An Introduction to Young Avestan

This Introduction may be distributed freely as a service to teachers of Old Iranian, but please be sure to include this page.

In my experience, this course can be taught as a two-term full (indivisible) course at 2 hrs/w or (at a squeak) as a one-term full course at 3 hrs/w. Ideally, a three-term course is recommendable, followed by one year of Old Avestan.

The introduction and much of the general information included in the first lessons are intended for reference and should not be expected to be learned in their entirety at once.

No section with complete paradigms is included, but the students should be encouraged to compile their own as the forms are introduced. An effort has been made to choose the same examples, but Avestan morphology is notoriously lacunary. Jackson's grammar is recommended for comparison with Sanskrit. Hoffmann and Forssman's grammar should be consulted for relatively up-to-date information and bibliography for individual phenomena.

The Biblio, Intro, and additional commentaries on the texts are still being worked on.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: I have not made myself personal thoughts on everything in the book, and much is traditional wisdom, without my necessarily subscribing to it; also, some of what deviates from the traditional wisdom reflects only provisional ideas. I therefore appeal to users not to cite anything in print without the my permission.

My thanks to all of my students, who have actively noted typos, inconsistencies of presentation, etc.

Please help improve the Introduction by reporting typos and whatever comments you may have to skjaervo@fas.harvard.edu

INTRODUCTION

OLD IRANIAN LANGUAGES

Old Persian and Avestan, both spoken several centuries before our era, are the two oldest Iranian languages known.

Old Persian

The extant Old Persian texts all date from the 6th to the 4th century. They are written in a cuneiform script, probably invented under Darius for the purpose of recording his deeds. It was the first cuneiform script to be deciphered and provided the clue to all the other cuneiform scripts. The Old Persian language as we know it from the inscriptions (5th-4th cents.) was already about to change to Middle Persian.<sup>1</sup> It is therefore probable that Old Persian had already been spoken for a few centuries before this time, that is, throughout most of the first half of the first millennium B.C.

Avestan

The other extant Old Iranian language is Avestan, the language in which the most ancient Iranian religious texts are written, the Avesta. The Avesta is collection of miscellaneous texts first compiled and committed to writing in the mid-first millennium of our era. Before this time it had been transmitted orally by specially trained priests. This text corpus was subsequently, after the Muslim conquest, considerably reduced in volume.

The extant texts of each part of the collection go back to a set of single manuscripts dating from the 11th-12th centuries. Our earliest extant manuscripts date only from the latter half of the 13th century, although most of them are of much later date. This situation always has to be kept in mind when we discuss the Avesta and the Avestan language.

While both history and linguistics indicate that Old Persian was the language spoken in modern Fars in southern Iran, the language of the Avesta must have belonged to tribes from northeastern Iran. The Avesta contains a few geographical names, all belonging to northeastern Iran, that is, roughly the area covered by modern Afghanistan plus the areas to the north and south of Afghanistan. We are therefore entitled to conclude that Avestan was spoken primarily by tribes from that area. Only once is a possibly westerly name mentioned, namely Rayā, if this is modern Rey south of Tehran, which in antiquity was regarded as the center of the Median Magi, but this identification is not compelling.<sup>2</sup>

Median and Scythian

Beside Old Persian and Avestan other Iranian languages must have existed in the 1st millennium before our era. Of these Median, spoken in western Iran and presumably “official” language during the Median period (ca. 700-559), is known from numerous loanwords in Old Persian. Old northwestern languages, probably spoken by the Scythian Alan tribes are known from early inscriptions and personal and place names. In addition the Scythian tribes in central Asia must have spoken variants of Iranian that differed from Old Persian and Avestan. A few names of Scythian gods are mentioned in Herodotus’s Histories, as well as the Median word for “dog,” spaka.

Old and Young Avestan

We distinguish between texts in “Old Avestan” (OAv.) and texts in “Young(er) Avestan” (YAv.).

The Old Avestan texts comprise the Gāθās and the Yasna Haptaŋhāiti, both of which are contained in the section of the Avesta called the Yasna, as well as various fragments scattered throughout the Yasna.<sup>3</sup>

The Young Avestan texts are the other texts.

Among these we must distinguish between genuine, old Young Avestan texts, that is, texts written in a consistent, correct language, and texts in late Young Avestan, compiled at a stage when Young Avestan was no longer a living language and the authors and compilers only had an incomplete knowledge of it.

The texts contain no historical allusions, so they cannot be dated exactly, but Old Avestan is a language closely akin to the oldest Indic language, that found in the oldest parts of the R̥gveda, and should therefore probably be dated to about the same time. This date has been much debated, but it seems probable—on archeological, as well as linguistic grounds—that the oldest poems were composed in the first half of the 2nd millennium B.C.E.

Compared with Old Avestan, Young Avestan represents a radically changed form of the language. The verbal system of Old Avestan is still based upon the opposition between present ~ aorist ~ perfect known from Vedic and Homeric Greek, whereas in Young Avestan the aorist and perfect have both become relatively rare, and the verbal system is based upon the opposition present ~ imperfect-injunctive. Thus, Young Avestan is linguistically close to Old Persian, and we may assume that it too was spoken in the first half of the 1st millennium, perhaps through the Median period, i.e., roughly the 10th-6th centuries. Such a dating, on one hand, accounts for the absence of references to western Iran in the texts (with the possible exception of Median Rayā); on the other hand, it provides the necessary time span for Avestan to go through an “intermediate” period after the Old Avestan period before it developed into Young Avestan.

THE AVESTA

The writing down of the Avesta

The Avestan texts known to us today represent only a small part of the oral traditions that were committed to writing in the Sasanian period (224-651 C.E.): as little as one-fourth has been conjectured. Sometime during this period a phonetic alphabet was invented, which was used to write down in minute detail the known texts.

At this time, all the available Iranian alphabets were consonant alphabets descended from Aramaic<sup>4</sup> (except the Bactrian, which was Greek), which were quite unsuitable for recording a largely unfamiliar language. A new alphabet was therefore invented based, apparently, on the cursive Pahlavi script of the Zoroastrian literature, but with the addition of earlier forms of some letters, taken from the script found in the Pahlavi Psalter, a Middle Persian translation of the Psalms of David found in Chinese Turkestan.

It must be kept in mind that our earliest mss. are all, probably, over 500 years younger than the “proto-manuscript” of the Avesta, what K. Hoffmann called the “Sasanian archetype.” Thus, we do not know exactly what forms the letters had. Script tables in modern textbooks and grammars are often based upon type-set fonts made in the 19th century and do not necessarily represent the script in actual mss. A glance at some of the available facsimilies also shows that the script varies considerably with time and scribes. A paleography is therefore needed.

The Arsacid archetype and the Andreas theory

Much was made earlier in this century of a supposed Arsacid (Parthian) text of the Avesta, written in a usual Aramaic consonantal alphabet under the Arsacids (ca. 250 B.C.E. - ca. 240 C.E.). A theory was developed by F. C. Andreas that unusual or unexpected spellings in the transmitted text reflected erroneous vocalizations on the part of the Sasanian transcribers of the Arsacid text and that a correct understanding of the Avestan text could only be obtained by imagining what the consonant text had been like.

It has been proved, however, that the “aberrant” orthography of the Avesta reflects a wholly consistent phonological system, and the theory of an Arsacid Avestan text has now been abandoned. Thus, G. Morgenstierne (1942) showed that the system of “epenthesis,” for instance, is internally consistent and must therefore be a genuine linguistic phenomenon, and, instead of regarding it as a purely graphic phenomenon, Morgenstierne interpreted the “epenthetic” i and u as signs of palatalization and labialization of the consonants they preceded.

Nevertheless, it is possible, and even likely, that there existed local (oral) translations of the Avestan text in the Arsacid and earlier periods as it did in the early Sasanian period. Thus, it is not impossible that the indigenous tradition contained in the Pahlavi encyclopaedia the Dēnkard about the Avesta contains some truth (Shaki, 1981): namely that after Alexander had destroyed or dispersed the text written in gold on bulls’ hides (if true, then conceivably the Old Persian[?] translation and commentary kept at Persepolis), it was then reassembled, presumably on the basis of oral traditions and, perhaps, surviving manuscripts, under Walāš, one of the Arsacid kings, again under Šāpūr I (240-272 C.E.), and finally under Šāpūr II (309-79 C.E.).

The zands

It is important to realize that already by the Young Avestan period the Old Avesta can no longer have been well understood and was in need of translation and commentary, and we actually do find in the extant Avesta commentaries in Young Avestan on Old Avestan texts. Only the commentaries on the three holy prayers have been preserved (Y.19-21), but there also existed commentaries on the remaining Old Avestan texts, some of which have been preserved in Pahlavi translation in the ninth book of the Dēnkard, which contains Pahlavi versions of Avestan commentaries on the Gāthās (see West, Pahlavi Texts IV, pp. 172-397).

Similarly, as the Avestan texts were adopted by other Iranian population groups than those who had originally composed them, commentaries and translations into local languages became a necessity. Thus we can safely assume that there were at one time early Bactrian, Parthian, Median, etc. versions of the texts. If, by the Achaemenid period, the Avesta was in Persis such a tradition of local versions and exegesis in local languages must have been established there too.

Whether any of these “local versions” were ever written down we do not know—though it is possible—but the transmission of the holy texts, like that of the secular literature that has not survived, must have been fundamentally oral. We can easily imagine that instructors taught the texts to the students by reciting the original text in small portions and adding the translation and the commentary as they went along. This is what we see in our extant manuscripts of the Avesta.

By the Sasanian period the Avestan text itself was largely incomprehensible to the reciters, but translations into the spoken languages had already been made, which must have been current as early as the 3rd century C.E., when one of the nasks of the Avesta was quoted by the high priest Kerdīr in one of his inscriptions. The nasks of the Avesta are also referred to in a Manichean text, dating from the 3rd-4th century. In another Manichean text the five Gāthās are mentioned by name.

It is quite probable that the Middle Persian translation of the Avesta with commentaries and additional material (the Avesta and its zand > the Zand-Avesta) had already been written down by this time, but probably not the Avestan texts themselves, and when Mani, for instance, talks about the books of the Zoroastrians he is likely to refer to these translations and commentaries.

Corruption of the Avestan text

The manuscripts of the Avesta all go back to single manuscripts for each part (Yasna, *Yašt*s, etc.), which the colophons permit us to date to around 1000 C.E. For some parts of the text, we have manuscripts from the 13th-14th centuries, for others the tradition does not go beyond the 16th-18th centuries.

We should also remember that the proto-text of our Avesta is based on “final performances.” The question of how the Avestan texts were committed to writing once the alphabet had been invented around 500 C.E. has not to my knowledge been raised, but is of paramount importance for understanding the state of the text. There are, in fact, only two possibilities (or a combination of them): either a person who knew the text was taught the alphabet and wrote down what he knew, or a person who knew the text dictated it to someone who knew the script. Either procedure would obviously influence the recorded text adversely, as with both procedures the fluency of the recitation would be interrupted. On the other hand, dictation would give the reciter time to remember more text than he might otherwise include during a recitation.<sup>5</sup>

The text is an “edited” text and does not in every detail reflect a genuine linguistic system. During its 1000 to 1500 years of oral transmission, the text was standardized, and, once written down, it was modified by scribes who spoke dialects with phonological systems fundamentally different from that of the originals (see Hoffmann 1970, Skjærvø 1994, Kellens 1998). Thus, the OAv. texts contain many YAv. elements and the YAv. texts contain both OAv. (“pseudo-OAv.”) elements and phonetic features introduced from the scribes’ languages (incl. Gujarati). This makes it almost impossible to determine which of the sound changes we observe in our extant texts already belonged already to the original language.

Features ascribed to “editorial” interference include the “repetition of preverbs in tmesis” in the Gāthās; the use of final -ō in first member of compounds (see Lesson 20); the restoration of non-sandhi forms in sandhi (Lesson 6); the graphic splitting up of consonants (gaṭ.tōi for **gatōi*, aēšəm.mahiiā for **aēšəmahiiā*); and detachment of endings (OAv. gəuš.āiš, drəguuō.dəbīš, gūšō.dūm; YAv. uziiō.rəntəm for **uziiar°*). Some of these peculiarities may be the results of memorization techniques, others may be due to scribal idiosyncrasies.

Some morpho-syntactic peculiarities of YAv. may have been caused by wrong restorations of abbreviations (cf. the frequent y° = yazamaide). The most probable cases are the following: gen. sing. zraiiā vouru.kašaiia (Y.65.4 = Yt. 5.4 = Yt. 8.31), possibly for zra° vouru.ka°, instead of the regular zraiiāhō vouru.kašahe; the use of them. dat. for gen.: āžōiš dahākāi (V.1.17); etc.

It is important, however, to realize that corrupt text does not necessarily imply corrupt language. Young Avestan must have ceased being a spoken language probably some time in the (pre-)Median period, when the texts were “crystallized,” that is, no longer linguistically updated from generation to generation. Thus, they were orally transmitted for at least a thousand years before they were written down, which, obviously, gave ample opportunity for them to be changed, especially by the less well trained reciters. In fact, we see that the most corrupt texts are those that were presumably recited most often.

The corruption affected both grammatical forms and the text itself. Grammatical forms were in particular exposed to analogy, for instance, the athematic nom. plur. ending -ō is frequently replaced by the thematic ending -a, athematic verbs are thematized, ablaut is lost, but these are not necessarily features of the language, but more probably of the recitation. Often whole phrases (e.g., nouns plus adjectives) were lifted out of their actual context and inserted elsewhere without appropriate adjustment; very often phrases in the nominative plural are used where the accusative would be expected.

Young Avestan dialects?

Various phonological and morphological features of YAv. have been ascribed to dialect differences; thus, J. Schindler interpreted the different treatments of final \-aṅh* < IIr. \-ans*) in terms of dialects, and K. Hoffmann ascribed features such as hū > xʷ instead of huu- (H-F, §6.2) and VβV > VūV (H-F, §63cg) to an Arachotian dialect. The alternation of VδV ~ VθV in daδā- ~ daθā-, etc., corresponds to Man. MPers. day- ~ Parth. and mod. Pers. dah-. As long as we have no exhaustive study of the manuscripts and individual scribal habits, such theories remain hypothetical.

<sup>5</sup> The problems are described by Lord, 1960, pp. 124-138, especially 126-27; 1991, pp. 38-48.

HISTORY OF THE IRANIANS AND THE AVESTA

ca. 3000	Proto-Indo-Iranian?
2700-2200	Proto-Iranian?
2200-1700	Proto-Avestan (end of Indus civilization ca. 1900).
ca. 2100-1750	“Bactrian-Margiane Archaeological Complex.”
1700-1200	Old Avestan period.
1200-900	Transition period: crystallization and canonization of the Old Avestan texts.
?	Movement of the Persian and Median tribes into central and northwestern Iran.
900-600	Young Avestan (geographic horizon: from Choresmia to Sistan/Helmand basin). First mention of the Persians (9th cent.) and Medes (8th cent.) in western Iran.
700-400	Old Persian (Darius at Behistun, 520-519 B.C.E.).
400-ca. 100 B.C.E.	Transition period.: post-Old Persian/proto-Middle Persian.
100 B.C.E.-200 C.E.	Early Middle Persian.
200-500/600 C.E.	Middle Persian.

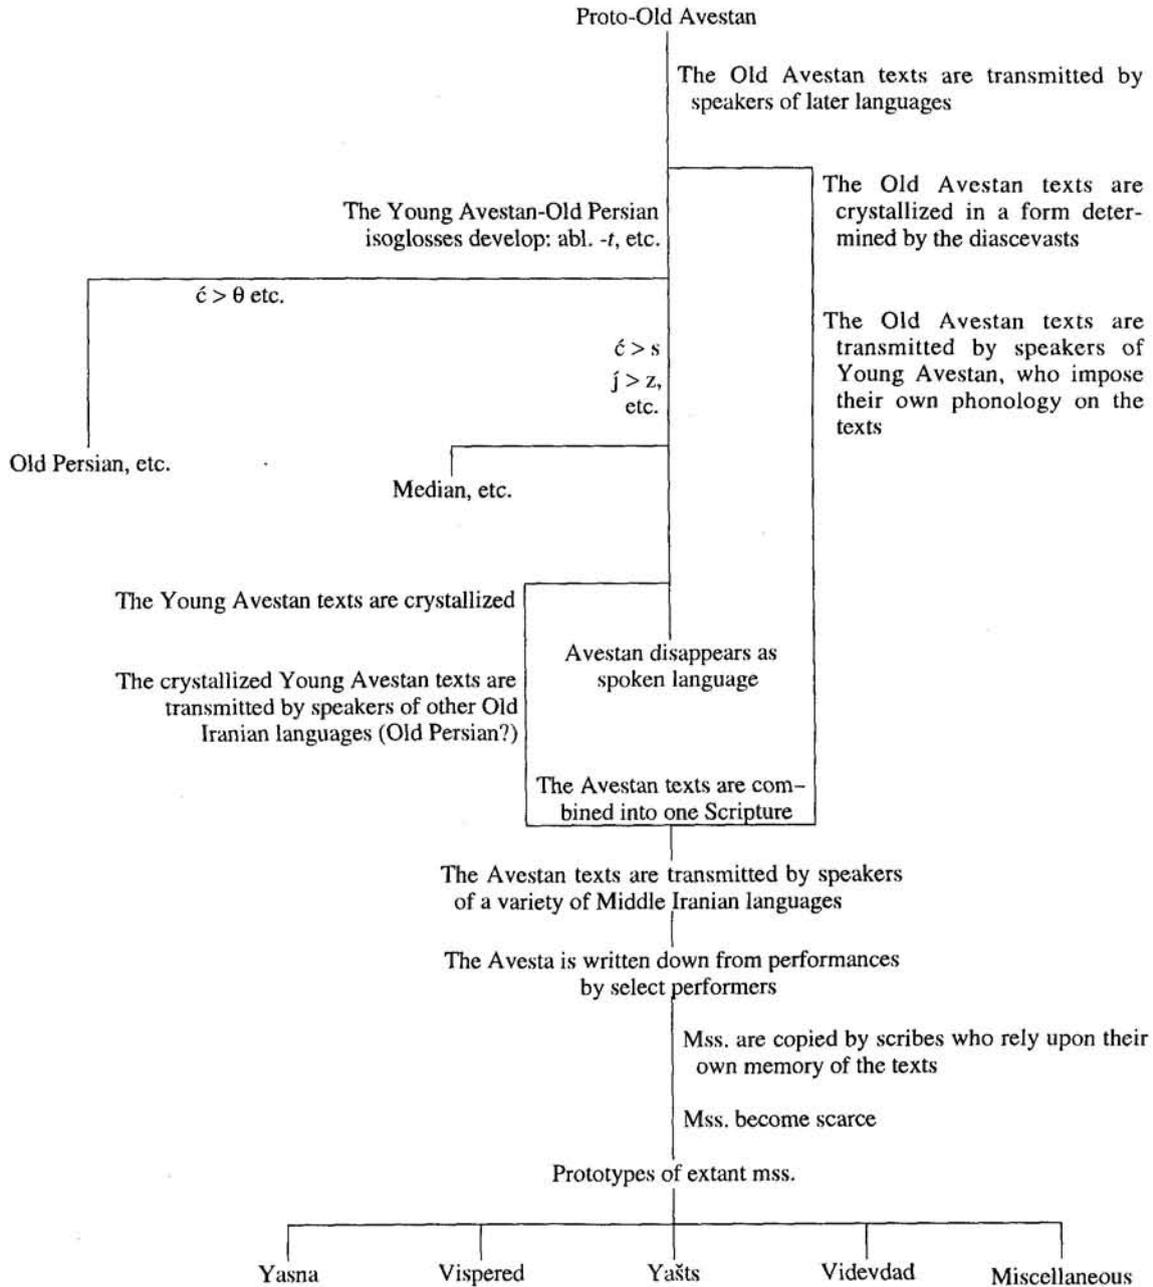

The history of the text, as envisaged by Hoffmann (1970), Kellens (1998, p. 513),<sup>6</sup> and myself, is approximately as follows:

- Composition of texts that were to lead to the Old Avestan texts, constantly linguistically updated (recomposed) in performance (mid-2nd mill. B.C.E.).
- Composition of the Young Avestan texts, constantly linguistically updated, etc. (end of 2nd/early 1st mill.).
- Crystallization of the Old Avestan text as unchangeable with introduction of editorial changes (early YAv. period?).
- Crystallization of the Young Avestan text as unchangeable (1st half of 1st mill.?).
- Canonization of select texts (under the Achaemenids?).
- Transmission of the entire immutable text with introduction of linguistic novelties and changes made by the (oral) transmitters (up to ca. 500 C.E.), with several attempts at “reassembling the scattered scriptures” (?).
- Creation of an unambiguous alphabet in which the entire known corpus was written down to the extent it was deemed worthy.
- Written transmission of the text influenced(?) by the oral tradition; copying of manuscripts contributes to deterioration of the text.
- The Arab conquest causes deterioration of the religion and its texts; ca. 1000 C.E. there is only one single manuscript in existence of each part of the extant Avesta, from which all our extant manuscripts are descended.

THE AVESTAN TEXTS

Contents of the Avesta

According to the tradition, under Khosrow (531-579), the Avesta was divided into 21 books, or nasks, the contents of which are given in the Dēnkard, a Pahlavi text compiled in the 9th century. From this it appears that only one of the books have been preserved virtually complete: the Videvdad; of most of the others only smaller or larger parts are now extant. The loss of so much of the Sasanian Avesta since the 9th century must be ascribed to the effect of the difficulties that beset the Zoroastrian communities after the Muslim conquest of Iran.

The Avesta is traditionally divided into several parts:

The Yasna

A miscellany of texts recited during the yasna ritual, among which are:

Hōm-yašt (Y.9-11), prayer or hymn to Haoma;

Frauarāne, the Zoroastrian profession of faith (Y.12);

Bayān yašt, a commentary on the sacred prayers (Y.22-26);

three sacred prayers (Y.27): Yeñhe hātqm, Ašəm vohū, Yaθā ahū vairiō (Ahunwar);

the Gāthās (Y.28-34, 43-51, 53): poetry ascribed to Zarathustra in Old Avestan;

Yasna Haptañhāiti (Y.35-41): Old Avestan composed in an archaic kind of metrical prose;

Srōš-yašt (Y.57), hymn addressed to Sraoša, god of obedience and judge in the hereafter;

Āb zōhr (Y.63-72)

Vispered (Vr.): a miscellany of ritual texts, mostly invocations;

Yašts (Yt.): collection of hymns to individual deities:

Yašt 1-4 to Ahura Mazda and the Aməša Spəntas;

Yašt 5 to Arəduuī Sura Anāhita, the heavenly river and goddess of the waters;

Yašt 6 to the sun;

Yašt 7 to the moon;

Yašt 8 to Tištriia, the star Sirius, who controls the weather and the rain;

Yašt 9, Gōš yašt, to Druuāspā;

Yašt 10 to Miθra, god of contracts and agreements, of dawn, etc.;

Yašt 11 to Sraoša;

Yašt 12 to Rašnu, judge in the beyond

Yašt 13 to the Frauuašis, tutelary deities and warriors, probably the personified faith (cf. frauarāne);

Yašt 14 to Vərəθraγna, god of victory who manifests himself in 10 different incarnations;

Yašt 15, according to its title dedicated to Rām, but actually about Vaiiu, the personification of the space between heaven and earth, who has two sides, one good and one evil;

Yašt 16, Dēn yašt, to Cistā;

Yašt 17 to Aši, the goddess of good fortune and protectress of the family;

Yašt 18 Aštād yašt;

Yašt 19 according to its title dedicated to the genius of the earth but actually about the Kavian xʿarənah (royal Fortune);

Yašt 20 to Haoma;

Yašt 21 to the star Vanant.

Xorda Avesta (XA.) “little Avesta”: a miscellany of hymns and other ritual texts, among which are:

The Nyāyišn (Ny.) “prayers” to the sun, Miθra, the moon, Arəduuī Sura Anāhita (the waters), Ātaš ī Bahrām (the fire);

INTRODUCTION

The Sīrōzas (S.), invocations of the deities in charge of the 30 days of the months.

The Āfrīnagān (Ā.), various invocations.

Videvdad (V.) (also Vendidad) literally “the law(s) or regulations (serving to keep) the demons away”: mainly a collection of texts concerned with purification rituals. It also contains some mythological material:

chap. 1: contains a description of how Ahura Mazda created the various provinces of Iran and how the Evil Spirit, as his countercreation, made a scourge for each province;

chap. 2 contains the myth of Yima, the first king, who built a fortress to house mankind during a coming winter;

chap. 19 contains a description of the struggle between Zarathustra and the Evil Spirit;

Hādōxt nask (HN.): a text about the fate of the soul after death;

Aogamadāeca (Aog.): an eschatological text;

Ēhrbedestān and Nīrangestān (N.): religio-legal texts;

Pursišnīhā (P.): a collection of questions and answers regarding religious matters.

The following three are late compilations but contain some fragments not found elsewhere:

Āfrīn-e Payyambar Zardošt: Zarathustra’s advice to Vištāspa;

Vištāsp yašt: Vištāspa’s words to Zarathustra;

Vaēθā nask.

There are numerous Fragments from extant and lost Avestan texts quoted in the Pahlavi translation of the other Avestan texts and in Pahlavi texts. Of special interest is the so-called Frahang ī ōim ēk (FO.), which is a Vocabulary of Avestan words and phrases with their Pahlavi translation. The first entry is Avestan ōim = Pahlavi ēk, whence the name.

BASIC RELIGIOUS TERMINOLOGY

In the Zoroastrian (Mazdaiian) religion, as seen in the Young Avesta, the universe is divided into two opposed and constantly battling camps, those of good and evil, order and chaos, life and death, light and darkness. In addition, the universe is divided into two spheres: “that of thought” (maniiauuu), that of the divine beings, and “that of living beings” (gaēiθiia), that of humanity and other living beings (gaēθā).

The ordered universe was established (dā-) by Ahura Mazda, the Wise Lord, at the beginning of (limited) time. Its inherent principle is Order (aša), which is manifested in the light of day, the diurnal sky, and the sun. The principle of Order applies to both the world of thought and that of living beings. In the former it applies to the cosmic processes, established and upheld by Ahura Mazda; in the latter it applies to the behavior of men, both in daily life and in the ritual. All entities in the universe, including mankind, that conform to this principle are said to be upholders/sustainers of Order or “Orderly” for short (ašauiuan).

When Ahura Mazda and the other immortal gods rule the world according to Order, it is full of life and fecundity. The terms for this are derived from the root span, which literally implies “swelling with vital juices.” The good deities in the world of thought, first of all Ahura Mazda, are all “life-giving, (re)life-giving” (spənta), that is, they are responsible for maintaining the universe in its pristine state, as originally established by Ahura Mazda himself. The term is frequently rendered in Western literature as “beneficial” or “holy,” but the latter is a very imprecise term and should be avoided. Humans contribute to this maintenance of the Ordered universe through their behavior and their rituals. At the end of the final battle the final revitalizers (saošiiant) will stand forth and by their victory over the forces of Evil will render existence “juicy” (fraša), that is, full of fertile, juices, like it was in the beginning, a state commonly referred to as the “Juicy-making” (frašō.kərəiti), commonly rendered as Renovation.

BASIC RELIGIOUS TERMINOLOGY

A link is provided between beings in the worlds of thought and living beings in that they all have a model or prototype in the world of thought, the ratus, a category of entities reminiscent of the Platonic ideas. Thus, the divisions of the year, which recur ever anew, all have their unchanging Models in the world of thought. Altogether there are thirty-three Models (see the litanies in lessons 10-13).

With Ahura Mazdā there are several other divine beings, referred to as “life-giving/life-giving immortals” (aməša spənta), of whom there are either innumerable ones or six (seven) (the Vitalizing/Life-giving Immortals). All the beings of the world of thought are deserving of sacrifices,<sup>7</sup> “worship-worthy” (yazata-).

The most important of the immortal gods are:

Arəduuī Sūrā Anahitā, literally “the unattached lofty one, rich in life-giving strength,” name of the heavenly river

Aši, goddess of the rewards.

Ātar, the Fire, son of Ahura Mazdā

Miθra, solar deity, god of contracts and agreements; fighter of the forces of the Dark Side; clears the way for the sun to rise.

Sraoša, deified “readiness to listen” to the gods; he is in charge of the “rewards” (ašīia) given to the souls of the dead; he is the main opponent of Aēšma “Wrath.”

Rašnu: god of straight and correct behavior, in the beyond the judge who weighs the deeds of the dead on a balance.

Tištīria: the Dog Star, Sirius; god of the seasonal rains.

Vaiiu: name of the god of the intermediate space, through which the soul and daēnā of the dead must travel.

Vərəθraγna, god of defense against and victory over the enemies of Order.

The seven Life-giving Immortals are Ahura Mazdā plus the following six:

Vohu Manō, Good Thought (of gods and men, especially the poet-sacrificer, opponent of the Evil Thought). He also represents animals.

Aša Vahišta, Best Order (the cosmic Order, opponent of the cosmic Deception, the Lie). It also represents the heavenly fire, the sun, which is its visible mark.

Xšaθra Vairīia: the Well-deserved Command, the royal command of Ahura Mazdā (produced as a reward for the successful sacrifice), enabling him to overcome those possessed by the Lie. It also represents metals.

Spəntā Ārmaiti, Life-giving Humility; daughter and spouse of Ahura Mazdā, deity of the earth, also personified spousal and filial devotion and submission, as well as patience in carrying all things on her. Her name is often rendered as Rightmindedness and similar.

Hauruatāt: Wholeness (principle of not suffering defects, illnesses, etc.). It also represents the waters.

Amərətātāt: Immortality, Undyingness (principle of not dying untimely). It also represents the plants.

The opponent of Ahura Mazdā is the Evil (literally, “dark, black”?) Spirit (Agra Manīiu), whose creations and followers tell lies about Ahura Mazdā and his Ordered universe. They are therefore said to be “filled with/possessed by the Lie, Lieful,” (druuant), and the principle of the universe of the Evil Spirit is called the Deception or the Lie (Druj). When Ahura Mazdā established the Ordered universe, sunny and healthy, the Evil Spirit in turn polluted it with all kinds of evil things, darkness, death, sickness, etc.

The agents of the Evil Spirit are the old (Indo-Iranian) gods, the daēuuas (Old Indic deva “(good) god”).

<sup>7</sup> The term sacrifice is used throughout this book without necessarily implying immolation of a sacrificial victim; rather it is used to denote ritual offerings to gods and other entities in the divine world. See, e.g., Henninger, 1987, esp. pp. 544-45. The verb yaza- implies worship of the gods, consecration of the elements of the ritual, and the offering up the elements of the ritual to the gods as gifts.

Others are:

Aēšma “Wrath,” the principal opponent of Sraoša. Wrath probably personifies nocturnal darkness and the night sky, and his “bloody club” may refer to the sunset, in which the sun seems to be sinking into blood.

Nasao, the Carrion demoness, the greatest polluter of Ahura Mazda’s world.

Bušijastā, the demoness of sloth, with long fingers, who says “there will be another (day).”

The creative forces in the universe, of both gods and men, are called maniius, (active) mental forces, (poetic) inspiration, especially the Forces of Order and the Lie. The word is commonly translated as “spirit.” The creative force of the upholders of Order, especially that of Ahura Mazda, is the (re)life-giving force, the life-giving inspiration (spənta maniiu), a concept which in the Young Avesta became a deity in its own right, closely associated with Ahura Mazda. The (mis)creative force of the Lie is the destructive force/inspiration (aŋra maniiu), which became the name of the Evil Spirit himself. The entities in the universe that possess this force make up the world of thought/spirit (maniiuuu).

Both Ahura Mazda and the Evil Spirit have their agents among the humans. Ahura Mazda’s principal agent, the first human to “praise Order,” “discard the daēuuas” as not worthy of sacrifice, and “sacrifice to Ahura Mazda” was Zarathustra, the first human poet-sacrificer. Later poet-sacrificers imitate Zarathustra in order to perform a successful sacrifice.

