they cannot account for a 2 terabyte hard drive containing electronic records from the Clinton administration. They last can account for the drive on January 30; they discovered it was missing on March 24 (NARA leadership found out later). They believe it was stolen. NARA has an identical copy of the drive, which it is analyzing.

Two terabytes is a very very large amount of data; the drive may contain a wide range of memos, emails, and other electronic documents from the Clinton White House. All the material is unclassified, except for three documents which Bill Leary has examined and does not believe present any significant risk. Based on its analysis, NARA believes the drive contains other sensitive material, including:

--There is at least a 50% likelihood that the personal information (including DOB and SSN) of all individuals placed through the Clinton Presidential Personnel Office was on the lost hard drive.

--There is a 90% likelihood that the personal information (including DOB and SSN) of all Clinton WH staff was on the lost hard drive. There is a 100% chance that some of it was on the lost hard drive.

--The three classified documents were authored by Lael Brainard, currently a top nominee for Treasury. Much of her work is likely on the drive. They are almost certainly records from many other White House officials.

David Grange retires as CEO of PPD

By Wayne FaulknerWayne.Faulkner@StarNewsOnline.com

David Grange retired this week as CEO of PPD Inc., and the search for a new chief is under way, the retired general said Friday.

As of the Wilmington-based company's annual meeting Wednesday, he had served only 24 months as CEO. But he leaves "as growth has been restored to the company, and after helping to build the management team," spokesman Ned Glascock said when the retirement was announced in February.

New York Police Department detectives and prosecutors working an alleged underage sexting case against former Congressman Anthony Weiner have turned over a newly-found laptop he shared with wife Huma Abedin to the FBI with enough evidence "to put Hillary (Clinton) and her crew away for life," NYPD sources told True Pundit.

NYPD sources said Clinton's "crew" also included several unnamed yet implicated members of Congress in addition to her aides and advisers.

The NYPD seized the computer from Weiner during his testimony from Hillary Clinton, Abedin and other insiders during her tenure as second lady in 2011. The FBI launched an email investigation into Clinton on Friday.

But new revelations on the contents of that laptop, including the names of several of her subordinates, and even select elected officials in federal government, have caused a major scandal. NYPD sources said these new emails include:

- Money laundering
- Child exploitation
- Sex crimes with minors (children)
- Perjury
- Pay to play through Clinton Foundation
- Obstruction of justice

The United States Army launched an investigation on Friday into the mysterious death of a soldier who was found unresponsive at his post on the Fort Hood base – the latest in a string of nearly a dozen deaths of soldiers serving in the massive Texas encampment.

Sgt. Alex Mathew Dean Taylor, 23, a soldier assigned to the 15th Military Intelligence Battalion, was found dead while on duty, according to Stars and Stripes.

Taylor had enlisted as an aviation operations specialist.

The army released no information about the circumstances of Taylor's death.

'At this point in the investigative process we do not suspect foul play, but have not completely ruled it out while we conduct a complete and thorough death investigation,' a spokesperson for the Army Criminal Investigations Command said.

Taylor was a decorated soldier, having earned numerous commendations during his service, including the Army Commendation Medal, Army Good Conduct Medal, the National Defense Service Medal, the Aviation Badge, and the Air Assault Badge.

FBI & NYPD: Clinton Foundation Probed for Money Laundering, Financial Transactions with Islamic Terror Groups

Posted on January 15, 2017 by Investigative Bureau

Has the Clinton Foundation underwritten or profited from terror groups? It is distinctly possible it has conducted business with terror-backed financial concerns, federal agents said.

Andrew McCabe's Washington, DC, field office provides personnel and resources to the investigation. At the end of July 2015, he is promoted to assistant deputy FBI director, the number three position in the FBI.

In the spring of 2016, Andrew McCabe agrees to recuse himself from the McAuliffe investigation, due to McAuliffe's donations to Jill McCabe's election campaign. However, he doesn't recuse himself from the Clinton Foundation investigation or the Clinton email investigation, despite McAuliffe's close ties to Bill and Hillary Clinton. (The Wall Street Journal, 10/24/2016)

In mid-July 2016, the FBI seeks to reorganize the Clinton Foundation investigation. McCabe decides the FBI's New York office should take the lead, while the Washington office that he formerly headed should take the lead with the McAuliffe investigation. The Journal will later report, "Within the FBI, the decision was viewed with skepticism by some, who felt the probe would be stronger if the foundation and McAuliffe matters were combined." However, the decision is implemented.