The purpose of the Avestan sacrifice, as reflected in the Yasna, is to regenerate the ahu, the living existence, after periods of darkness, sterility, and death (night, winter). During the ritual, the sacrificer constructs a microcosmic model of the cosmos as it was ordered by Ahura Mazda the first time: the first ahu. For this, all the models, or prototypes (ratu), of all the ingredients of the first ahu are invoked, invited, and ordered. The haoma sacrifice is performed, apparently in order to regenerate Zarathustra in the personality of the current sacrificer. Once that is done, the sacrificer recites the Gāthās, as they were first recited in the world of the living by Zarathustra, in order to smash and remove evil from the cosmos. The divine “readiness to listen,” Sraoša, is praised in order to strengthen him in his battle against the forces of darkness, embodied in Aēšma, Wrath. The heavenly waters are invoked, as the birth waters of the new existence about to be born, and the sun, which is about to be born out of the world ocean as the symbol of Ahura Mazda’s Order.

LESSON 1

THE AVESTAN ALPHABET

The Avestan alphabet was invented in ab. 500 C.E. as a phonetic, rather than a phonemic, alphabet, in which every sound was to be represented by one letter. Two things must be kept in mind:

1. The sounds this alphabet was intended to record were those of the oral recitation as performed at the time of the invention, not the original pronunciation of Old and Young Avestan, and we do not know to what extent the pronunciation had changed in the ritual recitation;

2. The Avestan and (Book) Pahlavi alphabets are known only from the 13th century onward, and we do not know what their exact forms were at the time of the invention of the Avestan alphabet. The Pahlavi script, for instance, may have been more differentiated than it is in the standard form of the manuscripts.

The alphabet was based upon the Pahlavi (Middle Persian) alphabet in use at the time, which was descended from Aramaic. The Avestan script is therefore also read from right to left.

𐬀	𐬁	𐬂	𐬃	𐬄	𐬅	𐬆	𐬇	𐬈	𐬉
a	ā	i	ī	u	ū	e	ē	o	ō

𐬐	𐬑	𐬒		𐬓		𐬔		𐬕	𐬖
p	b	β		f		m		ṃ
𐬗	𐬘	𐬙	𐬚	𐬛	𐬜	𐬝	𐬞	𐬟	𐬠

𐬡	𐬢	𐬣	𐬤	𐬥			𐬦
k	g	g̃	γ	x			ŋ
𐬨	𐬩					𐬪	𐬫
c	j					ń
𐬬	𐬭	𐬮		𐬯			𐬰
y	Y	ii		χ			ŋ̃
𐬲		uu		x <sup>v</sup>			ŋ <sup>v</sup>
v
𐬴	𐬵	𐬶	𐬷	𐬸	𐬹	𐬺	𐬻	𐬼
r	s	š	š̃	š̄	z	ž		h

For 𐬍 (*ə), δ<sub>2</sub>, g̃, and ł<sub>2</sub> one usually writes q, δ, g, and ł.

Note that y Y v are only written in initial position, except in very late manuscripts, while in non-initial position <ii> and <uu> are used to express Eng. w and y. Before vowels ii and uu are written to express [i, ĩ] and [u, ũ], e.g.:

yāna- “boon,” xšaiiat /xšajāt/ “he ruled,” mašiiō /mašiiō/ “(mortal) man” (Skt. martiyo);

vohu “good,” yauuat /jauat/ “as long as” (Skt. yāvat), druuō /druō/ “sound, healthy” (Skt. dhruvo).

Note that ii and uu are also found in initial position, although rarely:

iiētan, subj. of the perf. stem *iiāii- <√i (= Skt. iyāy-), uua [uua] < *uβa “both.”

Until recently ii and uu in all these functions were usually transliterated as y and v, so that no distinction was made between them and initial y/Y and v (e.g., Bartholomae, Air. Wb.). When uu and ii appeared in initial position <sub>u</sub>va- and y- were written (thus Bartholomae, Air. Wb., cols. 147, 399).

Note that Bartholomae used w to transliterate <β>.<sup>1</sup>

t̄ is written for t in final position and before stops (tk, tb), e.g., āat̄ “then,” tkaēša- “guidance,” tbaēšah- “evil, hostility.”

LIGATURES

In many manuscripts certain letters are frequently combined. Some common combinations, or “ligatures,” are the following:

𐬀 + 𐬀 = 𐬀𐬀	𐬀 + 𐬀) = 𐬀)	𐬀 + 𐬀) = 𐬀)	𐬀 + 𐬀 + 𐬀) = 𐬀𐬀)
𐬀 + 𐬀 = 𐬀𐬀	𐬀 + 𐬀 = 𐬀𐬀	𐬀 + 𐬀 = 𐬀𐬀	𐬀 + 𐬀 + 𐬀 = 𐬀𐬀𐬀
𐬀 + 𐬀 = 𐬀𐬀	𐬀 + 𐬀 = 𐬀𐬀	𐬀 + 𐬀 = 𐬀𐬀	𐬀 + 𐬀) = 𐬀)

STRESS

We know nothing certain about stress in Avestan. For practical purposes a stress rule like that of Latin or Classical Sanskrit may be used, i.e., 1) stress the second-last syllable (the “penultimate”) if it is “heavy,” i.e., has a long vowel (or diphthong) or a short vowel followed by two or more consonants, or if the word has only two syllables, e.g., á̄pō, ápō, mazīštō; 2) stress the third-last syllable (ante-penultimate) if the penultimate is “light,” i.e., has a short vowel followed by one consonant only, e.g., váēnahi, barámahi; 3) stress the fourth-last syllable if the antepenultimate and penultimate are both light, but put a secondary stress on the penultimate, e.g., á̄huràhe, yázamàide.

It is also possible that some words still had the accent on the final syllable, as in Old Indic, e.g., ápō but apó.

Note that a final -ə does not count as a syllable. The vowel sequences ai, ei, au, ou count as short vowels (a<sup>i</sup>, e<sup>i</sup>, a<sup>u</sup>, o<sup>u</sup>). Double ii and uu either count as single consonants ĭ and ū or as vowel + consonant ij and uu.

PUNCTUATION

In the Avestan manuscripts every word—and sometimes parts of words—are separated by a period. Sentences are usually marked by a triangular group of three dots ( ∴ ) or other decorative marks.

PRONUNCIATION

Following are some guidelines to the pronunciation of Avestan.

1. Vowels.

Note that the vowels should be pronounced “cleanly,” as in Italian or Spanish, rather than as in English.

letter	example	approximate pronunciation
a	apō	Span. gato ; Eng. cart or cut ; Germ. Katze .
ā	āpō	Eng. car or bath (not Amer. Eng.); Germ. Lade .
aē	baēuuarə	Span. baile ; Eng. bite ; Germ. kein .
ao	gaoš	Span. causa ; Eng. cow ; Germ. Haus .
i	pita	Span. hijo ; Eng. feet ; Germ. bitte .
ii	maii	Span. (not Amer.) mayo , Amer. Span. pollo ; Eng. layout .
ī	vīspe	Eng. feed ; Germ. lies .
u	uγra	Span. gusto ; Eng. foot ; Germ. Lust .

<sup>1</sup> In the Bavarian pronunciation of Bartholomae German w was a bilabial similar to [β], so it could not be used for the labiodental v.

LESSON 1

aši- f.: reward; Aši, goddess of the rewards ašiiō, nom. sing. of ašiiā-: who is in charge of rewards (and punishments); standing epithet of Sraoša Ažim Dahākəm, acc. sing. of Aži- Dahāka-: Azhi Dahaka, name of a giant dragon (Pers. Aždahā or Zohhāk) ā: (up) to (+ acc.)
āaṭ: then āfš, nom. sing. of āp-/apāp-/ap- f.: water āpō, nom. plur. of āp-/apbaraiti < bara- √bar: he carries darəγəm, acc. sing. m. of darəγa-: long daḫiiunəm, gen. plur. of daḫhu- f.: land druua, nom. plur. of druua-: sound, healthy haṅjamanəm, nom.-acc. sing. of haṅjamana- n.: assembly hənti < ah-: (they) are huuəθβa-: who has good herds; standing epithet of Yima janaṭ < jan(a)- √jan/γn: smote, struck, smashed, killed jaṅta, nom. sing. of jaṅtar-: smiter, striker, smasher Jāmāspa, voc. sing. of Jāmāspa-: Djamaspā; person figuring in the legends of Zarathustra.
Jāmāspō, nom. sing. of Jāmāspamaniiuš, nom. sing. of maniiu-: mental force, inspiration; traditionally translated as spirit (see Lesson 2) mašiiā-: man, mortal man mašiiō, nom. sing. of mašiiāmazdaiiasna, nom. plur. of mazdaiiasna-: someone who sacrifices to (believes in) Ahura Mazdā; Mazdaiiasnian, Mazdean
maθrəm, acc. sing. of maθra-: poetic thought (expressed in words) Miθrəm, acc. sing. of Miθra-: solar deity, god of contracts and agreements (see Lesson 2) nauuāzəm, acc. sing. of nauuāza-: ship's captain Pāurum, acc. sing. of Pāuruua-Pāuruua-: name of a ship's captain tossed up into the air by Thraetaona (Θraētaona) but saved by Arəduuī
Sura Anāhita
Purušāspa, voc. sing. of Purušāspa-: name of the legendary father of Zarathustra; lit. having/with grey horses spənta, nom. plur., spəntəm, acc. sing. of spənta-: "life-giving, (re)life-giving," literally "swollen (with fertility, etc.)." The term is traditionally translated as "beneficial" (also "incremental") or even "holy"; fundamental concept in Mazdaism: the quality of those who, like Ahura Mazdā, keep or reestablish the cosmos in/to its pristine state spəništō, superlative, nom. sing. m. of spənta-: most life-giving Spitama, voc. sing. of Spitāma-: of the Spitāmas, Spitamid; (probably) family designation of Zarathustra Sraoša-: name of a god personifying one's readiness to listen to the gods and the gods' to humans sura- (sūra-): rich in life-giving strength šiiəθna, nom.-acc. plur. of šiiəθna- n.: deed, act, action tacaṭi < taca- < √tak: flows taṭ, nom.-acc. sing. n. of ta-: that taxma-: firm, enduring, steadfast, brave tbaēšah- n.: hostility, evil tkaēša-: guidance Θraētaona-: Thraetaona, name of dragon-slaying hero (Pers. Feridun) upa.tacaṭ < upa-taca- √tak: came running uua, f.n. uiiē: both vaṅhu-, vohu-: good; good thing vaṅ'hi, nom. sing. of vaṅ'hī- f. of vaṅhu-: good vifra, nom. sing. of vifra-: smart vifrō, nom. sing. of vifra-

LESSON 1

vifrō.təməm, acc. sing. of vifrō.təma-, superlative of vifra-: smartest vispa-: all vohu, nom.-acc. sing. and plur. n. of vaṅhu-: good xšaētō, nom. sing. of xšaēta-: radiant(?); standing epithet of Yima xšaiiata < xšaiia-: he ruled

x<sup>v</sup>arāmahi < x<sup>v</sup>ara- √x<sup>v</sup>ar: we eat

x<sup>v</sup>arəθa- n.: food yauuaṭ: as long as yāna- n.: a boon (that is requested)

yāsa- √yā: to request yāsāmi < yāsa-: I request (am requesting)

Yima-: Yima, proper name; the first king and builder of a fortress (vara-) to preserve species of the good creation during a devastating winter yō, nom. sing. of ya-: who zaoθrā-: libation

zruuan-, zruuān-, zrun-: time

LESSON 2

THE PHONOLOGY (SOUND SYSTEM) OF AVESTAN. GENERAL REMARKS.

One of the things that strikes one about Avestan as opposed to Old Indic (Sanskrit) is the seemingly chaotic orthography. The cause of this state was long thought to be that the Avestan text had been corrupted by the manuscript writers, and scholars therefore decided that the text had to be “corrected” and “normalized” in order to recapture the “original” Avestan text. They never proved their point by examining in detail the orthography and the individual characteristics of the manuscripts, however.

The first Western scholar to undertake a complete analysis of the phonology of Avestan was G. Morgenstierne, who in an article written during World War II and published in 1942 showed that the Avestan alphabet reflected an internally consistent phonological system, in many respects similar to those of living Iranian dialects and languages. Most of the seemingly orthographic aberrations, which at the time were commonly explained as scribal errors, could be explained in terms of the phonological system of the language(s) of the Avesta.

It must be kept in mind, however, that the Avestan texts as we have them do not necessarily in every detail reflect a genuine linguistic system. For centuries they were adjusted by editors (diascevaists) and then by scribes who spoke dialects or languages with phonological systems differing fundamentally from that of the original Avestan language. Thus, on one hand, the Old Avestan texts contain many elements that are clearly borrowed from or influenced by Young Avestan, and, on the other hand, the Young Avestan texts contain both elements that are imitations of Old Avestan (“pseudo-OAv.”) and elements belonging to later stages of Iranian that were probably introduced by the scribes.

It is, finally, almost impossible to determine which of the sound changes we observe in our extant manuscripts already belonged to the original language and which ones were introduced at various stages of the 1000-1500 years’ oral and written transmission of the texts. One way of determining early changes is to compare the Avestan phonological system with that of Old Indic.

As much of the transmission of the surviving Avesta probably took place in southwestern Iran, phonological changes shared with other East-Iranian languages as opposed to West-Iranian languages may be assumed to belong to the early period.

One such typically East-Iranian sound change is the shortening of ī and its disappearance in juua-“alive,” which agrees with Sogdian žw-, Khotanese juva-, and Pashto žw-, against OInd. jīva-; and in cuuant- “how great,” OInd. kīvant-.

Palatalization and labialization of vowels, however, which is typical of the transmitted Avestan text, are also found in western Iranian languages and do not necessarily belong to the eastern stage of the transmission.

Important:

Some students may find it useful to compare Sanskrit (Old Indic) when learning the Avestan grammar, but both they and the teachers should avoid phonetically “translating” the Avestan into Sanskrit to explain the Avestan forms. Such an approach not only hints at an “inferior” status of Avestan compared to Sanskrit but also—more importantly—may take the focus away from the linguistic structure of Avestan in its own right—its phonetic and grammatical systems and the indigenous semantic developments. In my own experience, students who routinely see the Sanskrit forms in the Avestan ones may experience great difficulties in identifying typically Avestan, especially “contracted,” forms.

The students are not expected to master completely the following description of the phonological system of Avestan right away but use it for reference.

PHONEMES

We call “phonemes” the smallest units of speech that distinguish meanings. Phonemes are usually determined by exhibiting “minimal pairs,” e.g., English bad ~ sad, a pair that establishes /b/ and /s/ as separate phonemes in English.

Phonemes are denoted by writing them between / /. The phoneme is not a “sound” (the sound that somebody produces and which we hear when somebody speaks) but a linguistic entity devised, as it were, to provide the theoretical link between acoustic sound (the “physical” aspect of speech) and meaning (the “psychological” aspect of speech).

When we want to emphasize that we are talking about the actual sound, or the “phonetic realization” of a phoneme, we use square brackets [ ], e.g., [p], [b], [z]. These actual sounds are also called “phones” or “allophones.”

Phonemes are described by listing their “distinctive features.” These distinctive features are descriptions of how the sound is produced in the mouth and which parts of the mouth are involved in the sound production. Following are some examples:

/b/: stop, labial, voiced ~ /p/: stop, labial, unvoiced, ~ /m/: nasal, labial.

/x/: fricative, velar, unvoiced ~ /ɣ/: fricative, velar, voiced.

Note that English t is sometimes aspirated [t<sup>h</sup>], sometimes not aspirated [t]. The feature “aspiration” is not, however, distinctive in English or Avestan, so there is no phonemic opposition /t/ ~ /t<sup>h</sup>/, /p/ ~ /p<sup>h</sup>/, etc. In such cases we say that [p] and [p<sup>h</sup>] are “allophones” of /p/. Aspiration is a distinctive feature in some languages—Sanskrit, for instance, where we have minimal pairs such as kara [kara] “hand” ~ khara [k<sup>h</sup>ara] “donkey.”

In the case of /n/ we note that “voiced” is not a distinctive feature of nasals in English or Avestan, as no two words can be distinguished by the presence or absence of voicing in a nasal /n/. On the other hand, Avestan has a voiceless or, probably, pre-aspirated [hm], which may be a separate phoneme: /m/ ~ /<sup>h</sup>m/, but more probably it is simply an allophone of /m/ after h or alternative (short-hand) way of writing hm.

PHONEMIC NEUTRALIZATION

Phonemes may not be distinguished in all positions. Thus, in English we cannot find any minimal pairs distinguished by the phoneme sequences /st/ and /sd/. In such cases we say that the phonemic opposition between /t/ and /d/ has been neutralized after /s/.

VOWEL PHONEMES

Vowel phonemes are defined by features relating to the position of the tongue in the mouth and the shape of the lips. There are three basic parameters:

1. The height of the highest point of the tongue: high - mid - low.
2. The place of the highest point of the tongue: front - central - back.
3. Rounding or non-rounding of the lips.

In Avestan there are the additional features of short - long and of nasalized - oral (= non-nasalized), only some of which have distinctive function.

Diphthongs may be regarded as combinations of phonemes or single, composite, phonemes.

We may tentatively posit the following vowel (simple and diphthongs) phonemes for Young Avestan (spelling in <>):

LESSON 2

	Front	Central	Back, rounded	Nasal
High	i <i, ī>		u <u, ū>
Mid	e <e, ē>	ə, ə̄ <ə, ə̄>	o <o, ō>	(ə̄ <ə̄> ?)
Low	a 	ā <ā>	ā̄ <ā̄>, (ā̄ <ā̄>)	(ā̄ <ā̄> ?)
				ā̄ <ā̄>

Diphthongs:

Short		Long
ai <aē>	~ oi/əi <ōi>	āi <āi>
au <ao, aō>	~ ou <ou> ~ əu <əu>	āu <āu>

The difference between ō and ā̄ must have been between closed and open [o: ~ ā̄:] (approximately as in English home ~ hawk, Germ. rote ~ Rotte).

Cf. the following minimal or almost minimal pairs:

- āpō* ~ apō “waters” nom. plur. ~ gen. sing., acc. plur.
- apō* ~ apa “water” gen. sing., acc. plur. ~ instr. sing.
- aməm* ~ iməm “the strength” ~ “this”
- apa* ~ upa “with water” ~ “up to, at”
- aspō* ~ aspa ~ aspā “horse” nom. sing. ~ instr. sing. ~ acc. plur.
- surō* ~ surā “rich in life-giving strength” masc. nom. sing. ~ fem. nom.-acc. plur.
- aēta* ~ aēte “this” instr. sing. ~ nom. plur.
- āiš* ~ aēša “with these” ~ “this (one)”
- gāuš* ~ gaoš ~ gəuš “cow” nom. ~ gen. ~ gen.
- parəna-* ~ pərəna- “feather” ~ “full”
- mašīia-* ~ aməša- “(mortal) man” ~ “immortal”
- kaša* ~ °kaša “armpit” ~ “-cutters”
- tē* ~ ta “they” and haoma ~ haoma “haoma” plur. nom. ~ acc.

The phonemic status of vowel length in the case of i and ī, u and ū is uncertain. Standard editions and grammars give the impression that the distribution of short and long i and u (in Young Avestan) is conditioned by phonetic context and that they are therefore in complementary distribution, but the distribution of i and ī, u and ū in the actual manuscripts has not been investigated in any detail, and from the studies that have been made (e.g., Hintze in JamaspAsa, 1991), it appears that the choice between i or ī, u or ū may be a matter of scribal preference. Thus, the distribution by phonetic context may be a mirage of Western editions and not supported by the manuscripts.

Note that in relatively modern Iranian manuscripts long ū is replaced by ī. Investigation of this phenomenon may help establish the correct distribution of u or ū.

In this manual, long ī and ū are used in final position in monosyllables only (zī, nū) and separated preverbs (nī.°, vī.°), as well as to indicate stem forms (tanū-, etc.), but in all other cases short i and u are used consistently (with a few exceptions in the reading exercises), in order to stress the fact that the choice of (Young) Avestan short or long i and u is not conditioned by their origins, such as Proto-Iranian short and long i and u or by their being contraction products (*-im, *-īm, and *-ijam all > -im or -īm and *-um, *-ūm, and *-uūam all > -um or -ūm). Obviously, long ī and ū could also have been used.

The same caveat may to some extent apply to short and long e and ē, o and ō. Thus, in our standard editions, ē other than in monosyllabic words (see below), is restricted to the diphthong aē, while ō, other than as word final and composition vowel is only found before the morpheme border. Pairs such as vohu and dāmōhu do not, therefore necessarily prove a phonemic opposition o ~ ō. The distribution of o ~ ō also varies by manuscripts, however. Thus, many manuscripts have consistently vōhu instead of vohu, and for the diphthong ao many manuscripts commonly have aō.

VOCABULARY 2

aēm, nom. sing. m. of ima-: this one, he aēša, nom. sing. m., f. of aēta-: this aēuua, nom. sing. f. of aēuua-: one (numeral) ahura-: lord
 Ahurō Mazdā, nom. sing. of Ahura- Mazdā-: Ahura Mazdā, literally: the omniscient lord ama-: force, strength amauua, nom. sing. m. of amauuaṅt-Amərətātāt-, amərətāt- f.: Non-dying, Immortality; name of the sixth Aməša Spənta Anāhite, voc. sing. of Anāhitā-: O Anāhita!
 aṅhu-, ahu-: existence, especially the new-born Ordered existence, generated by the sacrifice aṅra-: evil, destructive; the opposite of spənta-Aṅrō Maniiuš, nom. sing. of Aṅra- Mainiiu-: the Evil Spirit aspō, nom. sing. of aspa-: horse asti < ah-: is Aṣəm Vahištəm: Best Order, the second of the Life-giving Immortals ašauuan- m.: sustainer of Order, Orderly auuaṅhe, dative sing. of auuah- n.: to (the) assistance (of) Ārmaiti- f.: Humility; Spəntā- Ārmaiti-, Life-giving Humility, the fourth of the Life-giving Immortals ātar-/āθr-: fire daēna, nom. sing., daēnaṃ, acc. sing. of daēnā-: a visionary sense of man, his “vision soul,” that after death assumes the form of a woman, beautiful or ugly according to the person’s thoughts, words, and acts in life, who leads the soul to paradise or hell, as the case may be daēuua-: old, evil god dāmōhu, locative plur. of dāman- n.: creature druj- f.: the cosmic Deception, the Lie druuaṅt-: possessed by the Lie, Lieful duuša-: to attack (? said of evil beings) duraošō, nom. sing. duraōša-: standing epithet of Haoma- of unknown meaning, traditionally interpreted as “death-averting” dušmatəm, nom.-acc. sing. n., dušmata, nom.-acc. plur. n. of dušmata-: badly thought (thought) dužuuaršta, nom.-acc. plur. n. of dužuuaršta-: badly done (deed) dužuxta, nom.-acc. plur. n. of dužuxta-: badly spoken (word) fraša-: Juicy, wonderful frašō.kərəiti- f.: Juicy-making, Renovation, the permanent reestablishment of the first existence after the final victory over the powers of evil and darkness gaēθiia-: belonging to/residing in the world of living beings, gao- m., f.: ox, cow; plur. cattle, animal species gāuš, nom. sing. of gaohaomō, nom. sing. of haoma-, Haoma-: the haoma plant and a god Hauruuatāt- f.: Wholeness; the fifth of the Life-giving Immortals hauua, nom. sing. f. of hauua-: own humata, nom.-acc. plur. n. of humata-: well-thought (thought) huuaršta, nom.-acc. plur. n. of huuaršta-: well-done (deed) huxtəm, nom.-acc. sing. n., huxta, nom.-acc. plur. n. of huxta-: well-spoken (word) iməm acc. sing. m. < ima-: this jasa < jasa- √gam: come!
 juua: 1. nom. plur. m. of juua-: alive. — 2. imperative 2nd sing. of juua-: to live juuō, nom. sing. m. of juua-: alive kaša, nom. sing. of kašā-: armpit manah- n.: thought, mind

LESSON 2

maniiuuu-, fem. maniiuuī-: belonging to/residing in the world of thought mašīia, nom. plur. of mašīia-mazdā- m.: omniscient māzdaiiasni-: of/belonging to the one who sacrifices to Ahura Mazdā (of the one who believes in Ahura Mazdā) mē: to/for/of me mošu: soon, quickly nāman- or nāman- n.: name nəmaχīia-: to revere, do homage nəmaχīiāmahi < nəmaχīia-: we revere, do homage nurəm: now ōim, acc. sing. m. of aēuuupaoiriō.fraθbaršta, nom. plur. m., n. of paoiriō.fraθbaršta-: first fashioned forth parəna, nom.-acc. plur. of parəna- n.: feather Pāuruuō, nom. sing. of Pāuruuapərəna-: full pouru, nom.-acc. sing. n. of pauru-: much pouru.sarəda, nom. sing. f. of pouru.sarəda-: of many kinds Rašnu-: Rashnu, divine judge who judges the soul's thoughts, words, and deeds on his scale ratu-: (divine) model, prototype saošiiant-: revitalizer, said of the successful sacrificer, especially the last one, son of Zarathustra spaēta, nom.-acc. plur. n. of spaēta-: white Tištriia-: Tishtriia, god of the seasonal rains; the Dog Star, Sirius upa: at, in (+ acc.)
 vahištō, nom. sing. m. of vahišta-, vahišta- superlative of vaŋhu-: best vahištō aŋhuš: the best existence, paradise Vaiiu-: name of the god of the space between heaven and earth (note that heaven is spherical and the earth situated in the middle of the sphere) vairiia-: well-deserved, commonly used of rewards Vərəθraγna-: name of the god of victory Vohu Manō, nom. sing. of vohu- manah- n.: Good Mind, the first of of the Life-giving Immortals xšaθra- n.: (royal) command Xšaθrəm Vairim: Well-deserved Command, the third of of the Life-giving Immortals yazata-: deserving of sacrifice, deity Zaratuštra-: name of the mythical first poet-sacrificer; protagonist of the Avesta zaratuštri-: Zarathustrian, in the tradition of Zarathustra, spoken by Zarathustra

LESSON 3

PHONOLOGY

Consonants

We may posit the following (original) consonant phonemes for Young Avestan. The principal allophones are in parenthesis.

	Stops		Fricatives		Continuant		Nasals	Sibilants
	- voice	+ voice	- voice	+ voice	- voice	+ voice		- voice	+ voice
Bilabials:	p	b		(β)		ɥ <uu>	m (m, m̥)
Labio-dentals:			f	v (?)
Dentals:			θ	(ð)				s	z
Alveo-dentals:	t	d					n (n̥)
Alveolar:					(hr ?)	r (?)		ʃ (?)
Alveo-palatals:	č	ǰ						š	ž
Palatals:				y		ǰ <ii>	(ń)	ṣ̌	(ẓ̌)
Velars:	k	g	x	(ɣ)			ŋ
Palato-velars:			(x̣)				(ŋ̣)
Pharyngeal:						h

β δ γ: Post-vocalic and, in some instances, post-consonantic /b d g/ were realized as β δ γ (e.g., baγa- “lord, god,” duγda “daughter”), except d in the vicinity of r, which was regularly realized as d (huraoda- “well-shaped” but vadar- “(striking) weapon”).

ǰ: This letter is rarely used in Young Avestan, which has ǰh where Old Avestan has ǰ. It is always followed by ii, e.g., daǰiiunqm “of the lands,” nəmaǰiiāmahi “we revere.”

r, hr: /r/ had an unvoiced allophone before p and k written hr, apparently limited to syllables which bore the stress. The original **hrt* became š (see next). As the stress shifted, or if the consonant changed, the original r reappears: kəhrpəm ~ hukərapta-, aša- ~ Astuuat.ərəta-, mahrka- ~ amərxəti-.

ŋ: /m/ has a special variant—written m̥—after h, which was perhaps a preaspirated rather than voiceless m (cf. Eng. hum) In the manuscripts we sometimes find only 𐬨 <m̥> for this sound, sometimes 𐬨𐬀 <hm̥>. In many manuscripts the letter 𐬨 <m̥> is not used, however, and hm is simply written 𐬨𐬀 <hm>.

ṇ́: Before ǰ and possibly also i, n was palatalized to ṇ́, but the letters 𐬨 and 𐬨̣ <ṇ́> are not consistently used in the manuscripts. When followed by ii some scribes write ṇ́ii or nii, others inii, e.g., maṇ́iiuš, maniiuš, or mainiiuš. When followed by i (internally) we find spellings such as aṇim, anim, or—commonly—ainim. <ṇ́> is never (?) used alone to express palatal ṇ́ when not followed by i or ii. Examples: aṇiiō 𐬨̣𐬀𐬀𐬀, aniiō 𐬨𐬀𐬀𐬀, or ainiiō 𐬨̣𐬀𐬀𐬀 other, maṇ́iiuš 𐬨̣𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀, maniiuš 𐬨𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀 or mainiiuš 𐬨𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀 “spirit”; nitəmō 𐬨̣𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀 or ṇ́itəmō 𐬨̣𐬀𐬀𐬀𐬀 “lowest.” In this manual the forms ania-, maniiu-, nitəma-, etc., will be used, but ainim (see Lesson 4).

ŋ: The velar nasal /ŋ/ has two origins:

1. It is for ŋg (nk) in paŋtaŋ<sup>v</sup>ha- “a fifth” < **paŋgta-*. In some manuscripts it is used instead of ng between vowels in words such as aŋušta- = aŋgušta- “finger.”

2. In most instances ŋh is the realization of /h/ between vowels, e.g., manaŋhō, gen. sing. of manah-. This change did not usually take place when the h was followed by i or—less regularly—u: e.g., ahi “you are,” vohu “good” neut. sing./plur., but vaŋhuš masc. sing.

When followed by r, the standard editions write only ŋ, e.g., aŋra-, hazaŋra- “a thousand,” Fraŋrasiian-, name of a villain, caŋraŋhāk- “grazing, following the pastures,” etc. In some manuscripts, however, the spellings aŋhra-, hazaŋhra- are also common.

ŋ̄ is only used between vowels and is always followed by h (ŋ̄h). The actual spelling alternates between ŋ̄h, iŋ̄h, and iŋh, e.g., aŋ̄he, aiŋ̄he or aiŋhe, or even aŋhe. In this introduction only the spelling ŋ̄h is used.

ŋ<sup>v</sup> is only used between vowels and always followed by h (ŋ<sup>v</sup>h). It corresponds to x<sup>v</sup> in initial position. Instead of ŋ<sup>v</sup>h the scribes frequently wrote ŋuh or just ŋh, e.g., aŋ<sup>v</sup>he, aŋuhe, or aŋhe (thus aŋhe can be for aŋ̄he or aŋ<sup>v</sup>he!).

š, š̄, š̌: The three sibilants /š/ 𐬯, /š̄/ 𐬯̄, /š̌/ 𐬯̌ had merged into one sound [š̌] by the time of our earliest manuscripts, but must originally have been separate phonemes. /š/ must have been the regular alveolar sibilant, e.g. gaoša- 𐬀𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬌 “ear” (cf. OInd. ghoṣa- “sound”) and /š̄/ a palatal(ized) sibilant (< *č̌i, e.g., š̄auua- 𐬀𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬌𐬀 “to go,” cf. OInd. cyava-).

The distinctive features of /š̄/ (< *-rt with stress on the preceding vowel) are uncertain. In the table above it is suggested that it may have been an alveolar sibilant, but it must have had some additional feature, perhaps rhotacization (a sound found in some modern Iranian dialects), but it may have been a retroflex affricate or lateral and later a retroflex sibilant, e.g., maš̄iia- 𐬀𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬌𐬀𐬀𐬎𐬎𐬌 “man, mortal” (cf. OInd. martiya-). It may be noted that in the Sasanian (learned) pronunciation there was no distinction between this sound and the sound resulting from Avestan rt and rθ: they were both written hl and presumably pronounced hl, as well, e.g., mahlī, name of the first human, “Adam” < maš̄iia- and ahlaw “Orderly” < aš̄auua versus puhl “bridge, punishment” < pərəθu-.

In the extant manuscripts there is a tendency to write š̄ everywhere before ii, e.g., maš̄iia-, and the distribution of š and š̄ varies from scribe to scribe: some commonly use š as the normal (default) spelling, others š̄. When Geldner made his edition of the Avesta, he based himself primarily upon manuscripts where the default spelling was š̄, not š, which means that also in his critical apparatus, when a spelling is quoted from several manuscripts, š̄ means š̄ or š̌!

ṭ: The letter ṭ probably represented an unreleased (sometimes called “implosive”) dental stop and was an allophone of / t / found in final and pre-consonantal position, examples: janat “he killed,” ṭkaēša- “guidance,” ṭbaēšah- “harm.” Between vowel and consonant it alternates with ḍ: aṭka- ~ aḍka- “coat.”