McCabe also is involved in an effort to shut down the foundation investigation in August 2016, but his role is unclear.

In October 2016, McCabe's potential conflicts of interest will be revealed by two Wall Street Journal articles. (The Wall Street Journal, 10/30/2016) In early November 2016, the Journal will report that "some [in the FBI] have blamed [McCabe], claiming he sought to stop agents from pursuing the [Clinton Foundation] case this summer. His defenders deny that, and say it was the Justice Department that kept pushing back on the investigation." (The Wall Street Journal, 11/2/2016)

Around that time, James Kallstrom, the former head of the FBI's New York office, will say of McCabe, "The guy has no common sense. He should be demoted and taken out of the chain of command." (The American Spectator, 11/1/2016)

April 12, 2015: Hillary Clinton launches her second presidential campaign.

She narrowly lost the Democratic nomination to Barack Obama in 2008. Due to her long and prominent political career, she immediately establishes herself as the frontrunner in the race for the Democratic nomination. (The New York Times, 4/13/2015)

She resigns from the board of directors of the Clinton Foundation on the same day to avoid conflict of interest issues. (Politico, 4/12/2015)

On November 3, 2015, Jill McAuliffe resigns from the Clinton Foundation. Republican Dick Black. Once the campaign is over, "[Andrew] McCabe's conflict-of-interest issues ended," according to the Journal.

In February 2016, Andrew McCabe is promoted to deputy FBI director. In this role, he is part of the executive leadership team overseeing the investigation. Officials say any final decisions are made by FBI Director James Comey.

However, that is not the only potential conflict of interest. By February 2016, McCabe is conducting investigations of the Clinton Foundation. McAuliffe was the FBI's top investigator when he resigned when he became the governor of Virginia in 2013. (The New York Times, 2/1/2016)

Also, at some point in 2015, if not earlier, the FBI begins conducting an investigation into the existence of this investigation is publicly leaked in May 2016, mediated by a Chinese businessperson who has donated millions to the foundation. It is also reported that investigators have looked at McAuliffe's time as a board member of the Clinton Global Initiative (CGI), a yearly conference run by the Clinton Foundation. (CNN, 5/24/2016)

In the spring of 2016, Andrew McCabe agrees to recuse himself from the McAuliffe investigation, due to McAuliffe's donations to Jill McCabe's election campaign. However, he doesn't recuse himself from the Clinton Foundation investigation or the Clinton email investigation, despite McAuliffe's close ties to Bill and Hillary Clinton. Virginia Governor Terry McAuliffe is widely considered the best friend of Bill and Hillary Clinton, and was co-chair of one of Bill's presidential campaigns and the chair of Hillary's 2008 presidential campaign. In March 2016, McAuliffe says, "We're best friends, I've been family friends with the Clinton's for thirty years. It's a great relationship, we vacationed together for years, we're just very personal friends..." (The Valley's Music Place, 3/31/2016)

On March 7, 2015, McAuliffe and other state Democratic Party leaders meet with Dr. Jill McCabe and persuade her to run for a state senator seat in Virginia. McAuliffe Sets Up Bribe Funnel - r political Spouse Ruse - $675,000 applications, because her husband is the FBI's Washington,

Emails May Be a Key to Addressing 'Pay-to-Play' Whispers at Clinton Foundation

March 8, 2015, Ron Fournier

The attached article from Ron Fournier at The National Journal addresses an issue we have also found of some concern. There sure is a lot of money which has flowed into Clinton Foundation coffers from large corporations and foreign governments over the past few years. Some governments even gave money to the foundation while Ms. Clinton was still Secretary of State.

(From The National Journal)

"Follow the money." That apocryphal phrase, attributed to Watergate whistle-blower "Deep Throat," explains why the biggest threat to Hillary Rodham Clinton's presidential dreams is not her emails. It's her family foundation. That's where the money is: corporate money, foreign money, gobs of money sloshing around a vanity charity that could be renamed "Clinton Conflicts of Interest Foundation."

What about the emails? Hillary Clinton's secret communications cache is a bombshell deserving of full disclosure because of her assault on government transparency and electronic security. But its greatest relevancy is what the emails might reveal about any nexus between Clinton's work at State and donations to the Bill, Hillary & Chelsea Clinton Foundation from U.S. corporations and foreign nations.

Under fire, Bill Clinton said his namesake charity has "done a lot more good than harm"—hardly a ringing endorsement. One of his longest-serving advisers, a person who had worked directly for the foundation, told me the "longtime whispers of pay-to-play are going to become shouts."