MORPHOLOGY

General remarks

The following survey of morphological categories is not meant to be mastered completely right away, but be used as reference.

The Avestan systems of declensions and conjugations are still of the Indo-Iranian type, involving a variety of stems, genders, numbers, cases, etc. Because of the limited material the forms are not as well known as for Vedic, and the student should keep in mind that some declensions and conjugations are known from only a few forms, sometimes only a single form. In unfavorable instances the manuscript tradition may also be so poor that the correct forms cannot be determined.

Morphological (inflectional) categories

Groups of words that take the same kind of forms and endings are grouped into separate “inflectional categories.” There are two main subgroups: those words which have forms and endings indicating “time” (past, present, future) and those that do not. “Time-words” are called “verbs.”

The verbs are classified according to the way they function in a sentence. “Transitive” verbs are those that can take a direct object (he kills the dragon, I see you, etc.), while “intransitive” verbs are the others. Intransitive verbs include verbs of state (I live), verbs of motion (I walk), mental processes (I think), and others. Intransitive verbs can usually only take “inner” objects (I live a life, I walk a walk, I think a thought). When transitive verbs are used like intransitive ones they are called “passive” (I am killed, he is seen).

The second subgroup is in turn divided into several subgroups. One of these subgroups contains words that distinguish between different “cases,” that is, forms indicating the function of the word in the sentence (subject, direct object, indirect object, possessor, and other), and those that do not. Words that distinguish cases are nouns, adjectives, pronouns, and numerals. Nouns can be defined as not being adjectives, pronouns, or numerals.

Adjectives are distinguished from nouns by taking different forms depending on the gender of the noun they qualify.

Pronouns are distinguished by “deixis,” that is, references to place or time relative to the position of the speaker (I, you, he/she/it/that; here, there, yonder).

Numerals are a special kind of nouns, adjectives, or adverbs used for counting objects (cardinals); indicating position in a series (ordinals); denoting fractions (one-third), number of occurrences (once, twice); etc.

The last subgroup contain various types of words that do not change forms or take different endings depending on their function in the sentence. This subgroup contains “adverbs,” “prepositions” and “postpositions,” “conjunctions,” and various “particles.”

These categories will be described in greater detail later on. Following is a brief survey for reference. Students without a background in Classical languages, Sanskrit, or linguistics would probably benefit from reading a traditional textbook on theoretical linguistics. Modern linguistic theory and models of description are not very useful for learning Avestan, however.

NOUNS

General remarks

Nouns (substantives) can be “proper nouns,” e.g., Zarathuštra-, Vištāspa-, or “common nouns” (“appellatives”), e.g., mašīia- “man, human being,” puθra- “son,” gairi- “mountain,” manīiu- “spirit.”

The part of the noun (or adjective) that remains when the ending is removed is referred to as the “stem” and is marked by a hyphen, as in the examples just cited.

Declensions

Nouns and adjectives are classified as consonantic and vocalic stems, which constitute the vocalic and consonant “declensions,” or groups of nouns and adjectives characterized by the same or similar endings.

Consonant-declension nouns have a consonant before the ending, most commonly n, r, h, but also p, t, nt, d, etc.

Vowel-declension nouns have a vowel before the ending: a, ā, i, ī, u, ū. Depending on the vowel before the ending these nouns are classified as a-stems, ā-stems, i-stems, etc. This vowel is also referred to as the “stem vowel.”

Some stems behave partly as vowel-stems, partly as consonant-stems, e.g., the “diphthong” stems in aē-, ao- and the uu-stems.

The stem vowel a of the a-declension is often referred to as the “thematic vowel” and the a-declension as the “thematic declension,” as opposed to “athematic” declensions.

The same terminology is used for verbs.

Gender

Nouns, adjectives, and pronouns can be of three genders: masculine (masc., m.), feminine (fem., f.), or neuter (neut., n.).

The a-declension contains masculine and neuter nouns and adjectives.

The ā-declensions contains mostly feminine nouns and the feminine forms of a-declension adjectives.

There are a few masculine ā-stems, among them the very common noun mazdā-. Others are raθaēštā- “charioteer” and pañtā- “road, way.”

The i-declension contains masculine, feminine, and neuter nouns and adjectives. Nouns in ti- are usually feminine.

The aē-declension contains only masculine nouns, notably kauuaē- “kauui” and haxaē- “companion.”

The u- (and uu-)declension contains masculine and neuter nouns and adjectives.

The ao-declension contains a few masculine nouns (bāzao- “arm”) and adjectives (e.g., uγra.bāzao- “having a strong arm”) and a few feminine nouns, notably the common dañhao- “land” and nasao- “carrion, the demoness of carrion.”

The ī-declension has only feminine nouns and adjectives in Young Avestan and the ū-declension only feminine nouns. Exceptions are a few adjectival compounds with so-called root nouns as second member.

Number and case

There are three numbers: singular, dual, plural, and eight cases: nominative, vocative, accusative, genitive, dative, ablative, instrumental, locative.

The vocative is different from the nominative only in the singular and only in some declensions.

Feminine and neuter nouns have the same form for the nominative and accusative plural.

Neuter nouns always have the same form for the nominative, vocative, and accusative in the singular, dual, and plural.

In the plural, dative = ablative; in the dual, dative = ablative = instrumental.

Articles

There is no definite or indefinite article.

Nominative and vocative

We start by giving some nominative and vocative forms of nouns and adjectives. Endings:

	a -decl. m.	n.	ā -decl. m.	f.
Sing.
nom.	-ō, -as°	-əm	-ā, -ās°	-a
voc.	-a		-a	-e
Plur.
nom.-voc.	-a	-a	-ā, -ās°	-ā, -ās°

Notes:

The vocative singular of a-stems is the bare stem form.

The expression Aməša- Spənta- “Life-giving Immortal” often has the nom.-voc. plur. Aməšā Spənta in the manuscripts.

Paradigms of haoma- m. “haoma,” hañjamana- n. “assembly,” mazdā- m. (in Ahura- Mazdā-, which has no plural forms), pañtā- m. “road,” and daēnā- f. (see Vocabulary). Neuter nouns and inanimate nouns in general do not have vocative forms.

LESSON 3

	a -decl.		ā -decl.
	m.	n.	m.	f.
Sing.
nom.	haomō, haomas °	hanjamanəm	mazdā, mazdās °	daēna
voc.	haoma		mazda	daēne
Plur.
nom.-voc.	haoma	hanjamana	paṇtā	daēnā, daēnās °

The forms marked with a final ° are found before -ca “and” and -ciṭ “even”: haomasca “and the haoma,” daēnāsciṭ “even the daēnās.”

Nominative plurals in -ānhō

Sometimes masc. a-stems take the ending -ānhō (-ānhas°) in the nom. plural. This ending corresponds to OPers. -āha and Skt. -āsah. There is no difference in meaning from the regular form.

VERBS

General remarks

The Young Avestan verb, is—like other old Indo-European verbal systems—a multidimensional system containing the categories “tense,” “mood,” and “voice,” in addition to “number,” “person,” and “gender.”

The part of the verb that remains when the personal endings are removed, is referred to as the “stem” and is marked by a hyphen, e.g., šauua- “go,” hišta- “stand,” baṇdaiia- “bind.” The part of the stem that remains when the prefixes and suffixes that form the stem are removed, is called the “root,” e.g., √šau-, √stā-, √band- (see Lesson 11).

Conjugations

Like nouns, verb stems are classified as vocalic or consonantic, also referred to as “thematic” and “athematic” conjugations. Thematic verbs are verbs with stems ending in -a, while athematic verbs have stems ending in (original) consonants or semi-vowels (i, u). In practice, stems in long ā and diphthongs are athematic. Thematic verbs can also be described as “regular” or “weak,” while athematic ones are “irregular” or “strong.”

The endings are basically the same in the two classes, but in the athematic conjugation frequent changes take place as a result of the various historical developments of the consonant groups resulting from the combinations of final consonant of the stem plus the initial consonant of the ending.

Some forms of the verb function as adjectives (“participles”) or nouns (“infinitives”).

Tenses

The tenses are present: “he does, he is doing”—imperfect: “he did, he was doing”—aorist: “he did, he has done”—perfect: “he has (always) seen.”

In Young Avestan the imperfect tense is mostly expressed by the inherited present injunctive forms, more seldom the imperfect forms (= injunctive + augment). In this manual this form will be called the “imperfect-injunctive.”

The use of the aorist indicative (see below) is limited in Young Avestan, but some modal forms are relatively common.

The perfect is used in old Young Avestan in its old functions. Its modal forms also have important uses.

A “periphrastic” perfect formed by the perfect participle in -ta plus the verb “to be” (similar to German Ich bin gewesen and French je suis allé) is seen occasionally.

Moods

There are five moods: indicative: “he does, he is doing”—subjunctive: “(that) he (should) do”—imperative: “do!”—optative: “may he do, he should do, (I wish) he would do”—and (present, aorist) injunctive: “(do not) do!”

Voices, passive

There are two “voices”: active and middle: act. “he does (for others)”—mid. “he does for himself.”

The passive (“it is done, he is killed”) can be expressed by middle forms or by a special present stem in -iia-.

On terminology

Students without a background in Latin, Greek, or Sanskrit are likely to be confused by the many meanings of terms such as “injunctive,” “active,” and “middle.” It should be carefully observed that these terms sometimes refer to forms, sometimes to functions or meanings. Thus verbs with “middle” endings can have “active,” “passive,” or “middle” meaning. The normal function of the “injunctive” of the present stem is “imperfect,” while “imperfect” (augmented) forms are very rare in Avestan.

The imperative

As with the nouns, we shall start with the simplest forms of the verbs: those of the 2nd person singular and plural imperative active.

The following table shows the endings of the thematic verbs with the imperative active forms of jasa- “to come,” baṇdaiia- “to bind,” and dāiia- “to give, grant.”

	Endings:	Examples:
Sing. 2nd pers.	-a	jasa “come!”	baṇdaiia “bind!”	dāiia “give, grant!”
Plur. 2nd pers.	-ata	jasata	baṇdaiiata	dāiinata

Note that the imp. sing. of thematic stems ends in -a, which is, like the voc. sing. of a-stem nouns, the bare stem.

“To be”

The common verb “to be” has the following forms in the present indicative:

Present indicative		Examples:
Sing.
1	ahmi	azəm ahmi “I am”
2	ahi	tum ahi “you are”
3	asti	asti “(he/she/i)t is”
Plur.
1	mahi	vaēm mahi “we are”
2	stā	yuzəm stā “you (all) are”
3	hənti	hənti “(they) are”

Notes:

The 2 plur. stā is not found in Young Avestan, only Old Avestan.

The verb “be” is used with the dative to express possession: nōiṭ mē asti “I have no ...”

VOCABULARY 3

Note: nouns ending in -a- are masculine unless marked n. (neuter), and nouns ending in -ā- are feminine, with the few known exceptions.

- acišta-, superlative of aka-: most evil ađaoiia-: who cannot be deceived ahurađāta-: established (put in its proper place) by Ahura Mazdā aiβi.draoxđa-: who may be deceived, cheated aka-: bad, evil amərəxti- f.: absence of destruction aniiia-: other aṅgušta-, aṅušta-: finger apa.duuara-: to run away apa.nasiia-: to get lost Astuuat.ərəta-: he through whom Order will have bones (= be permanent), name of the last Revitalizer (saošiiant-), son of Zarathustra ašaiia-: in Orderly fashion, according to the ritual Order aṭka- = ađka-: coat āpō: waters; nom. plur. of āp- f.
 ātarə: O fire; voc. of ātarbaēšaza- n.(?): healing, medicine baēšaziia-: healing, medicinal baēšaziio.təma-: most healing; superlative of baēšaziia-baγa-: lord, god baṅdaiia- < √baṅd: to bind, tie bāzao- m.: arm
 -ca: and
 -ca ... -ca: both ... and darəγəm: for a long (time) dāiia-: to give, grant duγdar- f.: daughter dušxšaθra-: having/with bad, evil command gairi- m.: mountain gaoša-: ear haxaē- m.: companion, friend hazarā- n.: a thousand hišta- < √stā act: to stand (up), take up position; mid.: to stand hukərəpta-: well-shaped huraođa-: well-shaped huraθa-: having/with good chariots huuaspa-: having/with good horses huxšaθra-: having/with good power imaṭ: neut. nom.-acc. sing. < ima-ime: masc. nom.-acc. plur. < imakaṭ, nom. sing. n. of ka- how, what kauuaē- m.: kauui; mythical poet-priests, some of them were Zarathustra's competitors kərəp-/kəhrp- f.: form, shape kō, nom. sing. m. of ka-: who? what? how?
 mahrka-: destruction maniiuuī-, fem. of maniiuuua-mazišta-, superlative of mazānt-: great nitəma-: lowest nō: to/for/of us nōiṭ: not paitiiāra-: adversary paṅtaṅ<sup>h</sup>ha- n.: a fifth paoiriiō.dāta-: first established pərətu- m.: ford, bridge puθra-: son šauua-: to go uγra.bāzao-: strong-armed uruuarā-: plant usəhišta- < √stā: to get up, rise uzdāta-: past participle of uzdā-: set up vadar- n.: (striking) weapon vahma-: hymn vahmiia-: worthy of hymns vasō.xšaθra-: having/with command at will, in complete command vərəθrajaštəma-: most obstruction-smashing, most victorious vispe nom. plur. of vispa-: every, all Vištāspa-: proper name, last of the great kauuis who fought the powers of evil vō: to/for/of you (all) x<sup>v</sup>afsa- < √x<sup>v</sup>ap: to go to sleep yaska-: illness yasna- n.: sacrifice, ritual yesniia-: worthy of sacrifice yōi, plur. nom. masc. of ya-: who zaraθuštriš, nom. sing. of zaraθuštri-: son of Zarathustra, (who is) in the tradition of Zarathustra

LESSON 4

PHONOLOGY

Modifications of consonants and vowels

To students of other ancient languages, such as Latin, Greek, or Sanskrit, the most disturbing feature of Avestan is the seeming—and sometimes actual—irregularity of the shape of the language. Thus, knowing how to produce the grammatical form of one word does not guarantee the ability to produce the same grammatical form of another word, even if the two words belong to the same grammatical category.

For instance, the accusative and genitive singular forms of haoma- are haoməm and haomahe, but of mašīia- the same forms are mašim and mašīiehe. Similarly, the 3rd sing. present indicative of bara- “to carry” is baraiti “he carries,” but of yuidīia- “to fight” it is yuidīieiti, compare the OInd. forms:

Avestan	Old Indic	Avestan	Old Indic
haomō	somo	mašīiō	martiyo
haoməm	somam	mašim	martiyam
hamahe	somasya	mašīiehe	martiyasya
baraiti	bharati	yuidīieiti	yudhyati

Not only endings vary in shape, even the stem of the word sometimes changes, thus “I am” is ahmi, but “he is” is asti, and “they are” is hanti, and “bad” is aka-, while “worst” is acišta-.

Not all of these changes can be predicted from within Avestan. Some require knowledge of the history of the language to understand. It cannot be recommended strongly enough that the students learn whatever rules there are and note in what kind of words and stems they occur. “Guessing” forms in Avestan is not a good idea.

1. Palatalization of a (i-umlaut)

This section describes the palatalization of a when not followed by a nasal (see Lessons 5, 7):

a > e when preceded by y or ii and followed by i or e or when in final position after h, n, r, or s. This rule affects numerous nominal and verbal forms.

In the table below palatalization is indicated by a raised -i. Frequently the original -iia has been reintroduced.

Summary of changes (C = consonant):

*yaCi > yeC<sup>i</sup>i	*yadi > yei<sup>ḍi</sup>
	*yazi > yezi
*yaCe > yeC<sup>i</sup>e	*ājase > āiiese
	*frā-ḷaze > frāiieze
-C<sup>i</sup>a > -C<sup>i</sup>e	*ari<sup>ḷ</sup>a > aire (not † eire !)
	*-ah<sup>ḷ</sup>a > -ahe

Notes:

On the “intrusive” i in yeiḍi and aire, see below.

yaz- has yaze, not **yeze*

2. Labialization of a (u-umlaut)

A short a followed by r or h is labialized—or “rounded”—into o before an u (not uu) in the following syllable, e.g., pouru- < **paru*, vohu- < **vahu*, pouru.sarəḍa- “of many species,” vohu.friiāna- “Vohu.friiāna” (a kind of fire), vohuuərəz- “who performs good (acts)” (< vohu + vərəz-).

This change also takes place when the u is not an original u, e.g., pourum < **pa<sup>h</sup>ruuam* “prior, former.”
In -aṅhu- the a is never labialized.

Note: On the “intrusive” u in pouru, see below.

3. Palatalization and labialization of consonants: i- and *u-*epenthesis

The most common sound alternations in Avestan are those referred to as palatalization or *i-*epenthesis and labialization or *u-*epenthesis.

“Palatalization” here means lifting the flat tongue toward the palate and touching it while pronouncing the consonant (as in Russian). (“Palatalized” is different from “palatal,” which refers to the palate as point of articulation, with the tip of the tongue or flat tongue.)

“Labialization” means rounding the lips while pronouncing the consonant.

It cannot now be determined when exactly these sounds arose in Avestan. It can have been in the proto-Avestan, the Avestan, or even in the post-Avestan period—at some stage of the later oral transmission of the text.

4. Palatalization of consonants

Palatalization of consonants occurred when i or i̥ palatalized preceding consonants or consonant groups. In the Avestan orthography the palatalization is explicitly noted in two ways:

1. by special consonant signs: ń, ħ, ǰ (on which see Lesson 3);
2. by writing an i before the palatalized consonant.

It cannot now be ascertained whether consonants other than ń, ħ, ǰ were actually palatalized (as in Russian) or—if they were—for how long they remained so during the transmission of the texts. It is reasonable to assume that at some stage of the transmission the originally palatalized consonants lost their palatalization, leaving behind only the epenthetic i (which then virtually formed a diphthong with the preceding vowel).

Not all consonants show palatalization by epenthesis. Thus, the palatal consonants c and j and the sibilants (s, z, š, ž), as well as m and h, never do. Other consonants, however, regularly do, e.g., aipi (< **api*), aīβi (< **abi*), aēiti (< **aēti*), aēibiš (< **aēbiš*), āhūiri (< **āhūri*).

Occasional exceptions may be attributed to late scribal practice, e.g., sure, not suire.

Note also that according to the standard editions we have, for instance, aēibiiō but ābiiō (not āibiiō) and -aiti but -atica, -rāiti but -ratica, etc.

Consonant groups are rarely palatalized, the only important exception being nt, e.g., astuuaiṅti “in (the world) with bones.” The word māzdaiiasni- sometimes shows palatalization: māzdaiiesniš, māzdaiiesnim, beside māzdaiiasniš, māzdaiiasnim.

Palatalization is also seen in the group r + consonant: airime “in peace” (< **armie*).

When the vowel preceding the epenthetic i and u is ā (āi and āu) it cannot be determined from the orthography alone whether we have an original long diphthong = āi, OInd. ai, or ā + i.

5. Labialization of consonants

Labialization of consonants occurred when a u labialized a preceding h or a u or u labialized a preceding r.

A labialized h became x<sup>v</sup> initially, but ṅ<sup>v</sup>h between vowels. For both these sounds special consonant signs were invented.

Labialized r is expressed by writing a u before the r: ur.

When the vowel preceding the epenthetic u is ā (āur) it cannot be determined from the orthography alone whether we have an original long diphthong = āu, OInd., or ā + u.

6. Combined palatalization and labialization

Palatalization and labialization can be combined, as in **paruuīia- > paoirīia-* “first” and **paruuī- > paoirī-* (fem. of pouru- “much”).

The velar nasals

The palatalized and labialized velar nasals ḥj and ḥjʷ appear only before h. If ḥh is analyzed as a realization of /h/, then these too should probably be analyzed as palatalized and labialized realizations of /h/.

For ḥj < hḥ, cf. vaḥhō “better” < **vah-ḥah-*, and daḥhu- “land” < **dah-ḥu-*, cf. the genitive plural daḥiiunqm.

The group ḥh seems to be the rule when followed by final -e (< \-ai*) in the genitive singular of a-stems, the dative singular of h-stems (manaḥhe), and the 2nd singular middle (pərəsāḥhe). Of these only the dative form is regularly spelled with ḥj (or ḥjʷ) in the manuscripts. In the genitive singular and 2nd singular middle the endings are usually -ahe. In the 2nd singular middle -ḥhe seems to be limited to the position after long ā (ā), there being only one example of an ending -aḥhe with short a. In the genitive singular, -aḥhe is common in the pronoun “his, its” beside ahe. Note also vahehī- < **vah-ḥah-ī-*, feminine of vaḥhah-.

Similarly ḥjʷh is from **hḥjʷ*, cf. aḥjʷhe < **ahḥjʷ-e*, dative sing. of ahū-laḥhu- “(state of) existence,” and the 2nd middle imperative ending -ḥjʷha- < \-hḥjʷa*, which has the allomorph -suua after dental (dasuua “take!” < **dad-sua*). In word formation ḥjʷh alternates with xʷ: xʷara- “to eat” ~ fraḥjʷhara- “to eat, consume.”

The velar fricatives

In Young Avestan ḥ appears only before ii in forms of daḥhu- (daḥiiuma-, daḥiium, daḥiiunqm, dual daḥiiu ~ daḥhu) and in the ethnic ḥiiiona- “Chionite”(?). It cannot be an allophone of x, as it does not appear in paradigms and word formation for xḥ, and its paradigmatic relationship to ḥh strongly suggests it should be analyzed as an irregular realization of hḥ: daḥiiū may have been influenced by Old Avestan, and ḥiiiona- may be the local pronunciation of the ethnic.

The case of xʷ is similar. It is in complementary distribution with ḥjʷh: initial ~ intervocalic, but the initial xʷ has regularly been restored after “privative” a (xʷarəta- ~ axʷarəta- “eaten, uneaten”). There are only two examples of intervocalic xʷ in Young Avestan: kaxʷarəda- “sorcerer” (cf. Skt. kākhorda), and the country name Haraxʷaitī-, which may preserve the local pronunciation.

Old **kū* also became xʷ, as in the act. perf. part. vaoxʷah- “having (ever) spoken.”

Consonant changes. Sandhi

The phenomenon of sandhi refers to the modification of consonants or vowels caused by preceding or following sounds. There are two kinds of sandhi: internal and external.

Internal sandhi refers to the changes that occur in the final consonant of the stem of a word before an ending or in the initial consonant of the ending, e.g., **drug + ś > druxś* “the Lie,” bad + ta > basta “bound,” **dad-te > daz-de* “is made, given,” as well as in the initial consonants of the second members of compounds, e.g., raθaēštā- “charioteer” < raθaē + stā-.

External (or final) sandhi means that the final consonant of a word is modified because of the initial of the following word.

External sandhi is a fundamental feature of Old Indic but occurs only sporadically in Avestan and almost exclusively in connection with the enclitic particles -ca “and” and -cit, a generalizing particle “even, -soever,” occasionally before enclitic pronouns—rarely nouns—beginning with t-, e.g., haomō + -ca > haomasca “and Haoma,” kō > -cit > kascit “whoever, every,” kasā θβqm “who (pressed) you (O Haoma),” xʼaxiiā tanuuō > xʼaxiiāsā tanuuō “of (his) own body/self,” anākāsā tāiiuś “(if) not in full view, (he is) a thief” (Her.6)

In the paradigms sandhi forms are marked with a raised circle (°), e.g., kas° or kas° for kō.

[In Sanskrit also the initial of a word can be modified because of the final of the preceding word, e.g., tam śakram > tañ śakram > tañ chakram.]

NOUNS

Masc. īia- and fem. *īiā-*stems

When the ending -īia is preceded by consonant, symbolically “Cīia#,” the group -īia ought to become -e according to the rule just given, at least when the consonant allows palatalization. Most often, however, the normal a- and *ā-*stem forms have been reintroduced. The masc. *īia-*stems and fem. *īiā-*stems have the following modified forms (paradigms: airīia- “Aryan,” mairīia- “villain,” kaniīā- “young woman,” mairīiā- “roguish woman”).

Examples:

	īia- decl.		īiā- decl.
Sing.
nom.	maṣīiō	airīiō, airīias°	kaine, maire
voc.	maṣīia	*aire, maire	*maire
Plur.
nom.-voc.	maṣīia, maṣīiāṅhō	aire	kaniīā, kaniīās°

Notes:

The vocative of nouns such as mairīia- should be **maire*, with -īia > -e, but no examples are found in the texts (although some are used here in the exercises).

The sandhi form of the plur. nom. masc. is—both in *īia-*stems and other *a-*stems—sometimes -ā°, e.g., maṣīiāca “and men” (cf. maṣīiāka- “people,” staorāca “and big animals”).

I have found no examples of forms in *-e < *-īia* of neut. *īia-*stems, such as **haiθe* “true”  $< *haiθīia$ . A form such as vāstriia “pastures” could probably not undergo palatalization.

Masc. *ūua-*stems

The final ending -ūua of various origins occasionally becomes -uuō. There seems to be one example of this change in a masc. *ūua-*stem: Huuōuuō “the Huuōuuas.”

i- and *ī-*stems

The endings of the nom. and voc. sing. and plur. forms of the i- and *ī-*declensions are:

	i- decl.		ī- decl.
	m. f.	n.	f.
Sing.
nom.	-iś	-i	-ī, -īś
voc.	-e		-ī
Plur.
nom.-voc.	-aiiō, -aiias°	-i	-īś

Notes:

Aṣī- has the irregular voc. Aṣī (e.g., Aṣī srīre “O beautiful Aṣī!”; perhaps in analogy with Arəduuī Sūre).

In Arəduuī the ending is usually long in the manuscripts.

LESSON 4

Paradigms (gairi- m., frauuaši- f., āhuiri- n. “belonging to Ahura Mazda, Ahurian,” vaŋ<sup>h</sup>hi- f. “good,” baβrī- “(female) beaver” (note how the palatalization and labialization rules work!):

	i -decl.			ī -decl.
	m.	f.	n.	f.
Sing.
nom.	gairiš	frauuašiš	āhuiri	vaŋ<sup>h</sup>hi, baβriš
voc.	* gāire	* frauuaše		vaŋ<sup>h</sup>hi
Plur.
nom.-voc.	garaiiō, garaiias<sup>o</sup>	frauuašaiiō, frauuašaiias<sup>o</sup>	āhuiri	vaŋ<sup>h</sup>hiš

Note the irregular voc. zāire from zairi- “tawny,” common epithet of the haoma-.

r*-stems. ātar- “fire” and agent nouns

The extremely common word for “fire” is ātar-, a masc. (irregular) r-stem. It has no nom.-voc. plur. forms.

Masc. nouns in -tar- denoting people who do something, occasionally or professionally, e.g., pātar- “protector,” dātar- “maker, creator,” are called agent nouns.

The neuter noun vadar- “striking weapon” has only the nom.-acc. sing.

These words are declined as follows:

Sing.
nom.	dāta	pāta	ātarš	vadarə
voc.	dātarə	-	ātarə
Plur.
nom.-voc.	dātārō	pātārō	ātarō

Note: the plur. of raθaēštā- is usually raθaēštārō after the tar-declension.

VERBS

Athematic verbs

Athematic verbs do not have an -a- before the ending, as in jas-a-ta. Instead the endings are added directly to the final consonant or vowel of the stem.

Examples of imperative active forms of athematic verbs (daδā-/daδ- “to give, place,” naēd-/nid- “to blame, scorn” stao-/stu- “to praise”):

Sing.	2	-di, -di	stuidi “praise!”	dazdi “give!”
Plur.	2	-ta	staota	dasta	nista “blame!”

Notes:

The athematic ending of the 2 singular is -di after consonant, but -di after vowel, cf. also jaidi “strike, smash!” < jan-lja-.

The forms dazdi, dasta, and nista are from **dad-di*, **dad-ta*, and **nid-ta* and provide examples of internal sandhi.

Some verbs show ablaut (see Lesson 10) in the imperative, e.g., stuidi, plur. staota from stao-/stu- “to praise,” probably also mrao-/mru- “to say.” Note that these verbs have a “short” form before -di and a “long” form before -ta. Few forms are attested.

4. Translate into Avestan:

1. O good fravashis, dwell here!
2. Rise, O people, and praise Order!
3. We, O Mazdayasnians, are Aryans.
4. Let the Huuōuuas, the brave charioteers, go about here!
5. O Miθra, come down hither to us for help!
6. This young woman is both beautiful and well-shaped.
7. Let this strong fravashi dwell here!
8. Let not this daēuua be here!
9. Let the villain perish! O villain, run away!
10. May Ahura Mazdā and the fire appear to us!

VOCABULARY 4

aē-/i- < √i: to go	kərənao-/kərənu- < √kar: to do aiβiθura-: unshakable	mairiia-: villain, rogue aii- < ai-	mairiia-: villainess
airime: in peace	mašiiāka- (usually plural): people aora: here, hither, on/to this side	mā, + imperative (injunctive, optative): let not āhuiri-: belonging to Ahura Mazdā, Ahurian	mitaiia- < √maēt/mit: to stay, dwell āi- < ā + √aē/i: to come	miθnā-/miθn-: to stay, dwell kasciṭ: each and every one	vī.naiiia- < √nas: to (go away and) get lost

LESSON 4

vohu.friiāna-: Vohu.friiāna; name of a fire	yaṭ: that, when, if (etc.)
vohuuəz-: who performs good (acts)	yaza- < √yaz, mid.: to sacrifice (to) (+ acc. of thing or god) vouru.gaoiiaoti-: having/with wide grazing grounds (refers either to the vast heavenly spaces that Miθra “grazes” or to the pastures he will give to his worshippers as rewards)	yeiði: if, when (conjunction) xšnuta-, past part. of xšnāuuaiia- < √xšnao: satisfied	yezi: if (conjunction) yuidiia-: to fight zarənaēna- (zaranaēna-), f. zarənaēnī-: of gold zāire, voc. sing. of zairi-: golden, tawny; standing epithet of Haoma

LESSON 5

THE SCRIPT AND THE TEXT

Punctuation

In the manuscripts every word is separated by a point (period). The point is also regularly used to separate members of compounds (see Lesson 6), as well as to mark off preverbs and prefixes (not consistently), enclitic pronouns, sometimes even endings. The enclitic particles -ca and -ciť, however, are not separated from the words they are attached to.

It has become tradition to transcribe this point by a period whenever it does not simply mark the end of a word. It is also sometimes used with enclitic pronouns (yā.mē, etc.). This is wrong, however, as the long ē of the enclitic pronouns shows they were considered by the scribes as separate words. If they were genuinely enclitic, they would—by the rules (see below)—have final -e, not -ē, etc.

PHONOLOGY

Sound system. The ə

The phonemic status of Avestan ə is problematic. It is found mainly in the following phonetic contexts:

1. as the regular allophone of a before nasals and before uu followed by i or ī. Examples: hənti “they are” (but zauuaiti “they curse”); maniūuuī-, feminine of maniiauuā- “belonging to the world of thought,” səuuīšta- “most rich in life-giving strength” (< sauu-), rəuuī- f. “fast,” see below;
2. as the common anaptyctic vowel, see below.

Final syllables

Not all vowels, diphthongs, or consonants are found in final position.

Final vowels in monosyllables are always written long (except short -e in some late manuscripts), no matter their origins, e.g., mē “(to, for) me,” zī “for, namely,” nō “(to, for) us.”

The only diphthong found in final position is ōi, and even this is rare, e.g., yōi “who (plur.)”

In polysyllabic words ā, ī, ū, ē and diphthongs are not used at the end of words in genuine Young Avestan, only in imitation of Old Avestan.

Conspectus:

Finals:	Monosyllables:	Polysyllables:
Short		a, i, u, e, ə
Long	ā, ī, ū, ō, ā, q, ē, ōi, āi, āu	ā, ō, q, ē

Among the exceptions are: Arəduuī Sura (possibly influenced by Pahl. Ardwīsūr).

The diphthongs aē and ao become -(ii)e and -uuō in final position. The diphthongs themselves reappear before -ca “and” and -ciť “even”: -aēca and -aoca, e.g., tē “they,” taēcīť “even they.”

Note that vocative forms never take the enclitics -ca and -ciť, and so the original diphthongs do not (usually) reappear in vocative forms.<sup>3</sup>

Few consonants are found as finals: the two nasals m and n, the dental t and the sibilants s (rare), š (common), e.g., barəm “I carried,” barən “they carried,” barať “he carried,” hauruuatās “wholeness,” maniiuš “spirit(s),” gairiš “mountain(s).”

The consonant s takes ə as supporting vowel when final in sandhi (see Lesson 4), e.g., kasə tē “who for you?”

Vowels in monosyllables ending in consonants basically follow the same rules (or lack of rules) as vowels in other final syllables. In this introduction, short i will be used in words such as im “this (f.)” (not īm), dim, diš.

Modifications of vowels: a + nasal

Among all the vowels, the vowel a is the most prone to change. Its main variants are ə before uu/uuī and nasals (n and m) and e when palatalized.

The variant ə is in turn very sensitive to its surroundings and regularly becomes i when preceded by palatal consonants (ī, c, and j) and u when preceded by uu.

The combinations -(i)īim, -(u)uum and -(i)īin, -(u)uun are then finally simplified to -im, -um and -in, -un. These finals in turn combine with a preceding -a- to form diphthongs: -aēm, -aom, etc.

Note: Sometimes the intermediate stage persists beside the final one, e.g., -aiiən ~ -aēn.

The sound changes listed in the table below can all be derived from these rules.

Mastery of these rules and sound changes is crucial to the students’ ability to analyze Avestan, as they pervade the entire language.

Following are some common examples of sound changes needed to understand the paradigms in this lesson. The student should learn them by heart. A complete table is given in lesson 7.

*-am	>	-əm		*-an	>	-ən
*-īiam	>	-īiəm	>	-im
*-aiiam	>	*-aiiəm	>	-aēm
*-auuam	>	*-auuəm	>	-aom
				*-īian	>	-īiən
				*-aiian	>	-aiiən
				*-auuan	>	-auuən
					>	-aon

The voiced fricatives: β, δ, γ

The voiced fricatives are all subject to contextual, possibly also dialectal, changes and variations.

Intervocalic δ alternates with θ in forms of vaēδ- “to know” and the present stem daδā- of the verb dā- “to give, place, create,” e.g., viθuš “knowing,” daθaŋ “gave.”

Intervocalic β further tends to become uu, which in turn is subject to change, cf. aiβi “to” > auui > aoi, viiāuuaiti- “shining far and wide” < **vi-ā-bā-* < √bā “to shine.” The combination **b<sub>i</sub>* became β<sub>i</sub>, written βii, which further became μ<sub>i</sub>, which combined with preceding a > aoii, cf. **adaβiia-* “undeceivable”: nom. aδaoiiō, but acc. aδauuim; **daiβi-* f. “deceptive” > **daiuuī-* (written daēuuī-, daēiuuī-).

NOUNS

u- and *ū-*stems

The endings of the nom. and voc. sing. and plur. forms of the u- and *ū-*declensions and the irregular noun pasu- “small cattle (sheep and goats)” are:

	u -decl.		pasu-	ū -decl.
	m.	n.	m.	f.
Sing.
nom.	-uš	-u	-uš	-uš
voc.	-uuō		-	-

LESSON 5

Plur.	nom.-voc.	-auuō, -auuas°	-u	-uuō, -uuas°	-uuō, -uuas°
-------	-----------	----------------	----	--------------	--------------

Paradigms (ratu- m. “(divine) model,” pouru- “much, many,” tanū- f. “body,” pasu- m. “sheep”; note how the labialization rules work!):

	u-decl. m.		n.	pasu- m.	ū -declension f.
Sing.
nom.	ratuš	pouruš	pouru	pasuš	tanuš
voc.	ratauuō	-		-	-
Plur.
nom.-voc.	ratauuō, ratauuas°	parauuō, parauuas°	pouru	pasuuō pasuuas°	tanuuō tanuuas°

Notes:

In the manuscripts we often find pasuuō “normalized” to pasauuō.

For the feminine u-stems, see ao-stems in Lesson 8.

The vocative endings of the i-stems (and aē-stems): -e (< **-ie*), and u-stems: -uuō, are for **-aē* and **-ao* in final position.

After ii the vocative ending is only -ō: maniō < maniiu- “spirit,” Vaiō < Vaiiu-.

About the endings

The a-, i-, and *u-*declensions originally (= in Indo-European) had the same ending in the nominative singular, namely -s, as in Greek θεός theós “god,” πίστις pístis “faith” and ἰχθύς ikhthús “fish,” Latin dominus, civis, sinus, but in the Indo-Iranian mother language s became h after a and ā but š after i or u according to the “ruki” rule, which states that s became š after r, u, k [Iran. x], i). The Indo-Iranian forms were therefore **-ah*, **-iš*, **-uš*.

In addition, in Avestan final **-h* was lost causing rounding of the preceding vowels: **-ah* > -ō, **-āh* > -ā.

ADJECTIVES

Feminine and neuter forms

Feminine forms of adjectives of the a-declension are usually declined according to the ā-declension, occasionally according to the ī-declension, e.g., sura- “rich in life-giving strength,” f. surā-; spənta- “life-giving,” f. spəntā-, but zarənaēna- “made of gold,” f. zarənaēni-, manīauua-, f. manīauuī-.

Note the fem. nom. sing. nairē < **nairiia* of nairiā- “manly, heroic.”

Feminine forms of other adjectives are declined according to the ī-declension, e.g.: vanhu- “good,” van̄hī- f.; pouru- “plentiful, many,” paoirī- f.; driyu- “poor,” driuuī- f. (note the phonetic changes).

Neuter adjectives are declined like neuter nouns, e.g., nom.-acc. sing. surəm, āhuiri “belonging to/related to Ahura (Mazdā),” vohu.

Adjectival compounds in -ī and -ū

There are a few adjectival compounds ending in root nouns in -ī and -ū, e.g., yauuaējī- “living forever” and yauuaēsū- “vitalized forever” (see Lesson 12: laryngeal stems). These stems are declined like ū-stems, but few forms are actually attested:

Sing.

PRONOUNS

Personal pronouns in the nominative

The personal pronouns have the following forms in the nominative.

	1st	2nd	3rd
Sing.
nom.	azəm “I”	tum “you, thou”	hō, has<sup>o</sup>; huuō “he”	hā “she”	taṭ “it”
Plur.
nom.	vaēm “we”	yužəm “you, ye”	tē “they”	tā “they”	tā “they”

Note: hasciṭ, but hō + ca > hāca in hāca iḍa astu “and he (Sraoša) shall be here” (Y.27.6, Vr.12.1).

VERBS

Imperfect-injunctive active I

Depending on their shape, the Avestan verbs are divided into groups of verbs with similar characteristics. There are two main groups: “thematic” verbs, in which the stem ends in a, and “athematic” verbs, in which the stem does not end in a. These two groups are further divided into subgroups called “present classes.” We have already seen examples of imperative forms of athematic verbs ending in consonants or vowels and thematic verbs with stems ending in -a-, -iia-, and -aiia-. These will be discussed in greater detail later.

To express past tense (past action, state, etc.) Young Avestan employs a form of the verb which here will be referred to as the “imperfect-injunctive.”

The endings of the imperfect-injunctive are called “secondary” (i.e., as opposed to the “primary” endings of the present indicative, see Lesson 8). As the secondary endings are less exposed to phonetic changes than the primary ones—although there are several—we shall discuss them first.

Note: Because many forms are not (well) attested in the Avesta, it is impossible to give complete paradigms. To make it easier on the students I have as far as possible used the same verb throughout the paradigms, although these particular forms may not be attested, and I have sometimes included forms that are strictly speaking only attested in Old Avestan.

In the athematic verbs, the endings vary according to the final of the stem.

Paradigm (athem.: mrao-/mru- “to say,” stao-/stu- “to praise,” daḍā-/daḍ- (daθ-) “to give, place”; them.: vaēna- “to see,” tauruuaiia- “to overcome”):

LESSON 6

PHONOLOGY

Form of the text.

The extant text of the Avesta is an edited text. On one or several occasions during the oral transmission of the text editors worked to standardize it. The extant text does therefore not reflect a genuine oral tradition.<sup>5</sup>

One feature of the edited text is the replacement of the ending -a with the ending -ō in the first members of compounds and fricatives with stops in initial position in the second member, cf., e.g., beside the expected form ahuraδāta-, the much more common type daēuuō.dāta-, baγō.baxta-, etc. Another is the restoration of word-final form for the expected sandhi form, e.g., in xšuuāš.gāiia- “six steps” instead of **xšuuāžgāiia-*, cf. dužgaṇti- “evil smell.”

Not all non-standard or “incorrect” forms are from the editors, however; many more are probably due to the reciters (transmitters) of the text and the scribes who wrote the manuscripts.

Anaptyxis

The Avestan a is in most positions an allophone of /a/ (see Lesson 5). In addition, it is frequently used as an anaptyctic vowel.

“Anaptyctic” vowels are unetymological vowels inserted between consonants to “ease” the pronunciation. By far the most common anaptyctic vowel in Young Avestan is a; occasionally a is used.

Anaptyxis (also called svarabhakti, a Sanskrit word meaning “sound-splitting”) is especially common, if not obligatory, after r in final position and before other consonants, as well as in the group nr. The exception is the group rš, although this, too, is sometimes written rāš in the manuscripts.

Examples: arāda- “side” (cf. Skt. ardha-); arəθa- “matter” (cf. Skt. artha-); kərəpəmca “and the form”; kərəta- “done” (cf. Skt. kṛta-); varəsa- “hair,” parəna- “feather” (cf. Skt. parṇa-); vadarə “weapon for striking” (cf. Skt. vadhāḥ); aipiduuṇnara- (for °dunra-) “*clouded” (cf. dunman- “cloud”)

Note also that the sequence ərə is (1) frequently reduced to rə after t: **ātərəm > ātrəm* (ātarəm), sometimes also after g; (2) replaced by ar (arə) before š: bərəzō but barš, ātrəm < **ātərəm*, but ātarš.

Vowel changes. Dissimilation of ij > əi > ai/aē.

In the following cases the vowel preceding an epenthetic i was another i, and the original i was dissimilated to form the diphthong əi (ii > iḷ > əi > ai): bərəzaiδiš < **bərəzi<sup>i</sup>δiš* < **bṛzi-diš* [cf. OAv. hušəiti- < huš<sup>i</sup>i<sup>i</sup>-].

A similar development is probably the origin of the apparent anaptyxis in the group ui (see above) > uii > uəi > uai or uoi (uuōii), and in the prefix baē<sup>o</sup> instead of bi<sup>o</sup> in baē.ərəzu- “two fingers wide” < **bai-ṛzu-* < **biḷ-ṛzu-*.

Consonant changes. Assimilation

When two different consonants come into contact, they may become “similar” to one another or completely identical. This phenomenon is referred to as (partial and complete) assimilation. Some common instances of assimilation in (proto-)Avestan are:

1. Unvoiced + voiced > voiced + voiced, e.g., s + d > zd: **mas-dā- > mazdā-*;
š + d > žd: duš-dā- > duždā-;
š + b > žb: niš-bərəta- > nižbərəta-;

<sup>5</sup> In this sense it can be compared to the padapāṭha of the Vedic texts. The main difference between the Iranian and Indian tradition is that the Indian one has preserved both the original text and its padapāṭha, whereas—exaggerating—one might say that in Iran the original has been lost, leaving only the padapāṭha.

š + z > žz: duš-zaotar- > dužzaotar-.

2. Labial stop + labial stop > single labial stop:

*p + b > *b > β: *ap-biiāh > aiβiiō.*

3. Dental stop + s > single s:

Consonant changes. Spirantization of stops

When p and t comes before a suffix or an ending beginning with ii, uu, r, n, or m they change to f and θ, e.g.: astuuaiti “bony,” but astuuaiθiiā, haṭ “being,” but haiθiia- “real,” āp- “water,” but **āfuuant-* (> āfənt-) “full of water,” xšapa “night,” but xšafnō. This change did not take place before ii or uu when the p or t was preceded by an original long vowel, diphthong, or another consonant (not counting əṛə), e.g., dāitiia- “lawful,” mašiiā- “mortal man” < **martiia-*, but mərəθiiu- “death.”

When a p, a k, or a g come before an ending beginning with original **s* they change to f and x, and the **s* becomes š, e.g., **āp-s > āfš* “water” and **vāk-s > vāxš* “word, voice,” **drug-s > druxš* “deception,” **nap(t)-su* (stem napāt-) > naṣṣu “among the grandchildren.” A final s or z is lost before the ending, which becomes -š: **spas-s > spaš* “spy,” **brz-s > barš* “high.”

NOUNS

Consonant declensions: stems

Stems ending in consonants take more “regular” endings than stems ending in vowels, but their declension is complicated by “ablaut.” Case forms that use the full or lengthened grade are commonly referred to as “strong” cases, while case forms that use the zero grade are referred to as “weak” cases.

The strong cases are the sing. nom., voc., acc., and loc.; the dual nom.-acc.; and the plur. nom. The other cases are weak cases.

In addition to the changes in vowel length, the final consonant of the stem also frequently changes. Pay particular attention to such changes in the paradigms below.

Consonant declensions: endings

Consonant stems can end in almost any consonant. In Indo-Iranian (and Indo-European) masc. and fem. consonant stems formed their nom. sing. (1) by lengthening the last vowel of the stem and dropping the final consonant, (2) by adding the ending -s (-š after f and x), or (3) by both lengthening the vowel and adding ending -s (-š).

As long final vowels were shortened in Avestan, type (1) forms its nominative by simply dropping the final consonant of the stem.

In types (2) and (3) the ending \-s/*-š* combined with the final consonant of the stem to produce various “irregular” form.

The nom.-voc. plural ending is -ō (-as<sup>o</sup>) for both masc. and fem. nouns. Not infrequently, however, the thematic ending -a is found in the manuscripts.<sup>6</sup> The nom.-voc. plural, like the nom. and acc. sing., typically requires the strong stem.

Neuter consonant stems take no endings in the nom.-acc. singular. The nom.-acc. plural is formed variously in the various declensions.

The nominative singular

The nom. sing. ending -š is found with masc. and fem. nouns and adjectives with stems ending in labials

(p), velars (k, g), or sibilants (s, z [historically < **tš*, dž]).

Consonant stems ending in velar stops (k and g), labial stops (p), and sibilants (s, z)

These stems take the nom. sing. ending -š.

The vocative = the nominative.

Paradigms (vāk-/vāc- m. “word, speech,” drug-/druj- f. “deception, the Lie,” āp- f. “water,” spas- m. “spy,” bərəz- “high”):

Sing.

Plur.

Nom.-voc.    vācō                      drujō                      āpō, apasca                      spasō                      bərəzō

Notes:

Thematic forms such as nom. plur. vāca are also found.

Note the shortening of the long ā in āpō ~ apasca “and the waters.”

r-stems. Relationship terms

Most words denoting family members are r-stems. Their declension differs slightly from that of the agent nouns (see Lesson 4) in -tar-. The word nar- “man” is declined like the family terms. Examples (nar- “man,” pitar- “father,” mātar- “mother,” duyda “daughter,” xʷaṇha “sister,” brāta “brother”):

Sing.

nom.            nā                      pita                      brāta                      māta                      duyda                      xʷaṇha
voc.            narə                      pitarə                      -                      -                      -                      -

WORD FORMATION

Compounds. 1

Compounds as well as their individual elements can be all kinds of words (nouns, adjectives, adverbs, and other compounds). Some common types of Avestan adjectival compounds are the following:

noun + noun: barəsmō.zasta- “with barsom in the hand” < barəsmān- + zasta-; adjective + noun: tiži.dāra- “with a sharp blade” < tiži<sup>o</sup> + dārā-;

noun + verbal noun or adjective: vərəθrajan- “obstruction-smashing” < vərəθra- “obstruction” + jan- “to smash,” mazdaiiasna- “Mazdā-sacrificer, Mazdayasnian” < Mazdā- “Ahura Mazdā” + yasna- “sacrifice,” paoiriiō.fradāta- “first brought forth,” ahuraδāta- and mazdaδāta- “established (created) by Ahura Mazdā”; adverb or prefix + noun/adjective: huraoda- “beautiful” < hu- + raoda- “growth, stature”; huaršta- “well done” < hu- + varšta-; aiβi.gāma- “year” < aiβi- prefix + gāman- “step, going,” θri.zafan- “with three mouths” < θri- + zafan- “mouth,” θri.kamarəda- < θri- + kamarəda- “head”; verb + noun: frādaṭ.gaēθa- “who furthers the world of living beings” < frāda- “to further” + gaēθā- “world of living beings.”

Note that adjectival compounds whose second member is an ā-stem, themselves become regular a/ā-stem adjectives, e.g., m. frādaṭ.gaēθa-, f. frādaṭ.gaēθā- (< gaēθā- f.).

The final vowel of the first member usually becomes ō, whether it as an a-, ā-, or an- stem (see the examples above).

Some adjectives have a special form when used as the first member of a compound, e.g., tiži<sup>o</sup> < tiγra- “sharp.”

Note that āp- takes the form afš- in compounds, which becomes aβž- before voiced consonant: afš.tacin- “with running water,” aβždāna- “containing water” (Y.42.2).

When a word with initial h- is used as second member of a compound, a prosthetic a is prefixed and h > ηh: ašō.ąghan- “winning aša” < **aša-(η)han-*; airime.ąghad- (= armaēšad-) “sitting in peace.”

PRONOUNS

Demonstrative, relative, and interrogative pronouns in the nominative

The pronouns and “pronominal” adjectives have several forms that differ from those of the nouns. In the nom. note the neut. sing. in -t (cf. Eng. that) and the masc. plur. in -e (cf. Eng. they).

	The demonstrative pronoun ima- “this”:			The demonstrative pronoun auua- “that”:

Note:

aēm < **aīam*, im (īm) < **iīam* (cf. OInd. ayam, iyam).

The pronoun huuō “he (you) there” (nom. sing. masc.) is only found in quotations from Old Avestan.

The relative pronoun ya- “who, which”: The interrogative pronoun ka-/ci- “who, what?”:

	The relative pronoun ya- “who, which”:			The interrogative pronoun ka-/ci- “who, what?”:
	masc.	fem.	neut.	masc.	fem.	neut.
Sing.
nom.	yō, yas<sup>o</sup>	yā	yaṭ	kō, kas<sup>o</sup>, ciš	kā	kaṭ, ciṭ
Plur.
nom.	yōi, yaē<sup>o</sup>	yā	yā	kaiia, caiiō	-	( kā? )

Notes:

The mss. frequently have (wrongly) yō for yōi.

The form kaiia “which?” is thematic (Y.19.18, N., FO.).

The form caiio is also used as neut. plur. (V.2.39, 8.12).

With negation the interrogative pronouns (especially those in c-) become indefinite pronouns: nōiṭ ciš “no one,” mā ciš “(let) no one.”

The forms kaṭ, ciṭ correspond historically to Latin quod, quid.

Pronominal adjectives

Pronominal adjectives include vispa- “all” aniia- “other,” nom. plur. masc. vispe and aniie. Note that vispa- has neut. vispəm, while aniia- has neut. aniiaṭ.

Pronominal adverbs

Note the following “correlative” pronominal adverbs (cf. Lesson 17). Note also that, although the forms are symmetric, not all the meanings are:

iθa "in this way"	aθa "thus"	auuaθa "in that way"	yaθa "as, like"	kaθa "how?"
iθra "here"	aθra "here, there"	auuaθra "there"	yaθra "where"	kuθra "where?"
iða "here"	aða "then"	auuaða "there"		kaða "when?"
	aṭ, āaṭ "then"		yaṭ "when"
				kuua "where?"

Notes:

The forms in a- are the "unmarked" ("neutral") ones, while those of i- and auua- point clearly to "here" and "there."

There is no YAv. **yaða*, but Old Avestan has yadā "when?"

VERBS

The middle

Avestan verbs can be "active," that is, take the active endings we have already seen, or "middle," that is, take the "middle" endings.

Verbs can have active and/or middle forms. Some verbs have only active forms, some only middle forms, and some both active and middle forms. Only in the third group can the middle forms have a special function, different from that of the active forms.

Intransitive verbs usually have only active or only middle forms, while transitive verbs can take both active and middle forms. If they do, then most often the distinction between the two forms is "active ~ passive"; more rarely the middle denotes that the action is being performed in the interest of the subject. Occasionally the middle forms of a verb have the same meaning as the active ones, especially in the case of verbs of motion.

Examples:

1. Middle verbs without active counterpart: maniia- "to think," yaza- "to sacrifice," etc.
2. Passive: aza- act. "leads, takes (away)" ~ mid. "is led, taken away," vaēna- act. "sees" ~ mid. "is seen," bara- act. "carries" ~ mid. "rides" (lit. is carried), etc.
3. Action performed in the interest of the subject: paca- act. "he cooks" ~ mid. "he cooks for himself," varəḍaiia- act. "increases (something else), enlarges" ~ mid. "increases (by oneself), becomes larger," etc.
4. Same meaning as active: fracara- act., mid. "go forth."
5. Differentiation of meaning: hišta- act. "to stand = take up a position," mid. "to stand = to be standing"; daḍā-/daḍ- act. "to establish, give," mid. "to take (on), receive."

The imperfect-injunctive middle

PHONOLOGY

Modifications of vowels: a + final nasal

Complete table of sound changes involving a plus final nasal. Note that the second column below corresponds—in the main—to the Old Avestan stage (forms attested by OAv. have no *):

*-am > -əm
*-an > -ən

With preceding ii:

*-iiam	>	-iiəm <sup>7</sup>	>	*-iim	>	-im
*-aiiam	>	-aiiəm	>	*-aiim	>	-aēm
*-āiiam	>	*-āiiəm	>	*-āiim	>	-āim
*-iian	>	-iiən	>	*-iin	>	-in
*-aiian	>	-aiiən	>	*-aiin	>	-aēn
*-āiian	>	-āiiən	>	*-āiin	>	-āin

With preceding c, j:

*-cam	>	*-cəm	>	-cim
*-jam	>	*-jəm	>	-jim
*-can	>	-cən	>	-cīn
*-jan	>	-jən	>	-jin

With preceding uu:

*-uum	>	*-uəm	>	*-uum	>	-um
*-auum	>	-auəm	>	*-auum	>	-aom (-āum)
*-āuum	>	*-āuəm	>	*-āuum	>	-āum
*-uuan	>	*-uən	>	*-uun	>	-un, -um
*-auuan	>	*-auən	>	*-auun	>	-aon, -aom (-āun, -āum)
*-āuuan	>	*-āuən	>	*-āuun	>	-āun, -āum

Notes:

In -uuan, in a few words, the -n is assimilated to the preceding -uu- and becomes -m.

The alternate forms of -aom and -aon with long -ā- (-āun, -āum) are frequently found in the manuscripts.

Note the following irregular acc. forms: Vaēm < **Vaiium*, raēm < **raēuum* “*brilliant,” ōiium, ōim, aoim < **aēuum* “one.”

Final original *-ṛh (< *-ns) affects a preceding -a- somewhat differently from final -m or -n.

*-aṛh	>	*-əṛh	>	*-ṝ	>	-ṝ, -ṝs°, -q, -qs°
*-iiṛh	>	*-iiəṛh	>	*-iiṝ	>	-iiq
*-aiiṛh	>	*-aiiəṛh	>	*-aiiṝ	>	-aiiq
*-uuṛh	>	*-uuəṛh	>	*-uuṝ	>	-ū
*-auuṛh	>	*-auuəṛh	>	*-auuṝ	>	-auū, -aū

Notes:

These endings are found in the plur. acc. of masc. a-stems and in the sing. gen. of some neut. n-stems.

The final form -ṝ is found after most consonants, e.g., yazatṝ. The final form -q, is regularly found after

-ii, -m-, -β-, and occasionally elsewhere, e.g., mašiiq, aēsmaq “pieces of fire wood,” garəβq “wombs.”

The long final -ū in such words appears to be the only regular exception to the rule that final vowels are short in polysyllables.

Students should make a special effort to learn, remember, and identify these forms! Most importantly, they should be trained to recognize the ambiguity of the endings -im and -um and not jump to the conclusion that they are from i- and u-stems.

NOUNS

The accusative

The accusative is not distinguished from the nominative in neuter nouns or in the plural of feminine ā- and ī-stems. The accusative of neuter nouns and adjectives is identical with the nominative.

Consonant stems with ablaut take the long grade in the sing. but the full or zero grade in the plur.

The endings of the accusative are:

	a -decl.		i -decl.		ā -decl.	ī -decl.
	m.	n.	m. f.	n.	m., f.	f.
Sing.
acc.	-ə m	-ə m	- im	- i	-ə m	- im
Plur.

	u -decl.		ū -decl.		cons.-decl.
	m. f.	n.	f.		m., f.
Sing.
acc.	- um	- u	- um		-ə m
Plur.
acc.	- uš	- u	- uuō		-ō, - as <sup>o</sup>

Note again that the manuscripts are not consistent in writing short or long -im/-um or -īm/-ūm. In the grammatical sections of this manual, these endings will always be normalized with short vowels.

The acc. plur. ending is from \-aṅh* (< Indo-Iran. \-ans*, cf. OInd. -āṃ), which developed differently in different contexts to produce the variants listed above.

Notes:

The long ā in āpəm is shortened in apəmca as in the nom. plur. apasca. The nom. plur. āpō is sometimes found in the manuscripts instead of the acc. apō.

kərap- f. “body” has the acc. sing. kəhrpəm.

r-stems

acc.	-		strāš	narqš, narāš	fədrō	mātərqš

Notes:

In the acc. plur. the original ending \-rnš* must first have become \-ərqš* (with a nasalized vocalic r [cf. OInd. nṛ̃ṃ], which was then realized either as -ərqš or -ərāš, with the usual substitution of q or ā for **ṣ*. The ending -ərāš in time came to be felt as incorrect and the common diphthong əu was introduced to produce the form -ərəuš (strəuš, narəuš) frequently found in the manuscripts.

ātar- was probably originally a neuter r-stem, with nom.-acc. sing. **ātṛ*. When it became a masc. noun, the endings were simply added onto this form: **ātṛ-š, *ātṛ-am*, which produced the nom. ātarš and acc. ātrəm.

m-stems

The m-stems zam- f. “earth” and ziām- m. “winter” are irregular:

Sing.
nom.	zā	ziā
acc.	zqm	ziqm
Plur.
nom.-acc.	zəmō	zimō

Note: From now on regular sandhi forms will not always be included in the paradigms.

Neuter nouns

The most common neuter consonant stems are the an-, ar-, and *ah-*stems, which form the nom.-acc. sing. in -a, -arə, and -ō (-as°), respectively, and the plur. by lengthening the final syllable of the stem: -an, -ārə, -ā (-ās°). Neuter *in-*stems have nom.-acc. sing. in -i. See Lesson 8.

Other neuter consonant stems appear to take the ending -i, e.g., ast- “bone,” nom.-acc. plur. asti.

h-stems. I

The h-stems includes a relatively large number of common neuter nouns, but few masculine nouns and adjectives. Most of the masculine forms are in compounds with neuter h-stems. In addition, comparatives in -iiah- and active perfect participles in -uuah belong to the h-stems (see later). The endings of these h-stems are:

LESSON 7

	m.	n.
Sing.
nom.	-ā	-ō
voc.	-ō
acc.	-aṇhəm
Plur.
nom.-acc.	-aṇhō	-ā

Notes:

The vocative cannot receive enclitic -ca, so there are no sandhi forms of the vocative. Remember that regular sandhi forms are no longer usually included.

Paradigms (naiṛe.manah- “valorous,” manah- n. “mind”):

Sing.
nom.	naiṛe.manā	manō
voc.	naiṛe.manō
acc.	naiṛe.manahəm	manō
Plur.
nom.-acc.	naiṛe.manahō	manā

Notes:

The proto-Iranian endings were \-āh > -ā (-ās°)*, \-ah > -ō (-as°)*, and \-aham > -aṇhəm*. Irregular forms include nom. Haosrauuua from Haosrauuah-, name of a legendary hero. Remember that neuter nouns have no vocative.

PRONOUNS

The accusative

The personal pronouns have some “alternative” forms called “enclitic.” These forms cannot stand first in a sentence, but usually follow the first word of the sentence, e.g., ātaṭ mē mraoṭ “then he said to me.”

Personal pronouns:

	1st	2nd	3rd pers.
			masc.	fem.	neut.
Sing.
nom.	azəm	tum	hō	hā	taṭ

acc.	-	-	tq, tq̄s°	tā, tā̄s°	tā
encl.	nō	vō	diš	hiš	ī

Note:

The form dim is used as fem. in Yt.5.90, but this is probably an example of the generalization of dim, which eventually seems to be no more than a particle in late texts.

There are other examples of confusion of masc. and fem. in strongly formulaic sections of the yašts to female deities, as well, such as təm for qəm.

There is another demonstrative pronoun meaning “this,” namely aēta-, which is declined as the other two, except in the nominative:

	masc.	fem.	neut.
Sing.
nom.	aēšō	aēša	aētaṭ
acc.	aētəm	aētqm	aētaṭ
Plur.
nom.	aēte, aētaē<sup>o</sup>	aētā	aēta
acc.	aētō	aētā	aēta

Notes:

The adverb aētaḏa “here” is made from this stem.

A masc. sing. aēša appears to occur in V.5.26 aēša yō ratuš “this, the model” and aēša yō apəṛənāiiukō “this, the child” in V.15.16, 18. We must note, however, that the expression aēša druxš “this Lie” is common in V.5, aēša kaine “this girl” is common in V.15, and aēša druxš and aēša nasuš “this pollution” throughout the Videvdad, and that the regular aēšō is frequently used in the Videvdad. All this suggests that the use of aēša for aēšō may be a mistake.

ADVERBS

The nom.-acc. neuter sing. of an adjective can be used as an adverb, examples: paairim “first(ly),” darəγəm “long, for a long time,” haiθim “truly,” pourum “in front,” pouru “plentifully.”

Note also pronominal forms: yaṭ, hiiaṭ “that, when,” kaṭ “when?” The form cim “why?” is originally a masc. acc. sing.

VERBS

Imperfect-injunctive active. 2

Among the the various present classes, verbs of the form CVCa- (consonant + vowel [mostly a] + consonant + thematic vowel a) are very common, e.g., bara- “to carry,” bauua- “become,” and saoca- “to burn (by oneself).”

Another group contains verbs ending in -iia-, which are in turn divided into classes of verbs of the form CVCiia- and CVCaiia-. These may be referred to as iia- stems and aiia- stems. Both the iia- stems and aiia- stems are in turn divided into three groups, iia- stems into “passive,” “denominative,” and “other” verbs, and aiia- stems into “causative,” “denominative,” and “other” verbs.

Passive and causative verbs can be paired with other verbs, from which they appear to be derived and denominative verbs with nouns or adjectives from which they appear to be derived, while “other” iia- stems and aiia- stems do not usually have such pair mates.

Note: It is wrong to call all iia- stems “passive” or all aiia- stems “causative.”

Examples:

		“Underived”:
		jaiḍiia- “to implore”
		baṇḍaiia- “to bind” Passive:
jan- “to smash, kill”	~	janiia- “to be killed”
bara- “to carry”	~	bairiia- “to be carried”
		Causative:
srao-/sru- “to hear”	~	srāuuiia- “to recite, sing”
taca- “to run, flow”	~	tācaiia- “to make run, flow”
		Denominative:
aēnah- “sin, transgression”	~	aēnaḥḥa- “to sin, transgress (against)”
nəmah- “reverence”	~	nəmaḥiia- “to bow to, do reverence to”
arəza- “a battle”	~	arəzaiia- “to battle”

The iia- stems and aiia- stems, as well as stems in -ca-, are subjected to all the kinds of phonetic modification discussed above, e.g. (jaiḍiia- “implore (for),” uxṣiia- “grow” (intrans.); pazḍaiia- “*pursue,” srāuuiia- “recite”; fraorəca- “*catch up with”):

	Active		Middle
Sing.
1	-iiam &gt; -im	jaiḍim
	-aiiam &gt; -aēm	srāuuaēm
Plur
3	-iian &gt; -iiən &gt; -in	jaiḍiiən, uxṣin	-iianta	jaiḍiianta
	-aiian &gt; -aiiən, -aēn	srāuuiiən, srāuuaēn	-aiianta	pazḍaiianta
	-can &gt; -cin	tacin	-canta &gt; -ciṅta	fraorəciṅta

In the 3 plur. of (a)iia- stems, the -a- was usually reintroduced, e.g., jaiḍiianta “they requested,” instead of **jaiḍiṅta*; fraorəciṅta (Yt.17.19) seems to be the only attested “regular” form.