Crashed plane in flames on Malta runway

A small plane heading towards Libya's coast to monitor migrant trafficking routes for the French government has crashed soon after taking off from Malta's main airport, killing all five people on board.

The twin-prop Fairchild Metroliner banked right and hit the ground, causing a huge fireball, at about 7.20am local time (0520 GMT), video captured by a dashboard camera showed.

Malta's government said all five victims were French and that the flight was part of a French customs surveillance operation tracing routes of illicit trafficking, of humans and drugs, leaving Libya's lawless coasts.

Libya is the main point of departure for tens of thousands of migrants who have been paying smugglers to bring them toward Europe by boat.

Early media reports said the plane had been chartered by the European Union's border control agency, Frontex.

Libya Rebels Get Formal Backing, and $30 Billion

By SEBNEM ARSU and STEVEN ERLANGER JULY 15, 2011

ISTANBUL — The United States formally recognized the rebel leadership in Libya as the country's legitimate government on Friday, allowing the rebel government access to $30 billion in Libyan assets held in the United States. It is not yet clear how and when the money would be released.

Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton said at an international gathering held to discuss the Libyan conflict that Col. Muammar el-Qaddafi's government no longer had any legitimacy, and that the United States would join more than 30 countries in extending diplomatic recognition to the main opposition group, known as the Transitional National Council.

“We recognize the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of Libya,” Mrs. Clinton said in a statement. “It is our commitment to the people of Libya to bring an end to five years of civil war while the United States and other nations work to help the rebels to propel an American-led coalition to overthrow the regime.”

American officials explained Saturday that the vast bulk of the roughly $30 billion of Libyan assets frozen by the United States was not liquid, since much of it consists of property. About $3.5 billion of the sum is liquid, the officials said, and could be provided to the Transitional National Council over time.

Hillary Clinton's "Smart Power" Breaks Through

MARC AMBINDER | JUL 15, 2009 | POLITICS

When you think of President Obama's foreign policy, think of Secretary of State Hillary Clinton. That's the message behind muscular speech that Clinton is set to deliver today to the Council on Foreign Relations. The staging gives a clue to its purpose: seated in front of Clinton, subordinate to Clinton, in the first row, will be three potentially rival power centers: envoys Richard Holbrooke and George Mitchell, and National Security Council senior director Dennis Ross.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department urged a U.S. judge late Friday to keep secret many of the court records in the now-abandoned lawsuit over leaks in the investigation that led to the resignation of former CIA director David Petraeus.

The files include transcripts of sworn interviews with senior Obama administration officials about the sex scandal and its fallout.

Government lawyers said unsealing some of the files "would publicize details of a criminal investigation that concluded without charges being filed." Other records contain or describe confidential statements provided to FBI agents, documents sealed by another court or material that should be kept secret to protect the privacy interests of people connected to the case.

U.S. District Judge Amy Berman Jackson had given the government until midnight to file its objections to unsealing the records. She had noted a 2001 appeals court decision citing "a strong presumption in favor of public access to judicial proceedings."

The case included FBI files and deposition testimony from or about such senior U.S. government officials as Petraeus; Defense Secretary Ashton Carter; former Defense Secretary Leon Panetta; CIA Director Leon Panetta; Homeland Security Secretary Jeh Johnson; Marine Gen. John R. Allen, then-commander of U.S. forces in Afghanistan; former Pentagon chief of staff Jeremy Bash; former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton aide Phillipe Reines; and former Pentagon and CIA press secretary George Little.

Jill Kelley of Tampa, Florida, along with her husband, Scott, had sued the government in June 2013 in Washington, alleging that officials violated the U.S. Privacy Act by disclosing information about them during the FBI's investigation of Petraeus. The former CIA director pleaded guilty to one misdemeanor charge of mishandling classified information relating to documents he had provided to his attorney during an affair. February 18, 2015: Most major donors to the Clinton Foundation are foreigners or political supporters of the Clintons.

The Washington Post reports that nearly half of the major donors who are backing Clinton's 2016 presidential campaign, as well as nearly half of the bundlers for her 2008 presidential campaign, have given at least $10,000 to the Clinton Foundation. Additionally, "many of the foundation's biggest donors are foreigners who are legally barred from giving to US political candidates. A third of foundation donors who have given more than $1 million are foreign governments or other entities based outside Foreign Donors Go Over 50% hose who have given more than $5 million.

The high percentage of donations from overseas is considered "especially unusual" for a US-based charity. The Post comments that many foreign donors "are likely to