The uua- stems undergo similar modifications (bauua-, dauua- “chatter,” stao- “praise”):

	Active		Middle
Sing. 1	-auuam &gt; -aom	baom, staom
Plur. 3	-auuan &gt; -aon	baon	-auuanta &gt; -āuṅta adāuṅta

The form adāuṅta seems to be the only example of the 3 plur. mid. of uua- stems.

PHONOLOGY

Modifications of vowels: palatalization of a

The rules given in the preceding lessons describe how a is affected when between preceding ii, c, and j and following consonant (other than nasals) plus the vowels i and e. These rules most importantly affect the 2nd and 3rd sing. primary verbal endings—both active and middle—and the thematic masc. sing. gen. ending, as we shall see in the next lessons.

When the a was also followed by a nasal, the rules given in Lesson 4 vie with those given in Lesson 5, and we get alternate forms, following one or the other set of rules. This situation obtains in the 3rd plur. endings. The original forms were probably those following the Lesson 5 rules, which were replaced by Lesson 4 rules, which apply to the 3rd sing. Briefly, we may say that the 3rd plur. forms were frequently changed in analogy with the 3rd sing. forms:

-caṅti	>	* -cānti		>	-ciṅti
-iianti	>	* -iiānti	>	* -iiṅti	>	-iṅti	⇒ -iieṅti (cf. -iieiti )
-iiante	>	* -iiānte	>	* -iiṅte	>	-iṅte	⇒ -iieṅte (cf. -iiete )

In practice, the endings -iṅti and -iṅte are found after the palatal consonants c and **j* (which became ž before i) and after sibilants: s, z, as well as θ (taciṅti “they flow,” mārānciṅti “they destroy,” haciṅte “they follow,” snaēžiṅti “they snow,” družīṅti “they deceive,” uruuisiṅti “they turn,” fraoirisiṅte “they turn forward,” yaziṅte “they are sacrificed to,” vārāziṅti “they produce,” para.iriθiṅti “they pass on”).

All other verbs have the endings -iieṅti, -iieṅte.

Note that the replacement of the uncontracted endings in the iia-stems restored the typical stem formative -ii-

In aiia-stems contracted forms are not used, presumably to avoid diphthongs followed by two consonants (\-aēṅti*, \-aēṅte*).

Consonant changes: alternation ḡhu ~ ḡʰh

The group ḡʰh can not be followed by the vowels a and u. Since ḡʰh is from hhu, whenever the group is followed by -ən or -əm, the standard rules operate, and -hhuəm and -hhuən become -hum and -hun and further -ḡhum and -ḡhun [for aṅt > ṅt, see Lesson 5]. These rules create paradigmatic alternations such as paṅtaḡʰō ~ paṅtaḡhum “a fifth,” xʰarənaḡhūntəm ~ xʰarənaḡʰatō “fortunate, munificent.”

For xʰarənaḡhūntəm (and similar forms), the manuscripts often offer “regular” forms: xʰarənaḡʰaṅtəm (etc.).

Summary:

-ahuat-	>					-aḡʰat-
-ahuaN-	>	-ahūəN-	>	-ahuN-	>	-aḡhuN- ⇒ -aḡʰaN-

A similar alternation occurs when ḡh is followed by ui/ūi, when we have ḡʰhi alternating with ḡhuii (see Lesson 11, genitive of ī-stems).

NOUNS

Vocalic declensions: diphthong-stems

There are a few i- and u-stems that have forms with full or long grade of the suffixes: -i/-aē/-āi-, and -u/-ao/-āuu-. Here these will be called diphthong-stems or aē- and *ao-*stems (in grammars, usually called i- and u-stems).

The aē-stems include the polysyllabic haxaē- “companion, friend,” kauuaē- “kauui” (mythical poet-priests, some of them the competitors of Zarathustra), xštāuuāē-, a legendary people, Sāuuāghaē-, a calendrical ratu, and the geographical name Rayaē-. The personal name Urupaē- probably belonged to this type, but is attested only twice: nom. Taxmō Urupa (Urupe) (Yt.15.11 [and AZ. 2]), acc. Taxmām Uruṣilale (Yt.19.28).

The ao-stems include the monosyllabic stem gao- m., f. “cow, bull,” and the polysyllabic masc. noun bāzao-; the masc. adjectives in °bāzao- and frādaṭfšao-; and the feminine nouns daḡhao- “land,” nasao- “carcass, demoness of dead bodies,” and pərəsao- “rib.” The monosyllabic gao- and the adjectives in °bāzao- have long grade in the nom. sing. They all have long or full grade in the nom.-acc. plur.:

Sing.
nom.	haxa	kauua		*Urupa	Raya
voc.	-	-		-	Sauuaḡhe
acc.	haxāim	kauuaēm			Sāuuāghaēm Rayam
Plur.
nom.	haxaiiō	*kāuuaiias°	xštāuuaiiō
acc.	-	-	-

Notes:

The long ā has been shortened in Sauuaḡhe, like in Spitama < Spitāma-.

The nom. plur. kāuuaiias° is Old Avestan.

Note the lengthening of the vowel of the stem in some of the forms.

		m.		f.

nom.	gāuuō	-		daḡhāuuō	nasāuuō	-
acc.	gā	bāzuš		daḡhuš	-	-

Notes:

The voc. sing. of gao- is found in gaohudā “O cow giving good gifts” and gaospəṇta “O life-giving cow” (P.33).

The sing. acc. daḡhaom is the “normal” form (only in Yt.10). The form daḡiiium is Old Avestan, but is also found in the YAv. formula nmānəmca visəmca zaṇtumca daḡiiiumca “the home, the house, the tribe, and the land.”

The forms nasāum and pərəsāum occur only in the Videvdad. There seems to be no system in the distribution of the forms nasāum and nasum.

The form frazdānaom, name of a river (Yt.5.108, FO.4g), can be from frazdānu- or frazdānuua-.

Consonant declensions: t-stems

The nominative singular of t-stems is the only morphological category which ends in -s. The stem napāt- has the nom. from an h-stem napah-. No nom., acc. plur. forms are attested.

Paradigms (ābərət-, the priest who brings the water during the sacrifice, aḡauua.xšnūt- “who pleases the Orderly (ones),” napāt- “grandson, offspring”):

Sing.
nom.	ābərəs	ašauua.xšnus	napā, napāsə°
acc.	ābərətəm	-	napātəm

tāt-stems

The Avestan has tāt-stems (cf. Latin veritas, acc. veritātem, etc.) are all feminine. The nom. sing. ends in -s, before which the t is lost (assimilated).

These stems are productive in Avestan and can be made from any adjective or participle.

Paradigms (hauruuatāt- “Wholeness,” aməratāt- “Undyingness,” uparatāt- “superiority,” uštātāt- “state of having one’s wishes fulfilled,” nərəfsqstāt- “waning,” uxšiiqstāt- “waxing”):

Sing.
nom.	hauruuatās, hauruuatās°	aməratātās, aməratātās°
acc.	hauruuatātəm	aməratātātəm	uparatātəm, uštātātəm
Plur.
nom.-acc.	-	-	nərəfsqstātō, uxšiiqstātās° nt-stems

Of stems ending in dental stops the nt-stems are the most important. they comprise adjectives in -ant, -uuant-, -mant-, and the rare iiant, as well as the active present participles in -ant-.

The suffixes -uuant- and -mant- are in complementary distribution: -mant- is used after stems in u or ao and -uuant- elsewhere.

The adjectives have strong stem -uuant-/-mant-, weak stem -uuat-/-mat-. Participles of athematic verbs in the same way have strong stem -ant-, weak stem -at-, but those of thematic verbs have only one stem, in -ant-. See Lesson 16 for the declension of active present participles.

Not many voc. forms are attested.

Plur.
	nom.	druuaṅtō				cuuaṅtō
	acc.	druuatō

Notes:

As in verbal forms (cf. bauuainṭi), the a is preserved in the strong forms of uuant-stems.

The stem mazānt- is probably from **maza'ant-*.

The form auuāṅtəm seems to have been influenced by mazāṅtəm.

The only iiant-stem is x<sup>v</sup>airiiaṅt- “tasty,” which apparently has nom.-acc. sing. x<sup>v</sup>airiiqn (see Lesson 17).

huuant*-stems

Not all forms are attested. Paradigms (x<sup>v</sup>arənaḡ<sup>v</sup>hant- “munificent, endowed with Fortune,” raocaḡ<sup>v</sup>hant- “full of light”):

		masc.	neut.
Sing.
	nom.	x<sup>v</sup>arənaḡ<sup>v</sup>hā	raocaḡ<sup>v</sup>haṭ

	nom.	x<sup>v</sup>arənaḡ<sup>h</sup>untō, x<sup>v</sup>arənaḡ<sup>v</sup>hantō	-
	acc.	x<sup>v</sup>arənaḡ<sup>v</sup>hatō	-

Stems ending in n mostly have an a before the n, so we can also call them an-stems. There are a few ān-stems and in-stems (but no “un-stems”). Two subgroups of an-stems are the uuan- and man-stems.

There is one iian-stem: the proper name Fraḡrasiiian-.

The endings are as follows.

		an -stems	man -stems		uuan -stems
		m.	m.	n.	m.
Sing.
	nom.	-a (-ā)	-ma	-ma	-uua, -uuā
	voc.	-	-	-	-um
	acc.	-anəm, -ānəm	-mānəm, -manəm	-ma	-uuanəm, -uuānəm (-uuqnəm)
Plur.
	nom.	-anō, -ānō	-manō	-mqn	-uuanō, -uuānō (-uuqnō)
	acc.	-nō, -anō	-manō	-mqn	-unō

Note: The voc. sing. ending -um of uuan-stems shows final -n assimilated to the preceding labial uu.

LESSON 8

Paradigms of masc. n-stems (vərəθrajan- “obstruction-smashing, victorious,” aršan- “male (animal),” asan- “sky, heaven; stone”):

	an -stems			ian -stems
Sing.
nom.	vərəθraja (°jā)	arša	-	Fragrase
voc.	-	-	-	-
acc.	vərəθrājanəm	aršānəm	asānəm	Fragrasiianəm
Plur.
nom.	vərəθrajanō	aršānō	asānō
acc.	vərəθrajanō	-	-

Notes:

The ian-stem Fragrasiian- has nom. Fragrase with final -e < **-iia*.

Paradigms of masc. uan-stems (aṣṣauuan- “Orderly, sustaining Order,” āθraujan- “high priest,” yuan- “young, youth,” ruuan- “(breath) soul,” zruuan- “time, Time”):

Sing.
nom.	aṣṣauua	āθrauaa	yuaa	uruua	zruua
voc.	aṣṣaum	āθraom	yum	-	-
acc.	aṣṣauuanəm	āθraujanəm	yuanəm	uruuanəm	zruuanəm
Plur.
nom.	aṣṣauuanō	āθraujanō	-	uruuanō
acc.	aṣṣaonō, aṣṣaunō	*aθaurunō, aθaurunq̄s°	-	urunō

Notes:

The voc. sing. ending -um of uan-stems shows final -n assimilated to the preceding labial uu.

The strong stem āθraujan- may be < **aθarjan-*,<sup>8</sup> hence the weak stem aθaurun- would be regular from a diachronic (historical) perspective; aθaurunq̄s° is a thematic form.

Thematic forms include aṣṣauuana for aṣṣauuanō, etc.

Paradigms of masc. and neut. man-stems (masc.: Airiiaman-, name of a god; asman- “sky, heaven; stone”; rasman- “battle line”; neut.: nāman- “name,” barəsmān- “barsom”):

	m.		n.
Sing.
nom.	Airiiama	asma	nāma	barəsmā
acc.	Airiiamanəm	asmānəm	nāma	barəsmā
Plur.
nom.-acc.		rasmanō	nāmān

h-stems. 2

The h-stems include some root nouns, active perfect participles in -uuah- (cf. Lesson 20), and comparatives in -iiah- (see Lesson 14).

The declension of the root nouns and the uuah-stems is as follows (māh- “moon, month,” daduuah- “the one who has put all in place, creator”):

<sup>8</sup> Cf. ārmaiti- vs. OInd. aramati-.

Sing.
nom.	mā, māś°	daδuuā
voc.		daδuuō
acc.	māḡhəm	daδuuāḡhəm
Plur.
nom.	māḡhō	daδuuāḡhō
acc.	māḡhō	*daδuśō

Note: The uuh-stems have zero grade in the acc. plur., with the alternation ḡh ~ ś due to ruki (Lesson 5).

ADJECTIVES

The feminine of consonant-stems

The feminine of ḡt-stem adjectives is formed by adding -ī- to the weak stem, e.g., bərəzaitī- “high, lofty,” amauuaitī- “forceful,” gaomaitī- “full of milk.”

The feminine of n-stem adjectives is formed by adding -ī- to (usually) the weak stem, e.g., aṣaonī- (aṣāunī-); aṣauuan- also has an irregular fem. form: aṣāuuairī- (Y.58.4).

The feminine of uuh-stems is in -uśī-.

VERBS

Present indicative active

The endings of the present indicative are called “primary.” The primary endings of the singular and the 3rd plural differ from the secondary endings by an added -i. In the 3rd plural the final -t, which was lost in the secondary ending (*-ən < *-əḡt*) reappears.

Athematic verbs show alternation between strong and weak stems.

For iia- and *aiia-*stems, see Lesson 9.

Active paradigms:

3	-ḡti, -aiti	daδaiti	-	kərənuuaiti	yeiḡti

Note:

The 1st plur. dadəmahi is an archaizing form for the regular dəḡnmahi (cf. OAv. dəmāna- = YAv. nmāna- “house”).

The 2nd plur. form dasta could in principle be “you give” < **dad-θa*, but it is probably imperative in all its occurrences.

The 2nd sing. kərənuśi (Y.10.13) appears to be for **kərənaośi*, possibly influenced by the imperative kərənuidi. There are also similar 3rd sing. forms, e.g., vərənuiti “covers (the female)” (V.18.35; perhaps to be read vərənuite, but cf. vərənuidi Y.9.28). The form kərənuuaiti is thematic.

The forms of iia- and *aiia-*stems are given in Lesson 9.

4. O (you) possessed by the Lie, why (cin) do you destroy the world of living beings with bones, men, animals, and plants?
5. Why do you sacrifice to the Destructive Spirit, full of destruction?
6. O high priest, place this libation in Orderly fashion!
7. If you do not place it in Orderly fashion, then it becomes impure.
8. Life-giving Ārmaiti is a giver of wholeness and immortality. May she be ours!
9. Miθra, with his strong arms, is the best guardian of the Aryan lands.
10. Fraŋrasiian is the evil smiter of the Aryan men.

LESSON 9

PHONOLOGY

Palatalization of a: synoptic table

Table of the palatalization rules for the 2nd and 3rd sing. primary verbal endings—both active and middle:

-iiati	>	-iieiti	*jaiḍiati	>	jaiḍiieiti “he implores”
-aiiati	>	-aiieiti	*srāuuaiiati	>	srāuuaiieiti “he recites”
-iiate	>	-iiete (-iieite)	*maniiate	>	maniiete (maniiete) “he thinks”
-aiiate	>	-aiiete (-aiieite)	*xšaiiate	>	xšaiiete (xšaiieite) “he rules”
-iiahi	>	-iiehi	*jaiḍiiahi	>	jaiḍiiehi “you implore”
-aiiahi	>	-aiiehi	*srāuuaiiahi	>	srāuuaiiehi “you recite”
-iiawe	>	-iiewe	*maniiawe	>	maniiewe “you think”
-aiiawe	>	-aiiewe	*xšaiiawe	>	xšaiiewe “you rule”

Notes:

On the gen. sing. of nouns, see Lesson 11; on the feminine of adjectives in the comparative, see Lesson 14.

The development of -aiium and -aoiām

The sequence -aiium, whether original or secondary < \-aiiuuəm*, has the developments -aēum, -ōiium, or -aēm, e.g., ōiium < aēuua-, vī.dōiium < vī.daēuua-, but Vaēm < **Vaiium* and raēm < **raēum* < raēuua-. The form ōiium further shows up in the manuscripts as ōim, aōim, etc.

The sequence -aoiām shows the same developments: haoiia- “left”: acc. masc. haoiium, hōiium, hōim; **aoiia-* (or **aiia-*?) “egg”: acc. aēm; Qasaoiia-, name of a sea: acc. Qasaēm (Yt.19.66).

Palatalization of ā

Long ā becomes e when preceded by i and followed by a nasal and i, ī, or e. This change takes place in several 1st singular verbal forms, e.g., present indicative -iiāmi > -iieimi, examples:

*naiiāmi	>	naiieimi “I lead”	*srāuuaiiāmi	>	srāuuaiieimi “I recite”
*zbaiiāmi	>	zbaiieimi “I invoke”	*ā-vaēḍaiiāmi	>	ā.vaēḍaiieimi “I make known to”
*jaiḍiāmi	>	jaiḍiieimi “I implore”	*haṅkārāiāmi	>	haṅkārāiieimi “I gather”

The original forms, e.g., -iiāmi, are sometimes retained/restored by analogy, especially in the vicinity of forms with regular -āmi, not preceded by ii, e.g., yāsāmi ... jaiḍiāmi “I request ... I implore” (Y.65.11), vanāmi ... vərəziiāmi “I overcome ... I produce” (Yt.15.44).

A few nominal forms satisfy the conditions, as well: ziiāni- m. “harm” > nom. ziieniš, acc. ziienim, but gen. ziiānōiš (see Lesson 11).

NOUNS

Consonant declensions: irregular n-stems

In many n-stems, consonant changes occur in the weak forms, when the n of the suffix comes in contact with the final consonant of the root.

Examples (asan-/ašn- “stone, heaven,” xšapan-/xšafn- “night,” karapan-/karafn- “*mumbler,” marətān-/marəθn- “mortal”):

Sing.
nom.	*asa	xšapa	*karapa (OAv.)	marata
acc.	asānəm	xšapanəm	*karapanəm	*marātānəm
Plur.
nom.	asānō	xšapanō	karapanō	*marātānō (OAv.)
acc.	*ašnō	xšafnas <sup>o</sup>	*karafnō	*marəθnō

Consonant declensions: irregular uuan-stems

Following are some uuan-stems in which various phonetic changes have produced some irregular-looking forms:

Sing.
nom.	spā	*aδβa	θrizafā
voc.	-		θrizafəm
acc.	spānəm	aδβanəm	θrizafanəm
Plur.
nom.	spānō	-	-
acc.	*sunō	-	-

The stem span-/sun- is an original uuan-stem, but with su > sp. The acc. plur. form sunō is frequently used as nom. plur. in the Videvdad, especially in the formula sunō vā kərəfš.xʷarō vaiiō vā kərəfš.xʷarō “either flesh-eating dogs or flesh-eating birds.”

The stem aδβan- “road” is an original uuan-stem, with δu > δβ.

The masc. adj. θri.zafan- has nom. sing. θri.zafā, and short a in the acc. like vərəθraja, but the word is probably a uuan-stem **θri.zafuan-*, hence it has voc. sing. θri.zafəm, like ašāum.

The Dual

Few forms of the dual are found, but they suffice to show that this category was basically of the old Indo-Iranian type. In Old Avestan four cases are distinguished, as the gen. and loc. have not merged, as in Indic. In Young Avestan, however, no locative dual forms appear to be attested.

The endings of the nom.-voc.-acc. are -a in masc. a-stems, diphthong stems, and masc. and fem. consonant stems; -e in fem. ā-stems and neut. a-stems; and -i in neut. consonant stems. The i-, ī-, and *u-*stems have no endings (gaoša- “ear,” uruuarā- “plant,” Saṇhauuāci-, name of Yima’s sister, baoiḍi- “incense”):

Vowel stems

	a -stems		ā -stems	ī -stems	i -stems	pasu-
	m.	n.
Dual
nom.-acc.	gaoša	-	uruuairē	Saṇhauuāci	baoiḍi	pasu

Notes:

uua > uuō in gauuō < gauua- “hand”: apaš gauuō darəzaiieiti “he ties (their) two hands in the back” (Yt.10.48), but ham gauua nidarəzaiiaδβəm “you tie (their) two hands together” (Yt.1.27).

The nom.-acc. dual of nouns such as mairiia- should be **mairē*, with -iia > -e (see Lesson 4), but no examples are found.

srū- “nails”

It is unclear whether the forms of srū- “nails” are neut. plur. or dual (the nails on the fingers/toes on both hands/feet). It is spelled sruuī and sruiiē, sruuaē<sup>o</sup>.

LESSON 11

PHONOLOGY

Vowel changes. Ablaut

Historically speaking, “ablaut” refers to variations in vowel quantity affecting an -a- in the stem or ending of nouns and verbs. Thus, in Indo-Iranian (and Indo-European), an a belonging either to the stem of a word (noun, verb) or the ending could take on three “grades”:

zero grade	full grade	lengthened grade
no vowel	a	ā

In Sanskrit grammar the full grade is called guṇa and the long grade vriiddhi.

In English the old ablaut is reflected in irregular verbs, such as bite ~ bit, shine ~ shone.

Ablaut is not to be confused with the different process of “umlaut,” which is related to the Avestan vowel variations a ~ e ~ O discussed in Lesson 4 and which survives in English in nouns with irregular plural forms, such as man ~ men, mouse ~ mice, and in German is indicated by the “umlaut” sign: a o u ~ ä ö ü (Mann ~ Männer, Maus ~ Mäuse).

Because of the sound developments, the original Indo-European ablaut system appears much changed in individual languages. In Avestan the ablaut patterns depend upon the sound following or, sometimes, preceding the a. In the following table C = consonants other than i u n m r:

Full grade	Zero grade	Lengthened grade	Examples:
aC	-C	āC	paḍō ~ upabdi ~ pāḍa
aē, ōi (< ai)	i	āi	daēsaiia- ~ dišta- ~ - garōiš ~ gairiš ~ gara (&lt; *garā(i?)) - ~ nista ~ nāist ao (< au)	u	āu	staoṭ ~ stuta ~ stāumi an	a (< ŋ), n	ān	manah- ~ mata ~ mamne ~ mānaiia- ar	ṛ, r	ār	kairiia- ~ -kərəṭ ~ cāxarə ~ °kārāiia-
rā (< raH)	ar (< ṛH)		drājah- ~ darəya-

The ablaut seen in the last examples, where the consonant precedes the vowel—is sometimes referred to by the German expression “Schwebe-ablaut,” approximately: “moving ablaut.”

On the symbol H appearing in the table, see on laryngeals in Lesson 12.

Spirantization of stops

As shown in Lesson 6, when a t comes before an ending beginning with ii, uu, or n it changes to θ. In addition, an original uu (< **u*) after θ becomes β, e.g., ratuš but raθβō. This rule does not hold in some special cases, e.g., gātuuō, which is from original **gātau* (not **gātūah*). Note also, for instance, *mašiiia- < *martiia-*, but *mərəθiiu- < *mṛθiu-*.

STEM AND ROOT

Because of the multitude of different forms nouns, verbs, etc. can take on—as we have had the opportunity to observe in some detail in preceding lessons—, nouns and verbs are classified according to their “stem” forms.

The stem of a noun is what remains when the endings indicating number and case are removed, and the stem of a verb is what remains when the endings indicating number and person are removed.

Often, however, removing these endings leaves us with varying forms, and it may not always be obvious what the “real” stem is. One therefore abstracts the notion of “stem” from the clearest instances and applies it by analogy to those that are less clear. The stem form of nouns, for instance, is usually most clearly seen in the genitive plural, which has the endings -nəm or -qm: haomanəm > haoma-, frauuašinəm > frauuaši-, ratunəm > ratu-, apəm > ap-, etc. The stem form of verbs is usually most clearly seen in the 2nd plur., e.g., barata > bara-, staota > stao-.

Many nouns and verbs undergo changes in the course of declension and conjugation, both ablaut and consonant changes, e.g.:

vāx- ~ vāc ~ vac- ~ ux-ta- daḍā-mi- ~ daḍ-ən ~ das-ta- ah-mi ~ as-ti- ~ s-tā ~ z-dī ~ h-ənti- ~ Ø-mahi.

frauuaši- ~ frauuašōi- kərənauu-a- ~ kərənao- ~ kərənu- bār-aiia- ~ bar-a- ~ bərə-tā-

According to the ablaut, stems are usually classified as:

“strong” stems = with 1) long or 2) full grade, e.g.: nom, acc. sing., nom. plur. of nouns, present indicative sing. of athematic verbs; “weak” stems = with 1) full or 2) zero grade, e.g., gen. sing., acc., gen. plur. of nouns; present indicative plural of athematic verbs.

While the “stem” of a word is a part of the actual word, the “root” is a theoretical concept, and its phonetic/orthographic form may or may not be identifiable with a part of an actual word. Basically the “root” of a simple word (no prefixes or suffixes) is the smallest congregate of consonants and vowels that carry the meaning of the simple word. Various methods are used to represent the root, cf.  $\sqrt{dā}$  “give, place,”  $\sqrt{k_}$  or  $\sqrt{kar}$  “do,”  $\sqrt{bū}$  or  $\sqrt{bav}$  “become,”  $\sqrt{vak/vac}$  “speak,”  $\sqrt{ah/as}$  “be,” etc. In this manual forms such as  $\sqrt{kar}$ ,  $\sqrt{bao}$ ,  $\sqrt{vak/vac}$ ,  $\sqrt{aog/aoj}$ ,  $\sqrt{ah/as}$ ,  $\sqrt{vaē/vi}$  are used

Declension. Genitive

The endings of the genitive at first sight seem very diverse. Much of this diversity is due to historical developments in Iranian. The most common ending in Indo-Iranian was an -s (as in the nominative), which—when preceded by i or u—became -š by ruki (see Lesson 5, on the endings of the nominative). While the Indo-Iranian -š remained in Iranian, the -s became \-h*, which combined with preceding vowel in various ways: \-ah* > -ō, \-āh* > -ā. In sandhi the final -s reappears: -as°, -ās° (Lesson 4).

In ā-stems, the original \-ās* [seen in Old Latin pater familiās, for instance] was changed to \-āīās*, by the addition of an element -āī-, which is probably due to the influence of the feminine i-stems. In Avestan [but not in Old Persian] the long -ā was shortened, and the ending became \-aiiāh*.

The ending of the a-stems is -ahe, which is from older \-ahja* (see Lesson 4) [OAv. -ahiiā, OPers. -ahayā]. Before -ca we occasionally find -ajhā°. The iia-stems have -iiehe, according to the rules of Lesson 9.

The consonant stems, u<sup>2</sup>- and ū-stems take the ending -ō (-as°).

LESSON 11

The genitive plural ends in -qm (disyllabic in OAv.), before which an -n- is inserted in most of the vocalic declensions.

The genitive dual ends in -ā, before which the a-stems insert -aii-; thus they have the ending -aiiā.

The genitive, both singular and plural, takes the weak stem of nouns that undergo ablaut.

NOTE: The subgroup of u-stems referred to as u<sup>2</sup>-stems has the same endings in the genitive (sing. and plur.) as the ū-stems. In terms of “ablaut” we see that while regular u-stems have full grade of the suffix (ao) and zero grade of the ending (-š), the u<sup>2</sup>-stems have zero grade of the suffix (u) and full grade of the ending (*-ō < *-ah*). These two types can be referred to as protero- and hystero-kinetic (or: -dynamic), respectively. These u<sup>2</sup>-stems have regular -auuō in the nom. plur. (ratauuō).

The endings are:

	a -stems	ā -stems		ī -stems

Dual	-	-	-	-ā

Notes:

Only the common word mašīia- “man, mortal” has an irregular long ā in the gen. plur. mašīiānqm, possibly influenced by mašīiāka- “people.”

No plur. gen. forms of masc. ā-stems in -dā- are attested (paṇtā- “road” see Lesson 12).

Many u-stems take the ending -əuš instead of or beside -aoš. This is an Old Avestan form of the ending, which has become common principally with words “with strong Old Avestan connection.”

	a -stems	īia -stems	ā -stems		ī -stems m., n.	m.	m.	f.	f.

Plur.	haomanqm	mairīianqm		daēnanqm	ašaoninqm, vaṇ<sup>h</sup>hinqm, amauuaitinqm
Dual	gaošaiiā	-		nāirikaiiā	-

Notes:

In the ī-stems, t becomes θ before -ii-, but ṇt remains (cf. Lesson 6): amauuaiθīiā but vanaiṇtiiā!

The gen. plur. ending of the vowel stems originally had long vowels before the n- (cf. OInd. -ānām, -īnām, -ūnām), which is why the -a- is always preserved between ii and n in forms such as mairīianqm.

The gen. dual nāirikaiiā is found only in FO.2f.

Original \-ṇhuuī-* (< \-hūī-*) becomes -ṇ<sup>h</sup>hi-, but \-ṇhuuii-* (< \-hūī-*) becomes -ṇhuii-, thus vaṇ<sup>h</sup>hī- has sing. nom. vaŋ<sup>v</sup>hi and plur. gen. vaŋ<sup>v</sup>hinqm, but sing. gen. vaŋhuiā.

Sing.	raθβō (ratāuš)	tanuuō
Plur.	raθβqm, yāθβqm	tanuuqm
Dual	-	-

Notes:

In the u<sup>2</sup>-declension, the combinations \-tuō* and \-tuqm* become -θβō and -θβqm.

The gen. form pasuuō is found in a poorly transmitted text (N. 48).

The form haśqm is from **hačīām* (OInd. sakhyām).

The form °gauuā is found in personal names, e.g., Vidaŋ.gauuā, Paršaŋ.gauuā, names of two brothers.

Consonant-stems

Examples (ap- “water,” druj- “deception, the Lie,” vak-/vac- “word, speech,” paδ- “foot,” bəraz- “high,” °uuarəz- < varəz- “invigorant,” °uuəraz- “maker (of),” vis- “town”):

	vak-/vac-	druj-	ap-	paδ-	vis-	bəraz- , °uuarəz- , °uuəraz-
Sing.	vacō, vacas°	drujō	apō (āpō)	paδō	visō	bərazō
Plur.	vacqm	drujqm	apqm	paδqm	visqm	°uuərazqm
Dual	-	-	-	(pāδaiiā)	-	°uuarəzā

Notes:

The nom. huuarš can be from huuəraz- “who does good work” or from varəz- “with good invigorant.”

The form pāδaiiā is a thematic form based upon the nom.-acc. dual pāδa.

	zam-	ziiam-	tāt -stems
Sing.	zāmō	zimō (zāmō)	hauruuatātō
Plur.	zāmqm	-	vaŋhutātqm
Dual	-	-	hauruuatātā

Note that zam-, by regular sound developments, should have had an alternating stem zam- (zām-)/**sm-*, cf. upasma- “(living) in the earth”; for understandable reasons, the stem zām- replaced **s(ə)m-* in the paradigm.

r-stems and napāt-

Examples (ātar- “fire,” napāt- “grandson,” nar- “man, hero,” star- “star”; brātar- “brother,” dātar- “Creator,” pitar- “father,” sāstar-/sāθr- “teacher,” zotar- “libator”):

Sing.	narš	stārō, staras°	nafəθrō	āθrō
Plur.	narqam	strqm, stārqm	-	āθraqm
Dual	narā	-	-	-
Sing.	dāθrō	zotarš (zotarō)	sāθrō, sāstarš	piθrō	brāθrō
Plur.	-	-	sāθraqm	-	-
Dual	-	-	-	-	-

Notes:

Note the protero-kinetic forms zotar-š and nar-š.

The gen. sing. forms stārō and zotarō and the gen. plur. stārqm are secondary.

Note that the long ā of stārō is shortened in starasca.

Thematic forms are frequent, e.g., sāstrahe, sāstranqm.

h- and uuah-stems

Examples (daðuuah- “Creator,” manah- “thought,” māh- “moon,” naire.manah- “heroic-minded,” zraiih- “ocean”):

Sing.	māḡhō	naire.manahō	manahō	zraiiḡhō	daḡušō, daḡušō
Plur.	-	naire.manahqm	manahqm	-	*daḡušqm
Dual	-	Aḡa.nəmahā	-	-	-

Note:

Instead of the regular (and frequent) gen. sing. zraiiḡhō Vouru.kaḡahe we find zraiiā Vouru.kaḡaiia in the formula yaozəḡti vispe karanō zraiiā Vouru.kaḡaiia (Y.65.4 = Yt.5.4 = 8.31). These forms have been interpreted as dialect forms. More likely, however, they are wrongly completed abbreviations of zra° Vouru.ka° (or similar).

Thematic forms include māḡhahe.

The genitive of āh- “mouth” is formed from an n-stem: āḡhānō (see below).

n-stems

In the protero-kinetic n-stems, notably zruan- and barəsmān-, the gen. ending \-ḡh* combines with the n of the stem to produce \-ḡh*, which—as in the accusative plural of masc. a-stems—combines with the preceding a to become \-ḡ*. This ending in turn becomes -ū after uu (uuan-stems), but -q after m (man-stems).

Examples (an-stems: asan-/ašn- “stone, sky,” karapan-/karafn- “mumbler,” vəḡəθrajan-/vəḡəθraqn- “obstruction-smashing,” xšapan-/xšafn- “night”; uuan-stems: aḡβan- “road,” aḡauuan-/aḡaon-, āθrauuān-/aθaurun, span-/sun- “dog,” yuuān-/yun- “youth,” zruuan-/zrun- “time”; man-stems: Airiiāman-, cašman- “eye,” nāman- “name,” barəsmān- “barsom”):

an-stems:

Sing.	vəḡəθraqnō (°janō)	ašnō	xšafnō	-
Plur.	vəḡəθraqnam	-	xšafnam	karafnam
Dual	-	-	-	-

uuan-stems:

Sing.	aṣaonō	aṥaurunō	sunō	-	aḍβanō	zrū
Plur.	aṣaonq̄m	aṥaurunq̄m	sunq̄m	yunq̄m	-	-
Dual	aṣaonā	-	-	-	-	-

man-stems:

	m.	n.
Sing.	Airiimanō	nāmanō	barəsmā
Plur.		nāmanq̄m	barəsmānq̄m
Dual		-	cašmanā

Notes:

The root noun āh- “mouth” has an irregular gen. sing. from an n-stem: āḥhānō

Instead of the weak stem aṣaon- we often find aṣāun- in the manuscripts. In view of OInd. ṛtāvan- this may well be the original form.

The weak stem aṥaurun- is regular < **aṥarun-*, since āṥrauuān- (probably) is < **aṥarūan-* (OInd. atharvan-, cf. ārmaiti-, OInd. aramati-).

kaniiā-

The fem. ā-stem kaniiā-, beside the irregular ā-stem forms, has some forms from an in-stem, as does kax<sup>v</sup>arəidi- < kax<sup>v</sup>arəḍa- and kāidi-/kaiieiḍi- < kaiiāḍa-, both some kind of “female magician(?)”:

Sing.
nom.	kaniiā-	kainin-	kax<sup>v</sup>arəidiā-	kax<sup>v</sup>arəidiḥ-	kāidiā-	kaiieiḍin-
voc.	kaine			kax<sup>v</sup>arəḍaine
acc.	kaniiq̄m	kainināḥm
gen.	kaniiā	kaininō	kax<sup>v</sup>arəidiāḥ<sup>o</sup>		kāidiāḥ<sup>o</sup>
Plur.
nom.		kaininō		-		-
gen.			kax<sup>v</sup>arəidiḥnq̄m			kaiieiḍinq̄m

Note: For kaininō, we also find the thematic form kainina in poorly transmitted texts.

ṇt-stems

Examples (aṇt-stem adjectives: bəṛəzāṇt-/bəṛəzat- “high, lofty”; uuāṇt-stems: aētauuāṇt-/aētauuat- “this much,” astuuāṇt-/astuuat- “having bones,” druuāṇt-/druuat- “possessed by the Lie”; maṇt-stems: ratumaṇt-/ratumat- “containing (the word) ratu,” yātumaṇt-/yātumat- “possessed by sorcerers”)

Sing.	bəṛəzatō	aētauuatō	astuuatō	ratumatō
Plur.	bəṛəzatq̄m	auuuuatq̄m	druuatq̄m	yātumatq̄m

Genitive

The genitive forms of the pronouns are:

Personal pronouns:

	1st	2nd	3rd pers.
			masc., neut.	fem.
Sing.	mana	tauua	ahe, aŋhe	aŋhā, aŋhāsā
encl.	mē	tē		hē, šē
Dual	-	yuuākām	aiiā	-
Plur.	ahmākām	yušmākām, xšmākām	aēšqam	āŋhām
encl.	nō	vō

Note: The distribution of hē and šē is governed by ruki (see Lesson 5).

The demonstrative pronoun ima- “this”:

	masc., neut.	fem.
Sing.	ahe, aŋhe	aŋhā, aŋhāsā
Plur.	aēšqam	āŋhām
Dual	aiiā, anaiiā	-

The demonstrative pronoun auua- “that”:

	masc., neut.	fem.
Sing.	auuaŋhe	auuaŋhā
Plur.	auuaēšqam	-
Dual	-	-

The form aŋhāsā is used with tanuuō “of this body.” Note also x<sup>a</sup>aēpaiθiāsā tanuuō “of (one’s) own body.”

The demonstrative pronoun aēta- “this”:

	masc., neut.	fem.
Sing.	aētahe	aētaŋhā
Plur.	aētaēšqam	aētaŋhām
Dual	aētaiiā	-

The relative pronoun ya- “who, which”:

	masc., neut.	fem.
Sing.	yeŋhe	yeŋhā
Plur.	yaēšqam	yāŋhām
Dual	yaiiā	-

The interrogative pronoun ka- “who, what?”:

	masc., neut.	fem.
Sing.	kahe, kahiiā<sup>o</sup>	kaŋhā
Plur.	-	kaŋhām
Dual

Note the pronominal adjectives: aniiehe, aniiāēšqam; vispahe, vispaēšqam (but fem. vispanqam).

Active participles

The active present participles end in -ŋt-. The athematic verbs form the present participle from the weak stem of the root, e.g.: haŋt-, ŋaŋt- (< jan-), daδaŋt-/daθaŋt-, kərənūuaŋt-, nruuat- (Y.70.4).

Participles from thematic verbs have fixed stems in -aŋt- (-əŋt-), e.g., masc. acc. sing. barəŋtəm; gen. sing. and nom.-acc. plur. barəŋtō, gen. plur. barəŋtqm.

Participles from athematic verbs have strong stems in -aŋt- and weak stems in -at- and are declined like adjectives in -aŋt-, e.g., hatō, hātqm gen. sing. and plur. of haŋt- “being.”

The feminine is formed with the ending -ī, e.g. barəŋtī-, haiī-.

On the irregular nom. sing. of present participles see Lesson 17.

Note that present participles (see below) in -aŋt- from thematic stems preserve their n in the weak cases.

SYNTAX

Uses of the genitive

1. Adnominal genitive

The primary function of the genitive is “adnominal.” The main adnominal functions are:

1a. Possessive genitive

This genitive expresses various kinds of possession (“the man’s house, the man’s son”). Note especially the use of the gen. + “to be” which corresponds to Eng. “to have”: “mine is a son” = “I have a son” (see Lesson 12):

ātarš Ahurahe Mazdā puθrō “The fire, son of Ahura Mazda” . tum Zaratruštrō nmānahe Pourušaspahe .
 “You (are) Zarathustra of the house of Pourušāspa.” (Y.9.13)

xʷafnəm mazdadātəm yazamaide šāitim pasuuā vīraiiā
 “We sacrifice to sleep established by Ahura Mazda, peace of (for) cattle and men.” (Vr.7.3)

*nāirika yā *uuaiiā xšudrā hqm.raēθβaiieiti* mazdaiiasnəmca daēuuaiiasnanəmca
 “The woman (who) mixes the semen of both: of Mazdaiiasnians and of demon-sacrificers.” (after N.11)

apa aēšqm bāzuuā aojō tum graṇtō xšaiiamnō barahi
apa pādaiiā zāuuarā apa cašmanā sukəm apa gaošaiiā sraoma
 “You, when angered, are capable of carrying away the strength of their two arms, the endurance of their two feet, the sight of their two eyes, the hearing of their two ears.” (Yt.10.23)

hē ptā gōušcā ašaṅhācā ašaonascā ašāuuairiiāscā stōiš haiθiiō vaṅhudā
 “He is the father of the cow, of Order, of the sustainer of Order, and the Orderly existence, (he) the true (one), giver of good things.” (Y.58.4)

Note: ašaṅhācā is an archaizing form.

It is possible to have a genitive depending upon another genitive:

rauuasca xʷāθrəmca āfrināmi vispaiiā ašaonō stōiš qzasca dužāθrəmca āfrināmi vispaiiā druuatō stōiš
 “I invite the spaciousness and good breathing space of the entire existence of the sustainer of Order;
 I invite the constriction and bad breathing space of the entire existence of the one possessed by the

4. She came to his help, she bore him aid.
5. It was not long before she put him down upon the earth created by Ahura Mazdā and his own house, healthy, unharmed, unhurt, just like before.
6. Afterward, Pāuruua brought her a hundred horses, a thousand bulls, and ten thousand sheep.
7. Then Yima went forth at noon on the road of the endless lights saying:
8. Dear life-giving Ārmaiti, go both forth and spread wide and far, bearer of small and large animals and men!
9. Here went forth small and large animals and men, (each) according to (his) own wish and pleasure, however was his pleasure.
10. Then this earth became full of small and large animals and men, of dogs and red hot fires.

tauruna-: young	zāuuar- n.: strength

PHONOLOGY

Consonant alternations: velars and labials

The velars k and g were palatalized before e (> a), i, and ī already in early Indo-Iranian, a change which frequently produced alternations within the paradigms and between different forms derived from the same root.

In Avestan the original velars k and g in addition frequently became the spirants x and γ, and the palatalized c and j sometimes became š and ž, which complicates the picture considerably.

Forms with the original k and g may no longer be attested among the Young Avestan forms.

Similar, but fewer, changes befell the labial and dental stops.

Examples:

	Stop:		Spirant:	Palatal:	Sibilant:
		unvoiced	voiced
√vak		vāx-š, ux-ta-	vāγ-žibiš	vācim
√tank	tak-aθra-	tax-ma-		tañc-išta-	tqš-iih-
√ak	ak-a-			ac-išta-	aš-iih-
√aog	aog-əmaide	aox-ta		aojaite
√aog	aogarə		uγ-ra-	aoj-ah-
√draog		drux-š, drux-ta-	draoγ-a-	druj-im	druž-a-
√ap	āp-ō	āf-š	aiβ-iš
√dab	dapta		diβža-, daiuuiš
√ptar	p<sup>a</sup>ta	f.<sup>ə</sup>δrōi
	p<sup>a</sup>t-a	piθ-re	f<sup>ə</sup>δ-rōi

Combinations of stops and dental stops

From the preceding table we see that k/g + t > xt, but p/b + t > pt. [All the other Iranian languages have ft.]

Dental stops behave rather differently from this. When an ending beginning with a dental stop (t or d) is added to a stem also ending in a dental stop, the resulting combination is replaced by the sequence sibilant + dental stop: st, zd.

The combination t + t always > st, e.g., amauuat + tama- > amauuastama- “most forceful.”

The combinations d + t or d + d usually > zd, as in dazdi “give!” < **dad-di* and dazde < **dad-te*. We also find st, however, as in dasta “give (plur.!)” < **dad-ta*, and daste beside dazde < **dad-te*.

[The forms daste and dazde reflect the two-fold origin of Avestan (Iranian) dā-: from Indo-Iranian dā- “to give” (Greek didōmi, Latin dare) and dhā- (Greek tithēmi, Latin facere, English do), present stems dadā- and dadhā-. The forms were originally **dad-tai* and **dadh-tai*. The first regularly became daste. The second was subject to two pre-Iranian rules which produced the form **dad-dhai* (progressive assimilation and movement of the aspiration). This form then regularly became Iranian **daddai*, which in turn became dazde. In Old Avestan the two forms are still used in their original meanings, but in Young Avestan no distinction is observed.]

Laryngeals

Indo-European possessed a set of phonemes realized as sounds produced in the throat: in the pharynx or the larynx. These phonemes and their phonetic realizations are commonly referred to as “laryngeals.” In proto-Indo-Iranian two laryngeals—or their later reflexes—seem to have still survived, one probably a kind of h and the other probably a glottal stop—here denoted by the symbol ʾ (the sound found in some local pronunciations of English in words such as battle, pronounced baʾel). In Indo-Iranian these laryngeals contracted with a preceding vowel when they were followed by a consonant or were at the end of a word, but left a “hiatus” when they were between vowels. Later the hiatus disappeared and the vowels were contracted into one long vowel or a diphthong. This hiatus must still have been pronounced in Old Avestan times—even though the orthography does not show it—as two vowels with hiatus between them metrically count as two syllables.

An old laryngeal is also responsible for the alternation between arə and arə in some zero-grade forms. Thus we have kərətə- “done” < √kar, but starətə- < √starH (but stərətə- “stunned” < √star). We also see the effect of the original laryngeal in forms such as darəya- < **dṛHga*-, as opposed to drājah- < **draHjah*-.

NOUNS

Laryngeal stems

Schematically, the development of the masc. ā-stem mazdā- must have been as follows:

	early Indo-Iran.	late Indo-Iran.	Old Avestan	Young Avestan	Spelling
nom.	* mazdaH-s	> * mazdās	> * mazdāh	> * mazdāh	> mazdā
acc.	* mazdaH-ŋi	> * mazdaʾam	> * mazdaʾam	> * mazdām	> mazdām
gen.	* mazdaH-as	> * mazdaʾas	> * mazdaʾah	> * mazdāh	> mazdā

raii-

The i-stem raii- “wealth” has the following irregular forms, also caused by the presence of a laryngeal. No nom. forms are attested:

Sing.
acc.	* raHim	> * raʾim	raēm
gen.	* raHīah	> * rāīah	rāiīō
Plur.
acc.	* raHinš	> * raʾiš	raēš
gen.	* raHīām	> * rāīām	rāiīqm

Note: The gen. plur. has the common shortening of ā before ii (Lesson 16).

The masculine ā-stem pañtā-

This stem is characterized by double ablaut, that is, both the root and the (original) suffix change during the declension. Some of the irregularities of this noun are due to the original presence of a laryngeal, which, when coming between the t of this stem and the vowel of an ending, turned the t into θ (tH > th > θ), but was lost between consonant.

In both Old Indic and Avestan the paradigm is completed by n-stem forms. YAv. also has a fem. paθā-.

	early Indo-Iran.	early Iranian	YAv.	pañtan -	paθā -
Sing.
nom.	* pantaH-s	* pantāh	pañtā
acc.	* pantāH-ŋi	* pantaʾam	pañtām	pañtānəm
gen.	* pañtH-as	* paθah	paθō
Plur.
nom.	* pantaH-as	* pantaʾah	-	pañtānō
acc.	* pañtH-as	* paθah	paθō		paθā
gen.	* pañtH-ām	* paθām	paθqm

Han-stems

The following words with similar double ablaut were probably originally Han-stems:
marətān-/marəθn- < **marta-Han-/mart-H-n*- “containing dead stuff(?)” (YAv. only in Gaiia- Marətān-);
hazaŋhan-/hazasn- < **hazah-Han-/hazas-H-n*- “violent person” (< hazah- “violence”);
hāuuānān- < **hauāna-Han-/hauāna-Hn-*, the priest in charge of the pressing of the haoma (hauuana-):

Sing.
nom.	marəta	hazaŋha	hāuuana
acc.	-	hazaŋhanəm	hāuuānānəm
gen.	marəθnō	-	hāuanānō
Plur.
nom.	* marətānō (OAv.)	-
gen.	-	hazasnəm

Note: In principle, OAv. marətānō could be the gen. sing. < **marta-Hn-ah*, if the Yav. weak stem marəθn- is secondary.

Root nouns ending in laryngeals

The root nouns in -ī and -ū were also originally laryngeal stems. Examples: ratufri- “which satisfies the (ritual) models,” yauuaēji- “who/which lives for ever,” yauuaēsū- “who/which forever renews life,” zauuanō.sū- “who/which renews life when libated (to?)”:

	early Indo-Iran.	early Iranian	YAv.
Sing.
nom.	* jiH-š , * suH-š	* jiš , * sūš	jiš , suš
acc.	* jiH-ŋ , * suH-ŋ	* ji'am , * su'am	jim , sum
gen.	* jiH-as , * suH-as	* ji'ah , * su'ah	-
Plur.
nom.-acc.	* jiH-ŋs , * suH-ŋs	* ji'ah , * su'ah	jiiō , suuō
gen.	* jiH-ām , * suH-ām	* ji'ām , * su'ām	-
Dual
nom.-acc.	* priH-ā(u)	* friHā	friia

The feminine ā-stem *ušā-

The fem. ā-stem ušā- “dawn” also has nom. sing. in -ā and acc. sing. in -qm, like mazdā-. Other forms are made from an ā-stem ušā- and an h-stem ušah-.

Sing.
nom.	ušā
acc.	ušqm	ušāŋhəm
gen.	* ušaiiā

Note: The gen. form is not attested, but the abl. is ušaiiāi from the ā-declension (Lesson 14).

Some irregular i-stems

The i-stems vi- m. “bird,” paiti- “master,” and jaini- f. “woman” have various kinds of irregularities.

Sing.
nom.	viš	paitiš	-
acc.	-	paitim	-
gen.	-	-	janiiaoš
Plur.
nom.	vaiiō	-	janaiiō
acc.	-	-	jainiš
gen.	vaiiṇm (vaiianṇm)	-	jaininṇm

Notes:

No gen. sing. form of paiti- is attested but the dative form (Lesson 13) shows it is irregular. The compounds in paiti- (daṅhu.paiti-, etc.) are regular i-stems.

The gen. sing. of jaini- is not certain. The mss. also have janiiōiš. The form janiiaoš is similar to OInd. patyus < pati-, and so has been preferred here (after Pirart, 1993).

Irregular neuter u-stems

The neut. u-stems āiiu- “life(time),” zānu- “knee,” and dāuru- “tree” have alternating long and zero degrees of the stem corresponding to zero and full grade of the suffix vowel. āiiu- also has regular u-stem forms beside the ablauting ones. The zero grade of zānu- “knee” is žnu- or (x)šnu-, but no nom.-acc. or gen. forms are found.

	āiiu-	dāuru-	zānu-
Sing.
nom.-acc.	āiiu	dāuru	-
gen.	yaoš aiiaoš	draoš	-

The ṅk-decension

There is a group of adjectives with stems ending in ṅk denoting directions (forward, backward, sideways, etc.).

In Avestan the nom. sing. of these stems has lost the original velar, that is, it does not survive as x, as in the other velar stems (vāx-š, etc.), and the ending is -qš < \-āṅ(k)š* [Cf. OInd. -āñ, e.g., parāñi.]

Aside from the nominative, the strong stem ends in -āṅc- and the weak stem in -āc-, sometimes abbreviated to -ac-. The long ā in these forms is not long ablaut grade, but the result of contraction after the loss of a laryngeal: **para-Hank-* > **para'ank-* > parāṅk-.

The only neuter form ends in -āgəṭ, which—it has been suggested—may not be directly from \-ākt*, but a way of writing -āk with a non-released final -k (like the final -t). This form is from **para'ak(t)* < **para-Hṅk(t)*.

Sing.
nom.	-qš, -iš; n. -āgəṭ	apaš, paiti.yqš, paraš, fraš, viš	n. parāgəṭ f. apašī-
acc.	-āṅcim	°niāncim
Plur.
nom.	-āṅcō	niiāncō, haθrāncō

Notes:

The form viš (Lesson 5) may be for **viš*, as in the acc. plur. of i-stems.

In the fem. apaśī, the c has apparently been palatalized before the i, more probably it has been introduced by analogy with gen.-dat. forms (unattested): **apaśīiā*, **apaśīiāi*, where it would be regular.

ADJECTIVES

The comparative and superlative

As in other Indo-European languages there are two different ways of forming the comparative and superlative of an adjective, a “regular” and an “irregular” one, compare English long ~ longer ~ longest versus much ~ more ~ most.

These two methods correspond to two Avestan kinds of comparatives and superlatives, one made with the suffixes -tara- and -tama, respectively, added to the positive form of the adjective and another with -iiāh- and -išta-, respectively, added to a different form of the adjective than the positive.

The comparative is discussed in Lesson 14.

The superlative

The superlative in -tama- is formed by attaching this ending to the stem of the adjective with appropriate sandhi before the ending -tama-. Adjectives with ablauting suffixes take the weak stem (cf. the comparatives, lesson 14).

Note that a-stems often take a special “composition form” in -ō (= nom. sing. masc.) before this ending. Consonant stems in -t change the t > s before the t- of the ending (-t-t- > -st-).

The superlative in -išta- is made from the root in the full grade, also with appropriate sandhi (k > c, g > j). Adjectives with suffixes lose the suffixes in this type of superlative.

1. Examples of superlatives in -tama-:

bāēšaziia- “healing”	bāēšaziiō.tama-
hubaoiḍi- “fragrant”	hubaoiḍitama-
hudāh- “giving good gifts”	hudāstama-
yāskərət- “competitive”	yāskərəstama-
amauuant- “forceful”	amauuastama-
vərəθrauuant- “resistant, valorous”	vərəθrauuastama-
ašauuan- “Orderly”	ašauuastama-
vərəθrajan- “victorious”	vərəθrajastama-

Note: ašauuastama- and vərəθrajastama- are analogical after amauuastama-, vərəθrauuastama-, etc.

2. Examples of superlatives in -išta-:

aka- “evil”	acišta-
āsu- “fast”	āsišta-
pouru- (< *pṛH-u- ) “much”	fraēšta- (< *praH-išta- )
vaṅhu- “good” (< *vahu- )	vahišta-
driyu- “poor”	draējišta-
masita- “long”	masišta-
mazānt- “big”	mazišta-
spənta- “beneficial”	spəništa- (< *span-išta- )
šiiāta- “happy”	šiiāišta- taxma- (< **tḡk-ma-*) “firm”

tañcišta- namra- “soft, pliable”

nqmišta- srira- (< **sriH-ra-*) “beautiful”

sraēšta- (< **sraiH-išta-*)

stura- (< **stHu-ra-*) “stout, strong”

stāuuišta- (< **staHṷ-išta-* or **stHaṷ-išta-*)

sura- (< **suH-ra-*) “rich in life-giving strength”

səuuišta- (< **saṷH-išta-*)

uṡra- “strong”

aojišta- buiiri-

dbōišta-

Notes:

The form xraθβišta- “most intelligent” corresponds to xratumañt- “intelligent,” but is probably a “learned” form derived from the noun xratu-.

Forms with double suffix are also found: draējištō.təma- “the most poorest.”

VERBS

Middle participles

The middle present participles have the ending -əmma- in the thematic, and -āna- (-ana-) in the athematic conjugations, e.g., athematic: ṡmāna- < jan-/gn- “smash,” mruuāna- < mrao-/mru- “speak,” aojāna- < aog- “say,” hunušana- < hao-/hu- “press (the haoma),” daθāna- < daδā-/daδ- “place,” thematic: yazəmma-, barəmma-.

The thematic participle undergoes the usual changes of the stem vowel in iia- stems, after a palatal consonant, and after -uu-. Examples: mainimna-, yezimna-, hacimna- < haca- “follow,” daomna- < dauua- “chatter (lies).”

Often the “regular” forms have been reintroduced in the iia- stems (-imna- ~ -iiamna-), and in the aiia- stems there seem to be no examples of the original forms (in **-aēmna-*); only forms in -aiiamna- are attested.

Note the expression uiti aojana-, uitiiaojana- “(thus) saying, with the words.”

Past participles

The past participle (Eng. “done, killed”) has the ending ta-. The ending is in most cases added to the zero grade of the root of the verb, if possible. Since the ending begins with t, numerous internal sandhi modifications take place:

I. Roots ending in vowels:

1. Roots ending in diphthong/short vowel:  $\sqrt{\acute{s}ao/\acute{s}u}$ : śuta-.
2. Roots ending in long vowels:  $\sqrt{dā}$ : dāta-,  $\sqrt{stā}$ : stāta-.

II. Roots ending in consonants:

1. Roots ending in stops:  $\sqrt{vak}$ : uxta-,  $\sqrt{dab}$ : dapta-,  $\sqrt{band}$ : basta-.
2. Roots ending in sibilants and h:  $\sqrt{spas}$ : spašta-,  $\sqrt{varz}$ : varšta-,  $\sqrt{x'ah}$ : x'asta-.
3. Roots ending in nasals:  $\sqrt{man}$ : mata-.
4. Roots ending in r:  $\sqrt{kar}$ : kərəta-,  $\sqrt{star}$ : stərəta-.
5. Roots ending in laryngeal: dāta- (< **daH-ta-*), frita- (< **friṭa-*), huta- (< **hūta-*), starəta- (< **stṛHta-*).

SYNTAX

Use of the genitive. 2

1c. Further examples of the possessive genitive

The possessive genitive is used with the verb “to be” in the sense of English “to have”:

mana xʷarəθəm asti “I have food, it serves me as food.”

pañcanam ahmi pañcanam nōiṭ ahmi
“I belong to five. To five I do not belong.”

Mazdā aogarə Mazdā xšaθrəm Mazdā astuuā aṅhuš asti nōiṭ drujō
“To Mazdā belongs the might, to Mazdā the royal command, to Mazdā the existence with bones, not to the Lie.” (after Yt.13.12)

A special use of the possessive/objective genitive is seen in expressions of the type “land-lord of the land”:

dañhəuš dañhupaitiṣ zañtəuš zañtu.paitiṣ višō viṣ.paitiṣ nmānahe nmānō.paitiṣ “Land-lord of the land, tribe-lord of the tribe, town-lord of the town, house-lord of the house.”

2d. Further examples of the partitive genitive

θrišum aētahe šiiəθnahe baxšəṅti... naēməm aētahe šiiəθnahe baxšəṅti ... višpəm aētahe šiiəθnahe baxšəṅti
“They distribute one-third of this act; they distribute one half of this act; they distribute all of this act”
(V.8.98-100)

yātauuō mašiiānəm
“Sorcerers among men, those of men who are sorcerers.” (Yt.8.44)

Miθrō āsištō yazatanəm
“Miθra, the fastest of/among gods.”

Vištāspō aṅhəm daxiiunəm āsu.aspō.təmō bauuaṭ
“Vištāspa became the one possessing the fastest horses of (among) these lands.” (Yt.5.98)

2e. Partitive genitive of time and place

The partitive genitive can be used with adverbs of place (“there, where?”) and time (“then, when?”):

dātarə gaēθanəm astuuaitinəm ašāum kuua paoirim aṅhā zəmō šāištəm

(after Yt.13.2)

PHONOLOGY

Anaptyxis.

In addition to the cases described in Lesson 6, anaptyxis is also found:

1. occasionally between stops: patarō for **ptarō* “fathers”;
2. between z and r: zarazdāiti- beside zrazdāiti- “faith,” cf. Skt. śraddhā(-?);
3. between s and following consonant in word and sentence sandhi (cf. Lesson 4): imāsa tē “these your,” yasə θβqm “who you” < yō + θβqm; aǰhāsa tanuuō “of this body”; usə.hištən “they stood up” < us + hištən, vīsa.baxtəm “distributed by towns”;
4. between two spirants followed by r: vaxədra-, cf. uxda-;
5. between v or uu and ii: vaiiemī “I pursue” < **vīāmi*; gəθəūuuaiiō = gəθəābiiō; hāuuōiia “left” (opposite of right), hāuuaiiaca (cf. fem. haoiīā-); māuuōiia (cf. OAv maibiīā); xšmāuuōiia < OAv. xšmaibiīā, driuuaiiāasca < driuuī- . More commonly uuīi is simplified to uii (and -auuii- > -aoii-);
6. between y or ii and uu: yauua = yuua (< yuuan- “youth”), mainiiuuasah- = maini(i)uuasah- < mainiiu- + asah- “whose place is in the world of thought”;
7. between consonant and ii: apiia = apiia “in the water” (< āp-/ap- “water”).

Consonants before b

The dative-ablative and instrumental plural, the dative-ablative-instrumental dual, and dative singular of several pronouns have endings beginning with b. In the consonant stems the resulting consonant groups are treated in various ways.

In consonant stems in s, š, and h (< **s*), according to the general rules of assimilation (Lesson 6), the final sibilant was voiced before the b. Due to various specific Avestan sound changes the rules are not so obvious, thus final s (< **č*) and š (< **s*) before b become ž: s-b, š-b > žb, and in h-stems final h is lost with modification of the preceding vowel: -ah-b- > -ōb-, -āb-, as if the ending were a separate word.

A tendency to write the ending as a separate word is seen in stems in dental stops, where \-atb-* and \-adb-* > -at.b-, e.g., druuaṭ.biiō (-adbiiō).

In nt-stems which retain the n, the group -ntb- is reduced to -ṅb- (-mb-).

In p-stems (ap-) the group -pb- is assimilated and simplified, and the intervocalic -b- regularly becomes -β-, e.g., aiβiiō.

In the velar stems we should expect some form from -gb- (-γβ- > -uu-?), but no such forms are attested; instead we find before endings beginning with b what look like nominative forms, e.g., vāyžəbiiō, vāyžibiīō.

Labialization of əṛə

Dative

The dative ending in the sing. was \-ai*, which combined with the stem vowel of a- and ā- stems to form the ending -āi, but otherwise became -ie, -iie.

The original diphthong remained in sandhi as -ae°. In late manuscripts we sometimes find -t- 𐬯 instead of -ē- 𐬯, that is, -aiiatca for -aiiaēca.

In the dative sing. of ā- stems an element -aii- is usually inserted before the ending, as in the genitive.

Only gəθəā- has the dative gəθəiīāi rather than **gəθəaiīāi*. This is no doubt due to the frequent expression astuuaiθiīāi gəθəiīāi < astuuaiti- gəθəā- “the world of living beings with bones.” In metrical texts gəθəiīāi usually counts three syllables.

Young Avestan has no form comparable to the Skt. thematic -āya. [Old Avestan, however, has \-āiīā*, usually written āi.ā.]

The original ending -iie is only (apparently) preserved in the ending of the ū-stems: -uiie, but this is probably secondary from \-uūie* < \-uūai*. It is more clearly seen in h-stems, which have the ending -aḡhe < \-ahie*.

Regular u- and ao-stems have dative in -aoe (< \-aoiie*), which in the mss. is often replaced by -auue.

In u<sup>2</sup>-stems in -tu-, the original ending (\-tūai* >) \-θūai* became -θβε prior to -ūai to \-uūie* > -uiie. In stems in -hu- the ending -ue combined with the preceding -ḡh- to form -ḡhe (e.g., aḡhe).

The ending of the dat. plur. is -biiō (-biias<sup>o</sup>), before which the a-stems have the diphthong aē. After vowels this ending became -βiiō and -uuiiō (after -a-: -aoiīō), but these forms are found only rarely, having been replaced by the postconsonantic form -biiō.

The forms of the dative dual are obtained by replacing the ending -biiō by -biiā, for which we sometimes find -βε or -uue, with -e < -iia (Lesson 4).

The only—apparent—exception is bruuat.biiqm in aṅtarāt naēmāt bruuat.biiqm “from between the eyebrows” (V.8.41, etc.), of uncertain form and function, the expected word for “eyebrow” being simply **brū-*. Elsewhere aṅtarāt naēmāt takes the genitive, and -qm looks like gen. plural. [The similarity with OInd. -bhyām is therefore quite coincidental.]

The endings of the vocalic declensions are:

VERBS

Present stems. The thematic conjugations

In the thematic conjugations all the present stems end in the vowel a, before which the root is modified in various ways. This is an overview of the types of Avestan present stems.

A. Stems with only a added to the root.

1. Root with zero grade: visa- “be ready,” hərəza- “release,” etc.
2. Root with full grade: cara- “walk,” bauua- “become,” maēza- “urinate,” saoca- “burn,” etc. This is the most common type. Some roots of this type may contain old formants, which have no discernible function: stems in \-sa-*: baxša- “distribute” <  $\sqrt{\text{bag}}$ ; stems in -uua-: juua- “live,” fiiarhuua- “hail,” hauruua- “guard”; expanded by -aiia-: raēθbaiia- ( $\theta\beta-$  <  $-\theta uu-$ ) “blend,” tauruuaiia- “overcome”; stem in -da-: only *\*x'abda-* “to sleep” in ni.x'abdaiia- and auuaŋ'habda-.
3. Root with long grade: brāza- “shine,” frāda- “further,” etc.

B. Stems with iia added to the root.

1. The root in principle has the zero grade, but roots of the type  $C_1aC_2$  where the  $C_2$  is not (usually) r, retain the a and roots in  $\bar{a}$  just add iia: paidiia- “lie,” spasiia- “look,” maniia- “think,” uxšiia- “grow,” buidiia- “notice,” miriia- “die”; θrāiia- “protect,” daiia- (< *\*dāiia-*) “to place, give.” To this class belong the passive forms in iia, derived from transitive verbs: janiia-, kiriia- “be done,” bairiia- “be carried.”
2. Denominative verbs (i.e., verbs derived from a noun): aēnaŋha- “to make sinful(?)” < aēnah- “sin, transgression,” bišaziia- and baēšaziia- “to heal” < bišaz- “doctor” baēšaza- “medicine,” nəmaxiia- “to do homage” < nəmah- “homage,” etc.
3. Stems in -aniia: zaraniia- “to become angry,” pərəsaniia- “to discuss,” probably secondary after viixmaniia- “to discuss, debate,” denominative of viixman- “*verbal contest.”

C. Stems with aiia added to the root. All these stems are typically transitive.

1. A few stems in -aiia- are < -āiia- (which sometimes remains): gəuruuāiia- “grasp” (cf. Skt. gṛbhāya-), etc. Some of these verbs have alternate present stems in nā (gərəβnā-, Skt. gṛbhñā-).
2. Root with zero grade: bərəjaiia- “exalt(?),” sađaiia- “seem, appear” (<  $\sqrt{\text{sand}}$ ), zbaiaa- “invoke” (< zbā), etc.
3. Root with full grade: daēsaiia- “show,” bandaiia- “bind,” darəzaiia- “chain,” etc.
4. Root with lengthened grade: kāraiia- “sow, till,” etc.

Most verbs of this type are causatives and correspond to non-causative stems of other formations:

jāmaia- “make go” ← jas-, tācaia- “make flow” ← tac-, etc. A few are derived from roots with long ā: rāzaia- “to straighten” and have no corresponding non-causative stem.

D. Stems with sa added to the root in the zero (or full) grade. This is a common type in Avestan (= OInd. verbs in -ccha-).

1. Root with zero grade: jas- “go, come” (< √gam), pərəsa- “ask,” etc.

Several of these stems have inchoative meaning, that is, “to start becoming something, to become something”: tafsa- “to become hot,” tərəsa- “to become afraid,” etc. In later Iranian, this type became a common passive formation.

2. Roots in long ā: yāsa- “request.”

E. Stems with hīia/šīia added to the root in the full grade. This is the future tense (see Lesson 14): naēšīia- < √naē/ni “lead,” vaxšīia- < √vak/vac “speak,” etc. The form bušīia- < √baō/bu “become” is irregular.

F. Stem with n infix and a added to the root.

Some of these are old thematic formations: kərənta- “to cut” (< √kart), hiŋca- “to pour” (< √haēc/hic), etc.

Others are secondary formations of athematic verbs with n infix (see Lesson 16): mərəŋca- “to destroy” (< √mark), viŋda- “to find” (< √vaēd/vid), etc.

G. Stems with reduplication and a added to the root:

1. With simple reduplication: hišta- “stand” (< √stā), hišta- “sit” (< √had), hišmara- “remember” (< √hmar), etc. Some of these may have “conative” function: tītara- “try to cross(?)”.

2. With strong reduplication: γžarə.γžara- “rush (of waters),” jaŋna- “smash to smithereens.” Verbs of this type express repeated or forceful action (“intensives”).

H. Stems with reduplication and haša added to the root. These verbs are the so-called desideratives, that is, verbs with the meaning “to wish to do” the action expressed by the simple verb: zixšnāŋha- “to wish to know” < √xšnā, mīmarəxša- “to wish to destroy” (< √mark), susruša- “to wish to hear” (< √srao/sru), sixša- “to learn” (< **si(š)xša* < √sak; cf. sācaia- “to teach”), diβža- “seek to deceive” (< **di(d)βža* < √dab).

Verbal adjectives in -θα-, -θβα-, and -īia-

Avestan has some adjectives derived from verbs which express “that which should/can/is to be done,” similar in function to the Latin gerundive.

One group of adjectives have suffixes -θα- (frequently -δα- by internal sandhi) or -θβα- (-tuua- by internal sandhi), the others have the suffix -īia-.

The adjectives in -θα- are similar to the past participles and are formed from the same stems: uxda- “to be spoken” < √vak/vac, θraqda- “to be satisfied” < √tarp/θrap, friθα- “to be invited, pleased” < √fraē/fri, yuxθα- “to be harnessed” < √yaog/yug. – The form from drug- “deceive” varies in the mss. between draoxda- and druxda- “to be deceived, deceivable.”

The adjectives in -θβα- are made from roots in the full grade: jqθβα- “to be smashed, smashable,” mqθβα- “(thought) to be thought,” staθβα- “to be praised,” vaxδβα- “(word) to be spoken,” varštūua-, xšnaoθβα- “to be made favorable,” yašəθβα- “to be sacrificed to, worthy of sac

The adjectives in -īia- are made from roots in the zero or full grade (like the present stems in -īia-). Some, presumably by analogy, are made from nouns: bərəjīia- “*praiseworthy,” išīia- “speedy,” karšīia- “that ought to be tilled, plowed,” vairīia- “well-deserved, worthy,” zaōīia-; yesnīia- “worthy of sacrifice” (< yasna-), vahmīia- “worthy of hymns” (< vahma-).

4. I call upon the life-giving Orderly Gāθās, whose power is from the Models; I call (upon them) for me for my own soul, for protection, for watching, for guard, for overseeing.
5. I established O Zarathustra Spitamid, yonder star Tištriia for yonder witch, the one of bad seasons, for (her) resistance, for (her) obstruction, for (her) overcoming, for responding to her animosities.
6. To whom among us does he give that gift for ever and ever?
7. Zarathustra, do not show this poem other than to a father or a son or a brother german.
8. Whom did you consult with, you, O Ahura Mazda? Whom did you show the daēnā belonging to Ahura Mazda and Zarathustra?
9. Then Ahura Mazda said: (With) beautiful Yima with good herds, O Orderly Zarathustra, him I consulted with, I, Ahura Mazda, him I showed the daēnā belonging to Ahura Mazda and Zarathustra.
10. Then for Yima, for (his) rule, three hundred winters passed (= came together); then this earth became full for him of small and large animals and men.

LESSON 14

PHONOLOGY

Lengthening of a and shortening of ā.

Changes in vowel length that are found frequently throughout the corpus and therefore must be genuine linguistic features include shortening of ā > a and lengthening of a > ā, both in initial and internal position:

a is lengthened:

for rhythmic reasons (?) in initial syllable in:

āiia < **aiia* in the expression āiia zēmā “throughout this earth,” ākərən- < **akərən-* “did” (augmented form, see Lesson 19), ārəitimca (= ašimca, P.39), āfrasāṅha-, āfrasāṅhaṅt- < a-fra-sāh- “uninterrupted,” āsitō.gātu- < a-sita- “who has not lain on a bed”;

xštāuuaiiō vs. xštəuuīβiīō;

after ii in mašiiāka- for **mašiiaka-* and mašiiānqm for **mašiiānqm*.

ā is shortened:

often before ii: aiiaoš < āiiu-, OInd. āyu-; zaiia-, OInd. jāya-;

probably before uu in nauuāza-, cf. OInd. nāvājā-; sometimes in the middle participle in -āna- and other words in -āna-: aojana-, stauuana-, etc.; gaodana-;

in initial syllable when an enclitic is attached to the word: apəmca < āpəm; haθrəmcit < hāθrəm (N.91), starasca < stārō; zauuarəca < zāuuarə (Y.71.8);

in the course of declension or when receiving suffixes in antepenultimate or earlier syllables or when the word was unaccented (e.g., vocative): azinqm from āzī- “fertile/pregnant (cow)” (FO.3h), pazaṅhaṅt- “(broad-)chested” < **pāzah-* “chest,” Spitāmō but Spitama, Spitamahe; Sauuaṅhe but Sāuuahē; aḍauuō < āḍu-; occasionally elsewhere: apuθrā- “having no sons” (V.3.24) or “pregnant” < **āpuθrā-* (V.15.5, 8).

Note: The first three changes are common also in eastern Middle Iranian (Sogdian and Khotanese).

ā becomes āa or a in the thematic ending of the ablative -āt, which becomes -āat before enclitic °ca > -āatca, but (not consistently) -at before the postposition haca > -at haca (but always ašāt haca, and some others).

Consonant alternations: š ~ rət

The letter <š> was originally designed to represent the combination of unvoiced allophone of r (hr) + following t (see Lesson 3). It must therefore originally have alternated in regular fashion with rət, but in the extant texts we only see remnants of this alternation, such as in aša- “Order” ~ astuuat.ərəta- “he through whom Order will have bones” (Vocabulary 3) and ašim “reward” ~ ārəitimca (P.39), beside ašimca.

NOUNS

Ablative

The characteristic ending of the ablative singular is -t, before which the stem vowel of the a-stems is lengthened to give -āt. This ending—with the preceding -aii—was also used by fem. ā-stems. There are no examples of abl. sing. of masc. ā-stems.

In the other declensions the ablative is obtained by substituting -t for the original -h (-s°)/-š of the genitive, e.g., bərəzant- “high”: bərəzatō (< °-ta-h) ⇒ bərəzata-t; gairi- “mountain”: garōi-š ⇒ garōi-t; barəsmān- “barsom”: **barəsmān-h* (> barəsmā) ⇒ **barsman-t* > barəsmān; nar- “man”: **nrt-š* (> narš) ⇒ **nṛ-t* (> nərə-t).

Sometimes we find -a added to the ending (-āda, -aēda?, -māda) with the specific meaning “all the way to, up to and including(?), throughout”: xšaθrāda “throughout (Yima’s) reign,” paitiš.xʾarānāda “up to and including the jaw(?),” drujō vaēsmāda “(all the way) to the entrance hall (vaēsman-) of the Lie” (Yt.10.86). Forms in -aēda are less certain (perhaps **aiβišitaēdaca* and **upašitaēdaca* in Yt.19.6 < °šiti-, but āxštaēda in V.3.1 may be a verbal form < ā-stā-).

[The ablative singular was originally identical with the genitive in all declensions except the a-declension. In Young Avestan, however, there are no certain examples of genitive forms used as ablative.]

The ablative plural and dual are identical with the dative plural and dual.

The endings of the sing. are:

Notes:

The masc. paṅtā- has the thematized abl. sing. paṅtaṭ.

The ā-stem haēnā- has dat.-abl. plur. haēnēbiiō in Yt.10.93 in anticipation of the following draomēbiiō < draoman- “deception.”

The fem. ušā- has abl. sing. ušaiiāṭ.

The aē-stem Rayaē-/Raji- has the abl. sing. Rajōiṭ (Y.19.18).

The form ziiānaiiāca in Y.12.2 may be for ziiānaiiatca (cf. auuatbiiō for auuaēibiiō, lesson 13), instead of ziiānōiṭca(?).

ADJECTIVES

Feminine of h-stems

The feminine of h-stem adjectives is formed by adding -ī- to the (weak) stem, e.g.: yātumanahī-; maziihī < **maziiahī-*, but vahehī- < **vahiihī-*; daḍuši- < daḍuuah-/daḍuš- (perfect participles, see Lesson 20).

The comparative

Comparatives are made with the suffixes -tara- or -iih- (< -īah-). These two kinds of comparative correspond to the two kinds of superlative in -tāma- or -išta- (Lesson 12).

The comparative in -tara- is formed by attaching this ending to the stem of the adjective with appropriate sandhi before the ending. Adjectives with ablauting suffixes take the weak stem (cf. the superlatives, lesson 12).

The comparative in -iih- is made from the root in the full grade, also with appropriate sandhi. Adjectives with suffixes lose these in this type of comparative.

1. Examples of comparatives in -tara- (cf. the corresponding superlatives in Lesson 9):

amauuant- “forceful”	amauuastara-	amauuastāma-
baēšaziia- “healing”	baēšaziiō.tara-	baēšaziiō.tāma-
hubaoiḍi- “fragrant”	hubaoiḍitara-	hubaoiḍitāma-

huiiašta- “well sacrificed to”	huiiaštatar-
vərəθrajan- “victorious”	vərəθrajqstara-	vərəθrajqstama-
yāskərət- “competitive”	yāskərastara-	yāskərastama-

2. Examples of comparatives in -iih-:

aka- “evil”	ašiih- (< *ač- īah- )	acišta-
āsu- “fast”	āsiiah-	āsišta-
pouru- “much” (< *pṛH- u- )	frāiih- (< *praH- īah- )	fraēšta- (< *praH- išta- )
vaṅhu- “good”	vahiih- , vaṅhah-	vahišta-
masita- “long”	masiih-	masišta-

VERBS

The future

The future stem is formed by adding the suffix *-sīa- > -hiia-/-šiia- to the root in the full grade (with appropriate sandhi). Exception: √bao has the zero grade bū-. The future is rare in Avestan.

Examples:

	Root	Present stem	Future
-hiia-	√dā “give, place”	dadā-	dāhiia-
	√van “win”	vana-	vañha- (< varj-hiia-)
	√zan “be born”	zaiia- (< zṛH-ja-)	zqhiia- (< zanH-hiia-?)
-šiia-	√naē “lead”	naiia-	naēšiia-
	√sao “make full of life”	sāuuaiia-	saošiia-
	√hao “press (haoma)”	hunauu-/hunuu-	haošiia-

SYNTAX

Uses of the ablative

1. The ablative of movement away from

The basic function of the ablative is to express movement away from.

āēša druxš yā nasuš upa.duuqsaiti apāxəδraēibiio naēmaēibiio
 “This demoness, the Nasu, *attacks from the northern regions.” (V.7.2)

LESSON 15

WORD FORMATION

We have already seen numerous examples of nouns and adjectives derived from other nouns and adjectives by various means, mainly by suffixes, prefixes, or composition. Here a systematic list of the most common suffixes and their functions is given.

Nouns

- ah*-: This common suffix makes nouns from verbal roots: man- “to think” > manah- “thought,” vas- “to wish” > vasah- “a wish.”
- ana*-: This suffix is commonly used to make nouns from verbs, occasionally from adjectives: hanjam- “come together” > hanjamana- “a gathering,” vah- “dress, don” > vaṅhana- “garment”; the function of the suffix in vahmana- “performance of hymns” or adjective “caused by the hymn(?)” (Vr.21.3) is unclear.
Note the three rhyming nouns masāna-, vaṅhāna-, sraiiāna- “greatness, goodness, beauty” (< masita-, vaṅhu-, sraira-).
- ka*-, -kā-: This suffix, which became extremely productive in later Iranian languages (as in Sanskrit), is relatively rare in Avestan: jainī- “woman” > jainikā-, mašiiā- “man” > mašiiākā-, nāiri- “woman” > nāirikā-.
- na*-: This suffix makes nouns from verb roots: yaz- “to sacrifice” > yasna- “a sacrifice,” fras- “ask” > frašna- “question,” xʷap- “to sleep” > xʷafna- “a sleep.”
- ta*- m.: This suffix makes (learned?) neuter abstract nouns from adjectives: yesniia- “worthy of (receiving) sacrifices” > yesniata-, ašauuan- > ašauuasta-, and from verbal roots: staota- “*praise” (in staota- yesniia-) and sraota- “*hearing” (Vr.21.3).
- tar*-: This common suffix makes agent nouns from verbal roots: dā- “to establish” > dātar- “establisher, Creator,” zao- “to libate” > zaotar- “libator,” bar- (act.) “to carry” > barətar- (< **bartár*-) “carrier,” bar- (mid.) “to ride” > bāšar- (< **bár-tar*-) “rider.”
- tāt*- f. “-dom, -ty”: This suffix makes abstract nouns from adjectives. It is very common: hauruuā- “whole” > hauruuatāt- “Wholeness,” upara- “superior” > uparatāt- “superiority,” yauuāē- “eternal” > yauuāētāt- “eternity.”
- tī*- f.: This extremely common suffix makes action nouns from verb roots (weak stem): stu- “to praise” > stuiti- “praising,” cit- “to make one’s mark, be brilliant(?)” > cisti- “insight, illumination”(?).
- θβa*- n.: This suffix makes nouns from a few nouns and adjectives: aṅhu- ratu- > aṅhuθβa- ratuθβa- “ahu-ship, ratu-ship,” vaṅhu- “good” > vaṅhuθβa- “goodness.”
- θra*-, -θrā-: These suffixes usually make nouns denoting tools (occasionally products) from verb roots: vah- > vastra-, vak- > vaxəδra-, vaz- > važdra-, zao- > zaθra-, zaθrā-, az- > aštrā-.
- θā*-: This rare suffix makes nouns from verb roots: gā- > gāθā-, ci- > ciθā-.

Adjectives

- a*-: This suffix replaces the thematic vowel of a- and ā-stems and is added to all other stems. i- and u-stems may or may not take full grade of the stem suffix (aii-, auu-). It is usually attached to a noun with modification of initial syllable: maniiu- > maniiuua-, **Naru*- > Narauua- “son/descendant of Naru.” Some words take vridhhi: kauui- > kāuuaiia-; huzantū- “of good tribe” > haozaθβa- “being of good tribe,” husrauuah- “having good fame” > haozrauuah- “good fame,”
- aēna*-, f. -aēni-: This suffix is used to make adjectives of nouns denoting material: aiiah- “bronze” > aiiaṅhaēna- “(made) of bronze,” **baβra*- “beaver” > baβraēna- “(made) of beaver-skin,” əzazata- “silver” > əzazataēna- “(made) of silver.”
- āna*-, -āni-: These suffixes denote “son/descendant of”: Jāmāspa- > Jāmāspana-, **Āθβiiā*- > Āθβiiāni-.

- i-*: This suffix makes adjectives from nouns, among them patronyms: Zaraθuštra- > zaraθuštri-. It is usually accompanied by vridhhi of the first syllable: ahura- > āhui- “belonging to Ahura (Mazdā),” hauuana- “haoma pressing” > hāuuani- “(time of day) pertaining to the haoma pressing,” vərəθrayna- “victory, god of victory” > vārəθrayni- “victorious,” mazdaiiasna- > (dānā-) māzdaiiasni- (māzdaiiesni-) “the daēnā of the Mazdaiians.”
- ina-*: This suffix makes adjectives of a few nouns: vacah- > vacahina-, maēša- “sheep, widder,” maēšī- “ewe” > maēšina-. — Note especially adjectives from nouns denoting time divisions: ham- “summer” > həmina-, rapiθβā- “noon” > rapiθβina-, ušah- “dawn” > ušahina-, uzaiiara- “afternoon” > uzaiiirina-; but zaiiana- “of winter.”
- ta-*: This suffix makes adjectives from a few nouns: hukərəp- > hukərəpta-, **p<sup>u</sup>tarə* “wing” > patarəta- “winged.”
- θa-*: This suffix makes verbal adjectives (Lesson 14).
- θβa-* (-tuua- after sibilant): This suffix makes verbal adjectives (Lesson 13).
- θβant-* (-tuuant- after sibilant) < -t-uuant-, see -uuant-.
- θiia-*: This suffix makes adjectives from prepositions: aiβi > aiβiθiia-, pasca > pascəθiia-.
- uuan-* m.: This is a rare suffix: ašāuuuan- “sustainer of Order, Orderly” < aša- (fem. ašaonī- and ašāuuairī-; before suffixes, ašāuuuan- has weak stem ašauuat-, e.g., ašauuas-ta-); āθrauuuan- (weak stem aθaurun-), title of a priest.
- uuant-/mant-* (after u): These common suffixes make adjectives from nouns meaning “equipped with, containing”: drug- > druuant-, xratu- > xratumant-. With preceding -t-: star- “to stun” stərəθβant- “stunning, paralyzing,” para.pat- “fly away” > para.patβant- “flying far away.”
- iia-*: This common suffix makes descriptive adjectives from nouns: haoma- > haomiia- “related to the haoma,” xšaθra- “command, power,” > xšaθriia- “commanding,” ratu- > raθβiia- “according to the ratu-,” vis- > visiia- “pertaining to the vis-.”—It also makes verbal adjectives (Lesson 14).
- ra-*: This common suffix makes descriptive adjectives from verbal roots; note that adjectives in -ra- lose this suffix before the comparative and superlative endings, as well as when first member of compounds, where it is commonly replaced with -i- (so-called Caland forms): uγra- “strong” ~ aojiiah-, aojišta-; tiγra- “pointed, sharp” ~ tiži.aršti- “with sharp spear.”

Instrumental

The ending of the instrumental sing. is -a, except in i- and u- stems, which have -i and -u (beside -uua). The plur. ending is regularly -biš, except in a- stems, which have the ending -āiš.

In the ā-declension the element -aii- is again inserted before the ending in the sing.

The modifications in connection with the plural ending -biš are the same as in the dative-ablative.

Note that, in Young Avestan, the instrumental plural commonly takes the ablative-dative ending -biiō instead of the genuine instrumental endings!

Paradigms:

LESSON 15

	u -stems	u <sup>2</sup> -stems	ū -stems
Sing.	vohu	xraθβa	hizuua
Plur.	auuaŋ<sup>h</sup>hiš, vaŋhuš, yātuš		hizubiš

Notes:

The instr. sing. of nouns and adjectives in -iia- should become -ie, which is probably seen in x<sup>v</sup>aēpaiθe (mostly corrupted in the mss.) < x<sup>v</sup>aēpaiθiia- “own.”

Instead of -uua we find -uuō in u-stems (Rašnuuō, xruui.druuō, bāzuuō), and ū-stems (hizuuō).

Feminine ā-stems may occasionally have instr. sing. in -a (e.g., iža Y.60.7; daēna V.18.9, H.1.4).

In Avestan only -āiš is attested as instr. plur. ending of a-stem nouns. There is no ending corresponding to OPers. -aibiš and Skt. -ebhiḥ, except the pronoun aēibiš (see below).

The instr. plur. form auuaŋ<sup>h</sup>hiš (< auuaŋhu- “un-good”) is < **auuaŋhuuiš* < **aūaŋhuβiš*; vaŋhuš and yātuš, if genuine, must be for **vaŋhuuiš* < **vaŋhuβiš* and **yātuuiš* < **yātuβiš*. Note also ažišca in Yt.5.90, coordinated with instr. plur. forms in -āiš(ca). The ending -iš in the n-stems (see below) may also have influenced these forms.

	raē-	yao-
Sing.	raīia	yauua

Consonant stems

	vak-/vac-	druj-	ap-	zam-	vis-	tāt- stems
Sing.	vaca	druja	apa	zəmā	visa	-
Plur.	vayžibiš	-	-	-	-	-

Note: The form zəmā is monosyllabic (**zmā*), hence the vowel is long. It is found in the expression paiti āīia zəmā “on this earth.”

For vayžibiš see Lesson 13.

*r-*stems

Sing.	nara

Sing.	uruna	Airiia(m)a	maēsmana	-
Plur.	suniš		nāmāniš	ašāoniš

The instr. plur. forms nāmāniš, ašāoniš, and suniš are irregular. The regular forms should end in -biš or, at least, -βiš or -uuiš. It is probable therefore that the forms **nāmāuuiš* and **ašāuuuuiš*, compared with the other oblique plur. forms, instead of being remade into **nāmāβiš* and **ašāuuuβiš*, were simply felt to miss an n, which was substituted for the intervocalic, “irregular,” uu. This produced forms that looked like they were made from the weak stem with the ending -iš, which may then have spread by analogy. In ašāoniš the regular weak stem was then also reintroduced.

The original instr. plur. of span-/sun- “dog” must have been **spaβiš*, **spauuiš*, **spaoiš*/**spəuuiš* (< **spabiš* < **kūḡ-bhis*), which was remade, for obvious reasons, after the pattern of ašāoniš: weak stem + -iš.

h-stems

	āh- “mouth”		iih -stems	uuah -stems
Sing.	āḡha	managħa	-	daḡuša
Plur.	-	manābiš	maziiābiš	-

ḡt-stems

	aḡt -stems	act. pres. parts.	uuant -stems	maḡt -stems
Sing.	bəḡazata	-	surunuūata , stəḡəḡβata	gaomata
Plur.	-	-	-	yātumaḡbiš

The form surunuūata “with audible (sacrifice)” is the only form of this word and can form surunuūaḡt- or surunuūata- (cf. yazata-). Other uuant-stems include the pronominal adjectives auuaḡt- “this much/great,” auuaūaḡt- “that much/great,” and yauuaḡt- “as much/great,” with instr. auuata, auuaūuata, and yauuata which is also a conjunction “for as long as.”

nk-stems

The forms parāca, fracca, vica, tarasca are probably to be analyzed as para, etc., + -ca in most instances, but occasionally they seem to be instr. sing. of ḡk-stems (parāḡk-, viiāḡk-).

š-stems

A few stems end in -iš or -uš. The nouns are all neuter, but a few compounds are masc., fem.

Paradigms (snaiḡiš- “blow,” hadiš- “seat,” nasuš- “carrion,” arəduš- a degree of sin):

VERBS

The subjunctive

The forms of the subjunctive are very similar to those of the indicative. Generally speaking the subjunctive is obtained from the indicative by lengthening the thematic vowel of thematic conjugations and adding a thematic vowel in athematic conjugations. The subjunctive forms of athematic verbs are therefore formally often indistinguishable from thematic indicative forms. To further distinguish between the two moods, athematic verbs frequently adopt thematic subjunctive endings.

The principal difference in the endings is the n in the 1st sing. instead of m. The subjunctive uses indiscriminately primary or secondary endings in the active.

yō iməm zqm aiβi.vərəziieiti Spitama Zaratuštra hāuuōiia bazuuō dašinaca dašina bāzuuō hāuuaiiaca upa hē gaonəm baraiti
 “He who tills this earth, O Spitama Zarathustra, with the left arm and the right, with the right arm and the left, she brings him profit.” (V.3.25)

* x<sup>a</sup> aēpaiθe (mss. °paiθa) hizuuō “With one’s own tongue” (Yt.19.95)

Note constructions with figura etymologica:

aṅtarəca druuaṅtəm āmruta aiia aṅtarə.uxti
 “And he ‘interdicted’ the Lieful one by this interdiction.” (Y.19.15)

2. The instrumental of reason, cause

 “He who (goes) without reciting the Gāθās out of evilness or because he despises them, forfeits his body.” (N. 41)
 a. Nom. sing. masc. of the pres. part., see Lesson 17.

3. Instrumental of respect

masanaca vaṅhanaca sraiiianaca “In size, goodness, and beauty.” (Yt.19.58, etc.)
 āaṭ dim daḍqm auuāntəm yesniiata auuāntəm vahmiiata yaθa mąmciṭ yim Ahurəm Mazdqm “Then I made him just as great in sacrifice-worthiness, as great in hymn-worthiness as myself, Ahura Mazdā.” (Yt.10.1)

āaṭ Yimō iməm zqm vī.šāuuaiiaṭ aēuua θrišuuā “Then Yima made this earth go apart by one-third.” (V.2.11)

4. Instrumental of accompaniment and separation

The instrumental is used with the verb “to follow” and the expression (sarəm) vī.mrao- “to say off (association with), to say one will have nothing to do (with),” and some other expressions of separation, deprivation:

yaṭ vispe anie maḍāṅhō Aēšma haciṅte xruui.druuō

LESSON 16

Prefixes

There are basically two types of prefixes, those attached to nouns and adjectives and those attached to verbs. Since, however, many verb forms are used with nominal function (nouns, adjectives), the verbal prefixes are often found in nouns and adjectives as well.

Nominal prefixes

The exclusively nominal prefixes usually make adjectives from nouns:

a-, an- before vowels, ə- before uui (Lesson 5):

This prefix is used to negate nouns and adjectives (including those made from verbs): a- + srušti- “hearing” > asrušti- “non-hearing, lack of hearing” a- + raθβiia- “according to the models” > araθβiia- “not according to the models,” a- + ašauuan- > anašauuan- “not Orderly,” a- + vista- “found” > əuuišta- “unfound, not to be found,” a- + viđuuah- “knowing” > əuuiđuuah- “ignorant.”

It also makes adjectives from nouns expressing “lacking sth.”: a- + karana- “border” > akarana- “endless, unlimited,” a- + ayra- “tip, front” > anayra- “without beginning.”

aipi-: This prefix is found in a few adjectives from nouns: aipi.aβra- “clouded(?)” (< aβra- “cloud”).

arš-, OAv. arəš-, arəž-: This prefix means “correct(ly).” It modifies nouns and makes adjectives from nouns: arš.manah- “having correct thought,” aršuxδa- “to be spoken correctly,” beside which the OAv. form arəžuxδa- is also used.

maṭ-: This prefix makes adjectives from nouns expression “together with, possessing”: maṭ.āzaiṅti- “with *examples,” maṭ.raθa- “possessing chariots.”

hu-: This prefix means “good.” It modifies nouns and makes adjectives from nouns: hušiti- “good dwelling,” humanah- “having good thoughts.”

duš-, duž-: This is the opposite of hu-: dužiti- “bad going,” dušsaṅha- “having bad (evil) announcements.”

Verbal (and nominal) prefixes

The principal verbal prefixes are the following (some are also used with nouns):

aiβi-, auui- “to, toward”: aiβi.vaēna- “to look upon, catch sight of,” aiβi.druža- “to lie to,” (paiti.)aiβi.vōiždaia- “to brandish (back) upon,” auui.bara- “to bring to.”

aipi- “back, in addition to(?)”: aipi.kərəṅta- “cut back, off(?),” aipi.jan- “to strike back, down(?)”

aiti- “to, into”: aiti.jasa- “go up to, into,” aiti.bara- “carry up to, into.”

anu- “along (with)”: anu.marəzata- “to follow close,” anu.taca- “run along with,” anu.maniia- “(help) along with one’s thought(?)”

apa- “away”: apa.taca- “to run away,” apa.bara- “to take away.”

ā- (a-): This prefix expresses motion, usually toward the speaker, occasionally toward the spoken of: ā.jasa- “to come hither,” ā + bara- > auuara- “to bring.” It is sometimes not clear whether we are dealing with an abbreviated ā- or the augment (see Lesson 19);—with nouns: axšafni “in the evening(?)” and asūiri “in the morning(?)” (Yt.14.20).

fra-, frā- “forth”: frā.bara- “to bring forth, present,” frā.hunao- “to press forth,” fra.mrao- “to say forth,” fra.var- “to choose (to be).” With a following ər we have frə-: frə.ənao- “to send forth(?)”

“to carry together, collect” (verbs with this preverb are commonly middle).
nī-, ni- “down”: nijan- “to strike down,” nidaθa- “to lay down, place” niš.hiða- “sit down,” nišāðaiia- “set down, establish.”
niš-, niž- “out, away”: niž.bara- “to take out, take away,” niž.duuara- “to run out.”
para-, parā- “away”: para.iriθiia- “to pass away,” para.jasa- “to go away to(?)” paiti- “toward, against, in turn”: paiti.aog- “to answer,” paiti.jasa- “to come toward.”
pairi- “around; at a distance”: pairi.jasa- “to go around, serve,” pairi.vaēna- “to encompass with one’s sight,” pairi.maniia- “to despise,” pairi.štā- “to stay away,” pairištaiia- “to keep away.”
upa- “(up) to”: upa.taca- “to come running,” upa.zbaiia- “to send one’s invocation to, invoke,” upa.daržnao- “to dare, trust oneself to, venture upon.”
vī- “apart, aside”: vī.jasa- “to go in all directions,” vī.šāuuaiia- “to make go apart.”

Note Yt.10.144: aiβi.daχiiu-, aŋtarə.daχiiu-, ā.daχiiu-, upairi.daχiiu-, aðairi.daχiiu-, pairi.daχiiu-, aipi.daχiiu- “(Miθra) being near, inside, close to, above, below, around, behind(?) the land (the world),” presumably describing the sun and Miθra’s journey above and below the earth.

NOUNS

r/n-stems

A small number of common neut. n-stems have nom.-sing. in -r, among them: aiiar/n- “day,” azar/n- “day,” baēuuar/n- “10,000,” huuar/n- “sun,” karšuuar/n- “continent,” miθbar/n- “couple, pair,” θanuuar/n- “bow,” uruθbar/n- “intestines,” yār- “season, year(?)” (only form).

In the following paradigms thematic and other secondary forms are in parenthesis.

Sing.

Notes:

hū is formed like the acc. of masc. uua-stems (Lesson 7): hū < **huuū* < **huuḡ* < **huuay-h*. Similarly, gen. q is < -ayh.

In the manuscripts, forms such as aiiq and aiiqn (also aiiqm) are usually not distinguished.

PRONOUNS

Special pronominal forms

Pronouns are basically inflected according to the a- and ā-declensions. They have some special characteristic endings, however, which are:

in the neuter nominative-accusative singular the ending -at;

in the masculine nominative plural the ending -e; in the dative, ablative, locative singular masculine and neuter an element -hm- is inserted before the ending, in the dative and ablative singular feminine an element -fjh-.

Another typical feature of pronouns is “suppletivism,” that is, the declensions are made up of different stems, e.g., ima- and a- both belong to “this,” etc.

A few pronominal adjectives are inflected like the pronouns. Note:

neuter nom.-acc. sing. aniiat (but vispəm), masc. dat. sing. aniiahmāi, vispəmāi (< **vispəmāi*?), masc. nom. plur. aniie, vispe, gen. plur. aniiaēšqm, vispaēšqm.

Reflexive and reciprocal pronouns

There are three forms meaning “own”: x<sup>v</sup>a- (huua-), hauua-, and x<sup>v</sup>aēpaiθiia-. x<sup>v</sup>a- is declined as a pronoun, hauua- and x<sup>v</sup>aēpaiθiia- as adjectives. x<sup>v</sup>a- and hauua- have the following forms:

	m., n.	f.
Sing.
nom.		x<sup>v</sup>ā
gen.	x<sup>v</sup>aŋhe , x<sup>v</sup>ahe ( x<sup>v</sup>āi )	x<sup>v</sup>axiiā

inst.	x<sup>v</sup>ā
Plur.

loc.	x<sup>v</sup>aēšū (FrW.)

Note: huuāuuōiia is < **h<sub>u</sub>aβ<sub>i</sub>a*, like māuuōiia < **maβ<sub>i</sub>a*.

	m.	n.	f.

Plur.
nom.-acc.	hauuāŋhō
gen.	hauuanqm
inst.	hauuāiš
loc.			hauuāhuua

The pronoun “self” (“of oneself, by oneself”) is xʼatō.

Reciprocity is expressed by aniia- (...) aniia- “one another, one ... another/the other.”<sup>2</sup>

Indefinite pronouns

Indefinite pronouns are formed by repetition or by adding -ciṭ to the interrogative pronouns or by a combination, e.g., kahmāiciṭ “to whomsoever,” kahe kahiiāciṭ “of each and everyone,” kahmi kahmicṭ “in each and every,” kaḥhe kaḥhe “in each and every.” Indefinite relative pronouns: yaṭciṭ “whatever, whenever”; indefinite adverbs: kuuaciṭ “wherever.”

The indefinite particles -ca and -cina (< \-cana*) are less common, e.g., cišca “whoever, everyone” kaḥacina “how-ever.”

The negative indefinite pronouns are identical with the interrogative pronouns prefixed with the negation, e.g., naēciš “nobody,” māciš “let nobody.”

Paradigms:

	m.	f.
Sing.
nom.	kasciṭ	kāciṭ
acc.	kəm kəmcṭ	kəmcṭ
gen.	kahe kahiiāciṭ (Y.61.4)	*kaḥhāsciṭ (N.84)
dat.	kahmāiciṭ
loc.	kahmi kahmicṭ	kaḥhe kaḥhe

PARTICLES

Emphatic particles

Besides forming indefinite pronouns, the enclitic particle -ciṭ is used in the meaning “even, too.” The particle -cina probably has a similar meaning.

Other particles include bā of uncertain meaning (“well”).

Enclitic particles include:

-iṭ: cōiṭ, bōiṭ, nōiṭ, **mōiṭ* (Yt.10.69?), apōiṭ (N.8), frōiṭ, parōiṭ, yaḍōiṭ (V.6.27) < -ca, bā, **na*, mā, apa, frā, parā, yaḍa + -iṭ;

-ḍa: naēḍa “nor” < nōiṭ, māḍa “and (do) not” < ma, bāḍa, bāiṭ(?);

VERBS

Present stems. The athematic conjugations

In the athematic conjugations the present stems end in a consonant or in a vowel, short or long (laryngeal stems). All athematic stems show ablaut. There are the following types.

A. Root stems consist of the root itself, modified only by ablaut and internal sandhi changes, e.g., jan-/ja-lyn- “smash,” vas-/us-/uš- “wish,” stao-/stu- “hear,” mrao-/mru- “say,” nād-/nid- “blame, revile.”

B. Reduplicated stems are identical with the root stems plus reduplication. The reduplications are of three types: with a short vowel, with a long vowel or a diphthong, or with a whole syllable: consonant + vowel + consonant. Verbs with a diphthong or long vowel in the reduplicating syllable are called “intensives.”

1. Reduplicating syllable with short vowel, e.g., daḍā-/daḍ- “place, give,” diḍāi-/ “see,” hišhak-/hišc- “follow,” cikaē-/ “pay for.”

2. Reduplicating syllable with long vowel or diphthong or two consonants. Few forms are attested, e.g., *zaozao-/zaozu- “constantly call upon,” *carakar-/carəkərə- “constantly sing sb.’s praise,” *daradar-/darədərə- “tear to pieces,” sqaṣaṣh- “constantly announce.”
- C. Stems with n-infixes are originally roots of the type √CVC or √CVCC which formed their present stems by infixing -n(a)- before the last consonant CV-na-C-/CV-n-C-. The root itself is always in the zero grade, while the suffix shows ablaut. There are three main types, those from roots ending in -y, a laryngeal -H, or in another consonant.
1. Stems from roots ending in a consonant other than y or H, e.g., cinah-/ciš- “*indicate, refer” (< *ciš-) [√caē-s/ci-s, present stem *ci-na-s-/ci-n-s-; cf. ikaēša-], *mərənak-/mərəṅk- “destroy” [√mark, present stem *mṛ-na-k-/mṛ-n-k-], vinad-/viṇd- “find” [√vaē-d/vi-d, present stem vi-na-d-/vi-n-d-].
  2. Stems from roots ending in H were originally of the type CV-na-H-/CV-n-H-. In Indo-Iranian the laryngeal combined with the infix -na- to produce the suffix -nā-/n-, e.g., frinā-/frin- “invite as guest(?)” (√fraē/fri < *fri-H, present stem *fri-na-H-/fri-n-H-), miθnā-/ “dwell” (√maēθ/miθ < *mit-H, present stem *mit-na-H-/mit-n-H-).
  3. Stems from roots ending in y were originally of the type CV-na-y-/CV-n-y-. The y combined with the infix -na- to produce the suffix -nau-/nu-, e.g., surunao-/surunu- “listen, hear” [√srao/sru, present stem *sṛ-na-u-/sṛ-n-u-].
Frequently this stem is formed from roots that do not end in y, however, so descriptively we are dealing with a suffix -nao-/nu-, e.g., kərənao-/kərənu- “do” (√kar) ašnao-/ašnu- “reach” [√Hnas, present stem *Hṛs-nao-/Hṛs-nu-], s(i)rinao-/ “lean” [√sraē/sri, present stem *sri-nao-], **tanao-/tanu-* “stretch” [√tan, present stem *tṇ-nao-/tṇ-nu-].

Notes:

Athematic stems are frequently thematicized, e.g., mərəṅca-, miθna-.

In the 3rd plural indicative, some verbs have the zero grade (-aiti, -aṭ), which was probably caused by an original stress on the syllable before the ending. These endings are rare in Young Avestan, where the (thematic) full grade is common.

Athematic verbs: special forms

Athematic verbs have two special endings seen in only a few verbs: āh- “to sit,” saē- “to lie (lay, lain),” mrao- “to speak,” and nijan- “to strike down.” These are pres. ind. 3rd sing. -e and 3rd plur. -re or -āire. [The same irregularities are seen in the same verbs in Old Indic.] The attested forms are:

	āh- :	saē-/sōi- :	(fra.)mrao-/mru- :	ni.jan-/ṅn- :
Sing.	āste	saēte	mruie	niṅne
Plur.	āṅhāire (āṅhanṭe)	sōire (saēre)	mruuāire	*niṅmāire

The form **niṅmāire* is an emendation for ms. niṅrāire.

Verb inflection. The passive

The passive stem is made with the suffix -iia- attached to the zero grade of the root, occasionally the full grade. It is usually inflected as a middle verb, but active forms also occur. In the 3rd person sing. and plural present it is sometimes not possible to decide from the manuscript readings whether the original form is in -ti, -ṅti or -te, -ṅte (see Kellens, Verbe, pp. 129-30).

Note the regular sound changes, especially -cṭ- > -ṣ(ii), -tṭ- > -ṭii-, -pṭ- > -fii-,

LESSON 17

PHONOLOGY

Ruki

Throughout these lessons, we have seen numerous examples of the phenomenon called “ruki,” a term invented by Indian grammarians for the change of  $s > \check{s}$  (Ind.  $\check{s}$ ) after the vowels  $i, u, r$  and the consonants  $k/g, r$ . Originally, the same happened also after  $p/b$ , but the groups  $p\check{s}/b\check{z}$  were eliminated in Old Indic.

The phenomenon is more complicated than the Indic rule implies, however. Ruki also applies to the position after velars that were no longer velars in Indo-Iranian, namely the IE. palatals  $\check{k}$  and  $\check{g}$  ( $\check{g}h$ ), which had become Ilr.  $\acute{c}$  ( $t\acute{s}$ ) and  $*f(h)$  ( $d\acute{z}(h)$ ), OInd.  $\acute{s}$  and  $h$ , but Av.  $s$  and  $z$ . The IE. “thorn” groups behaved the same way:  $\check{k}p > \acute{c}\check{s}$  ( $>$  Ind.  $k\check{s}$ , Ir.  $\check{s}$ ), etc.<sup>3</sup>

Ruki also applied to the group  $ns$  in the acc. plur.

Also, since the Ilran. velars  $k$  and  $g(h)$  had become fricatives before consonants in proto-Ir. ( $k + \check{s} > x\check{s}$ , etc.), the term “ruki” is not as descriptive for Iran. as it is for Indic.

In Av., the original  $h$  is often restored into a hybrid form as follows:  $-\check{s}- > -\check{s}.h-$ , beside which we also have the strange YAv. forms in  $-\check{s}.a\check{g}h-$ :  $ni\check{s}a\check{g}har\acute{a}ti-$   $<$   $ni-$  +  $har-$  (cf.  $ni\check{s}.har\acute{a}tar-$ ,  $ni\check{s}.hauruu\acute{a}-$ ),  $ni\check{s}a\check{g}had-$   $<$   $*ha\check{g}had-$ , intensive  $<$   $had-$  “sit”;

Sometimes the ruki was eliminated altogether: YAv.  $nix^v\acute{a}bdaiia-$  (only V.18.16, 24; there no examples of  $ni\check{s}.x^v\acute{o}$ )

IE.  $*\check{k}s >$  Ilr.  $*t\acute{s}-\check{s} >$  OInd.  $k\check{s}$ , Ir.  $\check{s}$ : Ilr.  $*vit\acute{s}-\check{s}$  nom. sing. “house”  $>$  Av.  $vi\check{s}$  (OInd.  $vi\check{t}$ , cf. loc. plur.  $vik\check{s}u$ ); IE.  $\check{k}p$ : Av.  $\check{s}a\acute{e}-\check{s}i-$  “dwell” (Ind.  $k\check{s}i-$ );

IE.  $*\check{g}h-s >$  Ilr.  $*d\acute{z}-\check{z} >$  Ind.  $k\check{s}$ , Ir.  $\check{z}$ : OAv.  $v\acute{a}za-$  s-aor. of  $vaza-$  “convey” (OInd.  $vak\check{s}a-$ );

IE.  $*\check{g}h\check{d} >$  Ilr.  $*d\acute{z}-\acute{z} >$  Ind.  $k\check{s}$ , Ir.  $z$ : Av.  $z\acute{a}-$  “earth” (OInd.  $k\check{s}\acute{a}-$ );

IE.  $*ks, *k^ns >$  Ilr.  $*k\check{s} >$  Ind.  $k\check{s}$ , Ir.  $x\check{s}$ : Av.  $v\acute{a}x\check{s}$ , nom. sing. of  $vak-/vac-$  “word” (OInd.  $v\acute{a}k$ );

IE.  $*kp >$  Ilr.  $k\check{s} >$  Ind.  $k\check{s}$ , Ir.  $x\check{s}$ :  $x\check{s}a\theta ra-$  “command” (OInd.  $k\check{s}a\theta ra-$ );

IE.  $*gh-s >$  Ilr.  $g\check{z} >$  Ind.  $k\check{s}$ , Ir.  $\check{z}$ : OAv.  $aoy\check{z}\acute{a}$ , 2nd. sing. pres. inj. of  $aog-/aoj-$  “declare oneself (as)” (cf. OInd.  $aduk\check{s}a-$  aor. of  $dugh-$  “to milk”);

IE.  $*g\check{d}-s >$  Ilr.  $g\check{z} >$  Ind.  $k\check{s}$ , Ir.  $\check{z}$ : Av.  $\check{z}ar-$  “flow” (OInd.  $k\check{s}ar-$ ).

After labials, the Ilr.  $\check{s}$  merged with the Ilr.  $\acute{c}$  ( $t\acute{s}$ ):

IE.  $*p\check{k} >$  Ilr.  $*p\acute{s} >$  OInd.  $k\check{s}$ , Ir.  $f\check{s}$ : Av.  $f\check{s}uman.t-$   $<$   $pasu-$  “sheep” (OInd.  $k\check{s}umant-$ );

IE.  $*(d)bh-s >$  Ilr.  $*b\check{z} >$  Ind.  $ps$ , Ir.  $b\check{z}$  ( $f\check{s}$ ) Av.  $dib\check{z}a-$  “deceive” (OInd.  $dipsa-$ ),  $g\acute{r}a\check{f}\check{s}a-$   $<$   $grab-$  “seize.”

Ruki is found in all endings and suffixes beginning with Ilr.  $s$ , Ir.  $h$ :

Nouns: see Lesson 5 (nom. sing.), Lesson 6 (acc. plur.), Lesson 12 (gen. sing.), Lesson 17 (loc. plur.).

Verbs: see Lesson 5 (2nd sing. inj. act.), Lesson 6 (2nd sing. inj. mid.), Lesson 8 (2nd sing. pres. ind. act., mid.), Lesson 13 (desideratives), Lesson 14 (future), Lesson 19 ( $s$ -aor.).

It is also found in sandhi after prefixes and reduplication and in compounds:

prefixes in  $-i$  ( $ni-$ ,  $paiti^o$ ,  $vi^o$ , etc.):  $ni\check{s}tar\acute{a}ta-$  “spread out”  $<$   $star\acute{a}ta-$ ,  $ni\check{s}\acute{a}\delta\acute{a}iia-$  “set down”  $<$   $\sqrt{h}had$  “sit”;  $ni\check{s}t\acute{a}iia-$  “to order”  $<$   $\sqrt{st}\acute{a}$  “stand”;  $ai\beta i\check{s}.huta-$  “pressed, stained,”  $pairi\check{s}.h\acute{a}uuani-$  “surrounding H\acute{a}uuani (the time of haoma-pressing)  $ai\beta i\check{s}.x^v\acute{a}r\acute{a}\theta a-$  “drinkable,”  $pairi\check{s}.x^v\acute{a}xta-$  “girded,”  $ni\check{s}.hi\delta a-$  (but  $ni\check{s}asta-$ ,  $ni\check{s}\acute{a}\delta\acute{a}iia-$ );

prefixes in  $-u$  ( $anu-$ ,  $hu-$ ):  $\acute{a}nu\check{s}.h\acute{a}k-$  (OAv.) “following along with,”  $hu\check{s}.h\acute{a}mb\acute{e}r\acute{a}ta-$  “well carried together, well-accumulated”;  $hu\check{s}.haxman-$ , <sup>3</sup> Today,  $p$  and  $\check{d}$  are not considered as parts of IE. phonemes, but they are a useful descriptive device.

reduplication: hišta- <  $\sqrt{stā}$ ; hušx'afa (perf. <  $\sqrt{x'ap}$ )

ADVERBS

Correlative pronominal adverbs

Note the following parallel formations of demonstrative, relative, and interrogative-indefinite pronominal adjectives and adverbs (cf. Lesson 6):

	“that”	“this”	“this”	“that”	“who”	who?”
pron. stem.	a-/ta-	i-	aēta	auua-	ya-	ka-/c-
nom. sing.	aēm		aēšō	hāu	yō	kō, čiš
“how much”	auuaṅt-		aētauuaṅt-	auuauuaṅt-	yauuaṅt	cuuaṅt-
“how many times”					yāiti	cāiti
“which of two”	ātara-				yātāra-	katāra-
“when”	āaṭ, taṭ				yaṭ	kaṭ
“where, when”	aḍa/taḍa	iḍa	aētaḍa	auuaḍa	yaḍa	kaḍa
“from where”	aḍāṭ				yaḍāṭ	* kuḍaṭ
“how”	aθa	iθa		auuaθa	yaθa	kaθa, kuθa
“where”	aθra	iθra		auuaθra	yaθra	kuθra, kuua
	ātaraθra
“how”	aēuua			aēuuaθa

Note the irregular acc. sing. auuāṅtəm of auuaṅt- (see Lesson 8).

The pronoun ātara- “the other” is (often?) used in malam partem as “the other,” that is, the one that is not good.

Declension. The locative

The most common locative sing. ending is i, or—with an added a: -iia.

Exceptions: i-stems have the ending -a; -u- (u<sup>2</sup>-) and ao-stems have the ending **-au*, which becomes -uuō in final position, or—with an added -a: -auua; - some n-stems have no ending in the locative singular and full grade of the suffix.

In the a-stems the ending -i combines with the stem vowel to produce the diphthong **-ai* which becomes -ie and -aē° or—with an added -a: -aiia.

The locative singular of consonant stems sometimes takes the full grade, sometimes the zero grade.

There are no locative dual forms in Young Avestan.

The locative plural endings are -hu and (by ruki) -šu, or—with an added -a: -huua, -šuua, or -š.huua.

Instead of -ahu(ua), we also find -ō.hu(ua), apparently analyzed as a compound, but probably from an older form with labial umlaut: **-ahu* > -ohu, which was reinterpreted as -ō.hu(ua).

LESSON 17

The endings are:

Notes:

The locative of ahura mazdā is transmitted as āhuire mazda for **ahuire mazde*.

The masc. form gaēθe listed by Reichelt (p. 197) as loc. sing. of gaēθā- only occurs in the expression ahmi gaēθe, in which the pronoun is also a masc. form.

In the ī-declension pārəθβe < pārəθβī-, fem. of pārəθu-, "broad," has regular -e < -iia.

The fem. ušā- "dawn" forms its loc. plur. from the h-stem ušah-.: ušahuua.

Reflexive pronouns

The reflexive pronouns x'a-, hauua- "own":

Sing.	x'ahmi, hauue (Yt.13.67)
Plur.	x'aēšu hauuāhuua

cuuąnt-

The interrogative-indefinite pronominal adjective cuuąnt- “how much?, how many?,” beside the “regular” cuuąs (Y.19.20) has a nom. sing. cū (V.5.22), which here functions as neut., but may originally be a masc., like that of pres. participles (see next).

VERBS*Active participles

On the active present participles in -ąnt-, see Lesson 11.

The principal irregularity of the declension of thematic (and some athematic) participles is the nom. sing., which must originally have ended in \-ā*. It thus behaves like the acc. plur. of thematic nouns, except that, where this ending is preserved as -ā in the nouns, it is replaced by -ō in the participles. Thus we have **barā* ⇒ barō, but **mruuā* > mrū (thematized), jaiđiiā > jaiđiią.

It seems that the nom. sing. m. had lost its t already in Indo-Iranian times and that the ending actually was **ans*, which then developed like the acc. plur. in Avestan (OInd. -an, sandhi -ams). We may compare the ańk-adjectives, which lost their k/x at an early stage, e.g., **prāń(k)š* > frąš (OInd. prāń).

The substantivized participle fšuiiąnt- (in vāstriia- fšuiiąnt-) retains the ending s: fšuiiąs, cf. cuuąs.

The nom.-acc. sing. neut. of thematic participles has the expected ending -an < \-ant*, that of athematic verbs is -at as in adjectives.

The feminine forms are as expected: athem. -aiī-, them. -ąnti- (-ińti-, -antī-), -uuaińti-, -iieińti-.

Paradigms:

No instr. sing. forms are attested.

Notes:

Athematic verbs frequently take the thematic nom. sing. m., e.g.: janō.

The strange form °vāuuō “blowing” <  $\sqrt{vā}$  seems to be from *\*vā'ō* < *\*vāHant-*.

Thematic forms are common, e.g., saošiiąntaēibiiō.

The athematic forms įžāraiią.biiō “flowing,” for \-ańbiiō*, and xšaiiatō “ruling,” for **xšaiiąntō* are probably scribal errors.

Other derivatives:

pañcō.hiiā- “of five species.”

Note: Whether the numerous analogical forms are genuine or were fabricated by the transmitters and scribes we cannot tell.

Declension of numeralsThe numeral “one” is declined as a pronominal ā-stem; note the acc. masc. and the nom.-acc. neut. ōiium, ōim, and other forms (see Lesson 9).The numeral “two” is an a-stem dual.

The numerals “three” and “four” have some special fem. forms.

The other cardinals are mostly indeclinable.

On the r/n-stem baēuuar-/baēuuan- see Lesson 16.

Note:

The element *-šr-/ḥr- < *-sr-* is an ancient suffix found in the fem. forms of the numerals “3” and “4” in several Indo-European languages. It may be related to strī- (*< *srī-*) “woman” and -ḡhar- in x<sup>v</sup>aḡhar- “sister” (if originally **x<sup>v</sup>a-har-* “one’s own woman”?).

tišrō sata “400” has the fem. tišrō agreeing with a neut. plur.

VERBS

The optative

The endings of the optative differ from those of the indicative and subjunctive by containing an element -i- (-ii-). In the thematic conjugation, this element combines with the thematic vowel and produces a diphthong: aē, ōi, aii°. In the athematic conjugation it has the form iiā/i (*< *iāH-/iH-*).

The thematic 3rd plur. ends in -aiiān (-aēn), which is identical with the 3rd plur. indicative of aiia-stems. In aiia-stems the original ending was therefore -aiiaiiān, which regularly became -aiiaēn. In the manuscripts this ending is most often corrupted to -aiiēn and then replaced by the familiar -aiiān.

Numeral + noun > noun: θri.aiiara- n. “a three-day period” < θri- + aiiar/n- “day.”

Numeral + noun > adjective: θri.zafan- “with three mouths” < θri- + zafar/n- “mouth,” θri.kamarəda- < θri- + kamarəda- “head”;

Prefix + noun/adjective: huraoda- “well-shaped” < hu- + raoda- “growth, stature”; huuaršta- “well done” < hu- + varšta-; aiβi.gāma- “year” < aiβi- + gāman- “step, going,”

Verb + noun: frādaγ.gaēθa- “furthering the world of living beings” < frāda(iia)- “to further” + gaēθā- “(world of) living beings.”

Occasionally, we find compounds consisting of more than two members: YAv. druxš.vīdruxš ‘who is the most Lie-dispelling for the Lie’, draoyō.vāxš.draojišta- ‘who belies the lying word the most’, and, especially, names: frādaγ.vīspəm.hujiāiti- ‘(the ratu) called ‘the one who furthers all good living’’, xšmāuuiia.gəuš.uruuā- hāiti- ‘the section beginning with xšmāuuiia gəuš uruuā’ (Y. 29.1).

The so-called āmređita compounds are adverbial phrases consisting of repeated words: OAv. narəm narəm ‘man after man’; YAv. nmāne nmāne ‘in house after house’.

VERBS

The augment

In OInd. and OPers. the imperfect and aorist indicative regularly take a prefixed a- which mark them as past tenses. The prefixed a- is called an “augment.”

In Young Avestan there are very few clear examples of the augment, as the preverb ā- is frequently shortened to a. There also seem to be instances of the augment being lengthened to ā-.

The augment is found with three forms: the imperfect indicative, the aorist indicative, and the optative.

The augmented optative is an Iranian innovation also found in Old Persian, but not outside the Iranian language group.

Participles.

Active	-	°buaaṇt-
Middle	-	starāna-, sraiiiana-, sruuana- maḡhāna- (< man-), marəxšāna-

Note: The form nāismī (Y.12.1) is a present, an analogical form made after nāist, etc., for **nāinmi* (Tremblay).

The 3rd sing. past passive in -i

A special 3rd sing. passive form is made with the ending -i. This form was originally(?) made only from the aorist stem, but there are no aor. examples in YAv.:

- from the present stem: ərənāuuī “was sent on its way,” jainī “was smashed”
- from the perfect stem (see Lesson 20): āiḍi “is/was said.”

SYNTAX

Use of the aorist

The basic difference between the present and aorist is that the aorist forms express punctual or “immediate” (incipient, concluding) action, as opposed to the present, which expresses action or state of indeterminate duration.

1. The aorist indicative/injunctive āaṭ mašta Yimō “then Yima thought” (V.2.31)

āaṭ mašta Yimō

2. The aorist subjunctive āaṭ vaocāṭ ratuš ašauua mazdaiiasnaēbiiō “Then an Orderly authority will say to the Mazda-sacrificers.” (V.8.11)

āaṭ vaocāṭ ratuš ašauua mazdaiiasnaēbiiō

yezica vaocāṭ aēša yā kaine puθrəm aēm narō<sup>a</sup> varšta

“And if this one, the young woman, is to say: ‘This man has produced (this) his son.’” (V.15.13)

a. Thematic for nā.

yezica vaocāṭ aēša yā kaine puθrəm aēm narō<sup>a</sup> varšta

tā nō dātā tā ərəzuuāna frauuocāma

fracā vaocāma yā Ahurahe Mazdā

“We shall say forth these our established rules, these ..., and forth we shall say (them), those of Ahura Mazdā.” (Y.70.2)

tā nō dātā tā ərəzuuāna frauuocāma fracā vaocāma yā Ahurahe Mazdā

jimama te daēsaiiama te Zaraθuštra vaēm yōi Aməša Spənta

“We shall come to you, we shall show you, O Zarathustra, we, the Life-giving Immortals.” (Vyt.32)

jimama te daēsaiiama te Zaraθuštra vaēm yōi Aməša Spənta

a. Mss. K1, L4, L1,2; buuaṭ Mf2, Jp1.

“I, Ahura Mazdā, shall never ask him another word.” (V.18.29)

nōiṭ dim yauua azəm yō Ahurō Mazdā bitim vācim paiti.pərəsəmnō buua<sup>a</sup>

aša vahišta aša sraēšta darəsāma θβā haxma

5. Translate into Avestan and write in Avestan script:

1. Zarathustra asked Ahura Mazdā: O Ahura Mazdā, most life-giving spirit, O Orderly creator of the bony creatures,
2. What was that word that you proclaimed to me?
3. Then Ahura Mazdā said: It was this section (consisting) of the Ahuna Vairiia, O Spitama Zarathustra, that I proclaimed to you.
4. May they come into this home, the propitiations of the sustainers of Order, the rewards and the distributions, and the recognitions!
5. May there now for this house come up Order, command, and profit, Fortune and long happiness, and the priority of this daēnā, the one of Ahura (Mazdā), the one of Zarathustra!
6. I invite you, the fire, O son of Ahura Mazdā.
You are sacrifice-worthy and hymn-worthy.
May you be more worthy of sacrifices and more worthy of hymns in the homes of men!
7. In happiness be it for that man who sacrifices to you regularly with firewood in the hands, with barsom in the hands, with milk in the hands, with the mortar in the hands.
8. May you hear our sacrifice, O lady of the lord!
May you be favorable to our sacrifice, O lady of the lord!
9. May you sit near our sacrifice!
10. May you come to us for help (for us)!

LESSON 20

WORD FORMATION

Compounds 3. Form of words in compounds

Compounds that are adjectives, whose second member is an ā-stem, become regular a/ā-stem adjectives, e.g., frādaṭ.gaēθā < gaēθā.

The final vowel of the first member usually becomes ō:

an invariable in -a: hupō.busta < upa “well *scented”; haptō.karšuuairī “(consisting) of seven continents” < hapta.

Nouns as second members of compounds are sometimes in the zero grade: frādaṭ.fšū “furthering the sheep and goats” < pasu-; arəduuafšnī “having high breasts” < fštāna-, spitāma- “having *swollen strength” < **ōHma*- < ama-.

Some adjectives use an i-stem as the first member of a compound: xšuuīβra- “rushing, fast” > xšuuīβi.išū- “with fast arrows”; jafra- > jaiβi.vafra- “with deep snow”; bərəzaṅt- > bərəzi.gāθra- “singing songs that reach high.”

The first member of a compound is sometimes in a case form:

nom.: YAv. afš.tacin- (< āfš<sup>o</sup>) “with running water,” afš.ciθra- “having/containing the seed of water,” aβəzdāna- (< āfš-d<sup>o</sup>) “acting as containers of water,” karəfš.x<sup>o</sup>ar- “corpse-eating (birds),” druxš.manah- “harboring thoughts of deception,” ātarš.ciθra- “having/containing the seed of fire”;

acc.: vīrəṅjan- “men-smashing,” ašəm.stut- “praising Order,” darəḡəm.jūti- “long life” < darəḡəm “for a long time” (adverb);

gen. drujas.kanā- “den of deception,” zəmas.ciθra- “having/containing the seed of earth”;

dat. yauuaējī- “living for ever,” yauuaēsū- “being life-giving for ever”;

loc.: bərəzi.rāz- “drawing straight lines(?) / ruling on high”; armaē.šad- “sitting in peace,” maidīiōi.šad- “sitting in the middle,” raθaēštā- “standing on a chariot, charitoer,” dūraēdərəs- “who sees far in(to) the distance.”

VERBS

The perfect

The perfect tense is formed by reduplication and a set of endings differing from those of the present and aorist. The verbs āδ- “to say” and vaēδ-/vaēθ- “to know” lack the reduplication.

The vowel of the reduplication syllable is usually a, i, or u, in agreement with the vowel of the root, e.g., ca-kan- <  $\sqrt{\text{kan}}$ , da-ḡa- <  $\sqrt{\text{dā}}$ ; ci-kaēθ- <  $\sqrt{\text{kaēθ/kiθ}}$ , iri-riθ- <  $\sqrt{\text{raēθ/riθ}}$ ; uru-raoδ- <  $\sqrt{\text{raod/rud}}$ , note: hušx<sup>o</sup>af- <  $\sqrt{\text{x<sup>o</sup>af}}$ . Departures from this rule include a few verbs whose reduplication syllable has long ā: dā-darəs- <  $\sqrt{\text{vaēn/dars}}$ , bā-buu- <  $\sqrt{\text{bao/bu}}$ , pā-fr- <  $\sqrt{\text{par}}$ .

Roots beginning with ā- have long ā- in the perfect: āp- <  $\sqrt{\text{āp}}$ , āḡh- <  $\sqrt{\text{āh}}$ ; roots beginning with aē-/i- have perfect stem in iāē-, usually written yaē-: yaēš- <  $\sqrt{\text{aēš/iš}}$ .

The perfect has a similar distribution of strong and weak stems as the athematic verbs: strong stem in the indicative singular and the subjunctive (some exceptions), weak stem elsewhere.

The perfect has all the moods in Young Avestan except the imperative, as well as a past tense, the pluperfect.

The perfect participle active is a *uuah/uš-*stem (note the internal sandhi variations before the suffix). The middle participle ends in -āna-.

Note that many perfect forms are found only in the Farhang ī Oīm (FO.).

Notes:

The -f- in hušx'afa < √x'ap can perhaps be compared with similar forms in Greek with aspiration, but this verb takes on many unusual forms in Avestan (and Iranian).

The form bābuuarə is probably for **bāuuarə*, with reintroduction of the b of the stem.

The form (ni)šastarə is from ni + ha-zd-tarə with ruki of h > š and assimilation of zdt > st.
